MAP
Of the State of North-Carolina.

A CORRECT Map of the State in which he resides must be a desirable object to every individual. Whatever may be a man's occupation in life, it frequently becomes important to him, as a matter of pecuniary interest, to possess a correct knowledge of the relative situation of the different sections of country. In the present enlightened state of society, the subscriber is convinced that, apart from all considerations of interest or convenience, there are very few of our citizens who do not feel that an affair of personal pride that they and their children should be able to speak with familiarity of those parts of the State lying at a distance from them, as well as those in their immediate vicinity. The subscriber therefore flatters himself that the following proposals will be received with pleasure by a large portion of the inhabitants of his native State.

He proposes to publish a correct MAP OF THE STATE OF NORTH-CAROLINA, measuring 6 feet 9 inches in length by 3 feet 6 inches in width, laid out upon a scale of six miles to the inch. The materials will be of the best kind, and the engraving executed in superior style.

But correctness of delineation being the most important circumstance, has claimed the subscriber's chief attention; to the attainment of which important object, the Map of each county has been separately executed by R. H. B. BRAZIER, Esq. with the assistance of gentlemen of science residing in different parts of the State, and from the public surveys, and have been likewise revised and corrected by the several county surveyors, or some other competent person, in each county.

TERMS—For Maps, varnished, colored, and mounted on rollers, or put up in portable form, $3 each.

Patent Corn-Shellor,
A NEW INVENTION.
WE hereby give notice to the citizens of Mecklenburg county, that we have purchased the right for manufacturing a Machine, called the PATENT CORN-SHELLOR, and will soon have them on hand for sale. For the simplicity of its construction and its utility to corn planters, it is unequalled by any other invention. Perhaps we may be thought to exaggerate, when we say it will shell a bushel of corn in three minutes, and by a little exertion in two minutes. But we invite all to come and examine it, witness its operation, and satisfy themselves as to its great utility. It can be seen at the subscribers' shop, opposite the jail.

THO. MERRELLS,
W. M. CORNWELL.
N. B. The price of the Patent Corn-Shellor will be $11 delivered at the shop, or $12 delivered at the house of the purchaser.

All persons are cautioned against making, using or vending the above machine in this county, under penalty of the law in that case made and provided.

Education in Russia.—There are six universities in the Russian empire. The cities in which they are established, are Moscow, Petersburg, Casan, Dorpat, Cherkof, and Wilna. The natives of Russia are not allowed to go and study in a foreign country, until having attended for at least three years one of the Russian universities. Nevertheless, the chairs are few in number, several subjects are entirely interdicted, and the vigilance of the censorship cramps the professors in treating those which are allowed. The student are under all kinds of restraint, especially at Dorpat and Wilna; where indeed disorders have occasionally taken place which required the interference of authority. The young Russians are not admitted into the military service until they have undergone an examination at one of these universities. That of Dorpat is principally attended by youth from the three Baltic provinces; and German is there the prevailing language.

Bolivar.—He is a very small thin man, with the appearance of great personal activity; his face is well formed, but furrowed with fatigue and anxiety. The fire of his quick black eye is very remarkable. He wears large mustachios, and his hair is dark and curling. After many opportunities of seeing him, I may say that I never met with a face which gave a more exact idea of a man. Boldness, enterprise, activity, intrigue, proud impatience and a persevering and determined spirit, are plainly marked upon his countenance, and expressed by every motion of his body.—Proctor's Narrative.

FORTUNE.—Fortune has been considered the guardian divinity of fools; and on this score she has been accused of blindness; but it should rather be adduced as proof of her sagacity, when she helps those who certainly cannot help themselves.

DESULTORY.

DON'T BE DISCOURAGED,
If in the outset of life things do not go on smoothly. It seldom happens that the hopes we cherish of the future are realized. The path of life, in the prospect, appears smooth and level enough, but when we come to travel it we find it all up hill, and generally rough enough. The journey is a laborious one, whether poor or wealthy, high or low, we shall find it so, to our disappointment, if we have built on any other calculation. To endure what is to be endured with as much cheerfulness as possible—and to elbow our way as easily as we can through the great crowd, hoping for little, yet striving for much, is perhaps the true plan. But,

Don't be discouraged, if occasionally you slip down by the way, and your neighbors tread over you a little; in other words, don't let a failure or two dishearten you—accidents happen, miscalculations will sometimes be made; things will often turn out differently from our expectations, and we may be sufferers.—It is worth while to remember that fortune is like the skies in April, sometimes cloudy and sometimes clear and favorable; sometimes those who have long stood before the world are very rotten at the core. From sources such as these you may be unexpectedly deceived; and you will naturally feel sore under such deceptions; but to these you must become used; if you fare as most of the people do, they will lose their novelty before you grow grey, and you will learn to trust men cautiously. It would be folly to despair of again seeing the sun, because to-day is stormy, so it is unwise to sink into despondency when fortune frowns, since, in the common course of things, she may be surely expected to smile again. And again—

Don't be discouraged, if you are deceived in the people of the world. It often happens that men wear borrowed characters; as well as borrowed clothes. Examine them closely, before you allow them great opportunity to injure you.

Don't be discouraged under any circumstances. Go steadily forward. Rather consult your own conscience, than the opinions of men, though the last is not to be disregarded. Be industrious, be frugal, be honest; deal in perfect kindness with all that come in your way, exercising a neighborly and obliging spirit in your whole intercourse, and if you do not prosper as rapidly as any of your neighbors, depend upon it you will be happy.

