

On this same subject an article from Odessa of the 22d Nov. thus speaks:

Divan is constantly occupied with the proposition of Mr. C. on the subject of Greece; various favorable circumstances induce the belief that the Porte will accede to them; although the Reis Effendi has latterly declared in an official way, that henceforth he would confide no employ to a Greek.

PARIS, DEC. 15. MADRID, DEC. 4.—[Private Correspondence.]—I can assure you that the uneasiness of our government is very great, in consequence of the invasion of Portugal, and it spares no pains to quiet M. Lamb, whose notes daily become more threatening. To this end the minister of war has sent the following order to all the commanders of the frontier provinces:—

“Every Portuguese Constitutionalist, who may have been made a prisoner of war on the invasion of the infantistas, and shall enter the Spanish territory, shall be treated with every kindness, and such hospitality shown him as is due to the subject of friendly nations and allies.”

But events have become so serious, that it is not in the power of the government itself to stop them, not only those which are passing in the interior of Portugal, but even those which are taking place in the Spanish territory; for we learn to-day, that the regiment of the Prince has passed the frontiers, in a body, with the exception of its officers. If this be true, of which I have no doubt, this may be considered as a reinforcement sent by our apostolics to their brethren of Portugal.

The Portuguese Charge d’Affaires yesterday communicated to our government the decision of the Portuguese Regency, not to recognize M. de Casa Flores as Spanish Ambassador. To this communication was added the report of the governors of the Portuguese Provinces, on the frontiers of Spain, announcing the invasion of the Portuguese refugees. He concludes his letter with new complaints, and by demanding further explanations, but instead of giving them, M. Salmon in his reply yesterday evening, observed that as the functions of M. de Casa Flores had ceased at Lisbon, those of M. Ponte de Lima, Portuguese Charge d’Affaires at Madrid, were also at an end, and that consequently he was under necessity of terminating his diplomatic relations with him.

The latter (M. Ponte de Lima,) received his despatches by an extraordinary courier sent from Lisbon to the French minister at Madrid. In these despatches he was informed that others would be sent the next day, (the 28th,) but we learnt yesterday that the bearer of them was arrested at Villa Viciosa by the Portuguese refugees. Their contents are of course unknown.

The Court returned this morning from the Escorial. The report of the dismissal of M. Calomarde gains credit. Count de Affalia and M. Zea Bermudez are spoken of as his successors.

Journal des Debates.

Nothing appears to have transpired respecting the intentions of the French government in regard to the recent measures of the British government for supporting Portugal. The French Cabinet held long sessions daily, and the stocks had fallen about three per cent. The Etoile published the whole details, and Mr. Canning’s speech, without one word of comment.

The letters from Havre state that no excitement had been produced there by the intelligence from England, as it was believed the proceedings of the British government were adopted with the knowledge and sanction of the French cabinet. The Havre market was not affected by the news.

On the other hand, it is stated, or intimated, in the Journal du Commerce, that great dissensions exist in the French Cabinet—that the party attached to the Jesuits is the most powerful and will not coincide in the pacific designs of the Minister, Mr. Villele—and that war will certainly ensue.

The same paper states, that 2000 stand of arms for the Royalists who have entered Portugal, were furnished from the French garrison in Pampluna, and with the knowledge of the French Ambassador at Madrid.

There are no later advices from Portugal than were received from England.—The papers contain the particulars of the capitulation of Braganza to the Royalists, who act in the name of Don Miguel.

The New York Gazette says—The intelligence of the steps taken by Great Britain in aid of Portugal was received in Paris on the 13th, and created considerable sensation, causing a fall in the Funds; but they advanced again the next day to within one per cent. of their previous rates. We have seen several letters from Havre of the 15th, all of which concur in the opinion that war will ensue. One writer says, “Our ministers are strongly attached to their places, and they know that they would be hurled from them in twenty four hours, if they were to take that step.” Another says that France and England understand each other perfectly well, and will avoid a rupture. Letters from Lisbon of the 6th, received at Havre, mentioned that the Portuguese insurgents had been beaten by the militia of the country.

The Journal.

CHARLOTTE: TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1827.

Congress.—In the Senate, on the 31st ult. the question was taken on ordering the Bankrupt Bill to a third reading and was decided in the negative—yeas 15; nays 25. The next day, the vote was reconsidered, and the bill referred to a select committee; its fate, however, is considered sealed for the present session.

The bill for distributing a portion of the revenue of the United States among the several states, was called up, on the 1st instant, by Mr. Dickerson, who spoke for some time in explanation of its objects; when the bill, on motion of Mr. Benton, was laid on the table.

