The Trumpet.

BY LIBERT. G. W. FATTEN, U. S. A.

Farce tempter to the field of death, Rude arbiter of gloe!

There's a charm that lives for the vine-clad bowers, And one for the sparkling wine,

The battle steth at my word, Its elements of fear;

My voice is o'er the sleeping seas, And on the surging shore,

Well did they heed my daring call, In the city of the plains,

MATRIMONY.—Sweet is the society of a pair fitted for each other, in whom are collected the affections of husband, wife, lover,

The empire of the woman is an empire of softness, of address, of complacency, her commands are caresses, her menaces are tears.

Ten Dollars Reward. CAPTOLAN out of the stable at John Lee's, in Haywood county, North Carolina, on Saturday night, the 20th instant, a yellow sorrel horse, with a pretty large blaze in his face, extending to his mouth—three white legs—his hind legs both white, with wind-galls on the ankles; he is about fifteen hands and a half high—very heavy body, with a beautiful ear, head and neck; he steps short and quick—walks and trots well; one of his hips is a little lower than the other; he is eight years old—he will unwhitch himself, if he can, from any place. I was paid for him four years ago, last February, with a man by the name of Phelps, in Greenville District, S. C. I have since rode him on the Bladwell, Lenoir, and Spring Place Circuits, in Georgia, and Franklin Circuit, N. C. DANIEL EATNE, Franklin, June 26, 1840.

Southern Ladies' Book. F. C. FENDLER & G. F. FIERCE, To the Ladies of Georgia, and of the South generally, the following plan is most respectfully submitted. It is hoped that it will receive the serious attention, and meet their approbation, since it is for their especial benefit that the work is projected.

PROSPECTUS. In submitting the following plan, we would first call the attention of the Ladies, and all those who feel interested (and who are those that do not) to the welfare and improvement of the Female sex, to the promotion of the Southern Press, and to the publication of a work which will be engaged in political discussions, and their columns from with acclamations, denials, abuse and every other form of wordy warfare, carried on in language, frequently unfit for "dem polite," and seldom suited to the delicacy and gentleness which belong so peculiarly to the Female character.

Of the few literary papers published South of the Potomac, there is not one exclusively dedicated to the Ladies! We have felt this as a want which ought to be supplied; and we propose to make an effort to do so, confident that our endeavor will be crowned with success, if we can only secure the hearty cooperation of those for whom we propose to labor—our Ladies and Misses.

And we expect, further, that every intelligent mind among the other sex, will view with approbation, and aid in sustaining, an enterprise designed to improve the minds of those, without whose cheering smiles and soothing companionship, life would be dreary and sad as a desert.

We wish, also, to afford to the Ladies a field for the exercise of their own talents, and for the development of the resources of their minds. The lists of authors, for some years past, have frequently enrolled the names of females whose glorious success has shed an additional radiance on the name of "Woman." The "Lords of Creation" have been forced to acknowledge that the Female mind is, by no means, deficient in capacity and intellectual endowments—while, at the same time it is possessed of superior delicacy and tact. Long was woman's mind held in thralldom—long were her powers undervalued, and forced to remain in active or unexercised, by the force of conventional arrangements; but her chains are broken, and her liberty has been proclaimed. The article of "fallen faith" that "women have no souls," no longer obtains among us. Let the ladies now assert their own privileges, and we offer them, in our proposed work, a medium for the expression of their own views and sentiments, on all that appertains, in any degree, to the welfare and improvement of their sex.

In offering the plan of a Southern Ladies' Book, we do not intend that it shall be precisely similar to a work of like name at the North. We leave to our Northern cotemporary pictorial representations of fashion and dress, for the embellishment of the person; be it ours to provide a work of utility, elegance, refinement and grace, for the adornment of the mind. All that may contribute to form the heart, invigorate the mind, purify the affections, and refine the manners, shall be our especial care, and we will be a useful aid to the young and fair, and beautiful, in preparing themselves for the various duties which devolve on "Woman, in her virtuous capacity of Daughter, Wife and Mother. And we repeat, that in the accomplishment of this high enterprise, we confidently expect the aid and support of the enlightened and judicious of both sexes. Arrangements for regular aid will be made with several Ladies, whose productions have already gained their high fame in the literary world—and several gentlemen of distinguished attainments have already been secured as contributors, from whom scientific tracts, with notes and observations on the Arts, may be expected. This department of the work will receive marked attention. In short, nothing will be omitted which may tend to give to the publication such character as will render it worthy the attention of the learned, and of those to whom it is especially dedicated—the Ladies of the South and West. It only remains to obtain the requisite number of subscribers—say two thousand—and if the Ladies will smile upon, and aid our efforts, that number will not long be wanting. Let them urge their fathers, husbands, brothers and friends, and it is soon done.

The work will contain sixty-four royal octavo pages, stitched in a neat colored cover, and will appear monthly. Terms—Five dollars per annum, payable on the delivery of the first number.

The following are some of the contributors to the work: A. Church, D.D., President of Franklin College, Athens. Professor J. P. Waddell, Franklin College. Dr. A. Means, Professor of Physic, Science, Emory College. Rev. I. A. Few, ex-President of Emory College. Rev. G. H. Round, Principal of the Georgia Conference Manual Labor School. Rev. Jesse Mercer, Washington, Georgia. Rev. E. L. Wittich, Madison, do. Hon. R. M. Charlton, Savannah, do. A. H. Chappell, Esq., Macon, do. Hon. E. A. Nisbet, Macon, do.

PROSPECTUS OF THE HIGHLAND MESSENGER, Devoted to Religion, Morality, Science, Politics and General Intelligence.

EDITED BY D. R. McANALLY & J. ROBERTS. IN proposing to publish a new Journal, and thereby to swell the number of periodicals already flooding our country, it will naturally be expected of us to give an outline of the principles by which we expect to be governed. This we will do as concisely as possible: And, 1st. While we cautiously exclude all sectarian controversies, as abstract and disputed points in Christian Theology, we will carefully and constantly hold up the Bible and the Christian religion as indispensable to the moral, social and political interests of any community.

2d. We shall industriously labor to set forth and maintain sound principles of morality, correct taste and good manners. Vice in all its varied forms shall meet its merited rebuke, and a decided stand will be taken against all impurity of expression or representation, as all dishonesty and vulgarity. In short, no pains will be spared to make our paper a welcome Messenger to the virtuous and good of every age and of every cast.

3d. A liberal share of our attention shall be devoted to those branches of natural science so necessary to be at least partially understood by every farmer and every mechanic of the country.

4th. The Political Department will be under the immediate and sole control of J. ROBERTS, who believes himself to be a true Republican, and as such cannot, and will not, support the leading measures of the present Administration. On this subject, his course will be calm, though decided. He will, at all times, take the liberty of promptly and plainly expressing his opinions on all subjects bearing on the political interests of the community, without, at any time, prestituting his paper to the unbalanced views of any individual. He is pledged to no party, and will always be the public weal and suppress what in his judgment would be injurious.

And finally, as we shall ask the favor of exchanging with the best papers of the country,