We have been requested to notice the proposals of James Thacher, M. D. author of the American Dispensary, and other Medical works, to commence a book to be called "American Medical Biography," and to embrace a history of medical science in this country, from its first settlement to the present time. He requests assistance from those competent to give it, and appeals to the public in general, and more particularly to the profession, to acknowledge the importance of the work he proposes, and to assist him in it. Communications are to be addressed to him at Plymouth, Massachusetts.
[Conn. Mirror.

Honor to the Brave.—The Chamber of the House of Delegates of Virginia on Tuesday was the theatre of an interesting ceremony—the presentation of a Sword to Captain WARRINGTON of the U. States' Navy, voted by the Legislature of his native state, in testimony of their sense of his gallantry in the battle between the Peacock and Epervier during the late war. The address of Governor TYLER was, as the occasion demanded, eloquent but not extravagant—nor was the reply of Capt Warrington less appropriate.
[Pet. Intelligence, 17th Inst.

A northern editor properly remarks, that the situation of Mr. Jefferson, like that of Mr. Monroe, shews that an individual may receive, in high public stations, a large amount of public money, and yet be impoverished by the expense necessarily incident or consequent to those stations, or by that neglect of his private affairs which is equally unavoidable.

Surgical Operation.—Dr. Hull, of Genesee, N. Y. has made an important and delicate surgical operation upon the body of a young gentleman of that village named Stuart. An orifice was made under the arm between two of the upper ribs, into the cavity of the body, above the diaphragm, into the region of the lungs. The lungs were found extensively macerated—the discharge has been more than two quarts. There is some prospect of his recovery, as he at present is considerably better.

RICHMOND, FEB. 28.—It becomes our duty to notice a horrible catastrophe, which took place in this City yesterday. We should touch it as briefly as we can; for the case is now in the hands of Justice.—James M'Naught, Gunsmith of this city, (and an admirable one he was,) has been committed to jail on the charge of shooting Danl. Denoon, his foreman. It is said, that they dined together yesterday, in the upper room of M'Naught's house; the apprentices in the shop then dined; and M'N. who had retired alone into another room, contiguous to the dining room, sent for Daniel Denoon (his foreman,) and as soon as he had entered the room, it is said that M'N. shot him in the abdomen with a pistol; and it is also said that M'N. discharged another pistol, which grazed his own cheek, and drew blood. When the persons, alarmed by the discharge of the pistols, entered the room, they were both found lying on the floor; the unfortunate Denoon mortally wounded, and M'Naught not seriously hurt. Denoon lingered for several hours, and died, last evening, about 4 o'clock; before his dissolution, he was in the most excruciating agony, but gave, as it is said, a statement like the above. We understand, that M'Naught describes it to have been a duel between them, in which he was wounded and D. fell. Young Denoon was raised as an apprentice by M'Naught; he was an accomplished workman, and was about to set up in business for himself. Different motives are assigned for the act; this among others, that M'N. was averse to have so skillful a competitor in the same line of business with himself. The impulse is as extraordinary, as the act attributed to M'N. is deplorable. We state all these rumours with the greatest reserve. A court of Justice is the best place for sifting the circumstances. M'N. is entitled to a fair examination and a fair trial. We wish him to have it.

We most deeply regret the death of Daniel Denoon, a very promising young man, the hope and the stay of a disconsolate mother.

A Coroner's inquest has been held over the body of the deceased; the jury was unanimously of opinion that his death was caused by the firing of a gun or pistol, loaded with bullets or buck shot by the hands of James M'Naught.—Compiler.

[M'Naught subsequently wound up the horrible tragedy, by taking his own life in prison.]

Influenza.—The Boston Medical Intelligencer says that about 30,000 of the inhabitants of that city are sick with the Influenza. This disease assumed a more malignant character, and, in some instances, has led to lung fevers and pleurisies; but at present it frequently terminates in distressing affections of the throat.

Broomcorn is raised in Morris county, N. J. in large quantities, and 500,000 corn brooms are annually made, which, when sold at $5 per hundred, yield a clear profit on the labour bestowed, on $25 per acre, to those who are thus employed. Forty bushels of seed, is the average produce of an acre, which equals oats in value, as an article for horses.
Belvidere Apollo.

The Patron, the Printer, and the Post-Master.

The following letter from a neighbouring post-master to the printer of this paper was sometime since received, but its appearance until now has been delayed for want of room. Our motive in publishing it is to show, not only to what trouble, but also expense the "poor printer" is often put to by the carelessness and injustice of some who call themselves patrons, not because they pay for the paper, but merely from our list being honored with their names.—Catawba Press.

There is in our town, a man;
And much he thinks of Presses;
He likes to read just all he can,
But never his debts redresses.

He for your paper does subscribe,
And often calls on me;
Yet never brings the little tribe
Of cents, to pay the fee.

Thus speaks the law in such a case,
That you must pay the mite,
Or stop his paper—which you please—
And, then, all will go right.

EDMUND WALLER.
KING CHARLES the II. after the restoration, told Waller, that he had made better verses and said finer things of the usurper Cromwell than of himself: "That may very well be," said Waller, "for poets generally succeed better in fiction than in telling truth."