The bill for the protection of the Woollen Manufactures is still under consideration in the House of Representatives. At every step of its progress, it meets with strenuous opposition; but we hope a majority in Congress will be found disposed to sustain the great interests of the country, and afford sufficient protection and encouragement to native industry and enterprise.

We learn from private letters, that the legislature of this state would probably adjourn on Saturday last. Among the proceedings received by last mail, we notice with pleasure the passage of a resolution through both Houses, authorising the Treasurer to loan to Mr. McRae five thousand dollars for four years, without interest, to assist him in the publication of his proposed Map of the State.

A letter from Havana, of Jan. 11, contains the information, that Com. Porter is closely blockaded in Key West, by the Spanish squadron under the command of Admiral Laborde. The force of Com. Porter consisted of one frigate, two brigs and a schooner; that of Admiral Laborde, of 3 frigates, 2 brigs and a schooner.

A letter from the correspondent of the New-York Mercantile Advertiser, at Bordeaux, under date of December 18, says:—“Every appearance indicates a convulsion in Europe. Portugal and Spain will probably be once more a scene of violence, and how far it may extend, time alone will decide. Reports follow each other rapidly, but no event of material importance has occurred to my knowledge. Chaves, they say, has been taken by the Spaniards and shot. To-day it is reported that De Puyronnet and Dumas have resigned their places at Paris.”

Col. Benton, says the Missouri Republican, has been re-elected Senator, without much opposition. A large majority of the members were, individually, opposed to his re-election; but considering themselves bound by the wishes of their constituents, as expressed at the August election, and not knowing, or pretending not to know, of the change that has since taken place, gave him their votes. As there was no organized opposition, Col. Benton was voted for by friends and foes.

The Hon. John Williams, our Minister to Central America, arrived at Mobile on the 9th of January from Pensacola, where he arrived on the 5th in the U. S. Schooner Grampus, from Omea. Mr. Williams left Guatemala on the 2d of December, and embarked at Omea on the 16th. The political affairs of that country were in a very unsettled state. No intelligence had been received at Guatemala of the proceedings of the Panama Congress, which was to assemble near the city of Mexico. Mr. W. was on his way to his residence in Tennessee.

We have seen, says the National Journal, a beautiful specimen of Dimity, woven at Lowell, (Mass.) being the first manufactured in America, by water looms, and supposed to be equal to any imported Dimity.

The collector of the Island of Barbadoes has made known that no vessel will be admitted to an entry there with American produce from any of the foreign Islands in the West Indies. It is said a different regulation prevails in the Island of Antigua.

Colonial Trade. We perceive, that many of our cotemporaries, and others, are under the impression that Upper Canada is not included in the bill now before Congress interdicting all intercourse with the British Colonies after the 30th of September next. A letter from Washington, published in the New-York Evening Post, is singularly in error as to this fact. It says—“The intercourse will be interdicted, after the 30th September next, with all the colonies except Upper Canada. The committee did not positively decide the question as to Upper Canada, but there is no doubt the House will include it.” On referring to the bill itself we find this sweeping sentence, after mentioning by name the colonies and places generally, intended to the interdiction, “or any other colony or possession, under the dominion of Great Britain, in the West Indies or on the Continent of America.” This, we conceive, includes Upper Canada as effectually as if it had been mentioned by name. Baltimore Patriot.

A few days ago one of the convicts in the penitentiary, having been put to weaving which he did not like, chopped off with an axe, the fingers of his left hand and a part of his left foot, with most of his toes. Kentucky paper.

FREDERICKSBURG, (VA.) JAN. 24. Dressing Casually.—Mrs. Isabella Miller Barnett, a lady highly gifted by nature with a superior order of mind, a sociable and affable temper, and of great suavity of manners and who possessed in an eminent degree all those virtues that adorn and render interesting the female character, had long laboured under a painful personal malady which at first affected, and at last deranged her mind. Late, on Tuesday night, the 16th inst. she escaped from the vigilance of her anxious friends, left her chamber in an undress, and before she could be found, fell a sacrifice to the intense cold of the night, leaving a bereft husband, and six interesting children, and a large circle of connexions and friends, to bemoan her untimely loss—rendered more poignant from the manner in which the awful summons to a better world was executed.

“Of two evils choose the least.”—A writer in the “Virginia Jackson Republican and Liberal Construction Advocate,” (the gives my son the whole name of the war”) says “Mr. Tyler has declared in a facetious conversation, that if the administration desired his election over Mr. Randolph, they would find they were “swapping the devil for a witch.”—Be it so—a witch, now-a-days, is to be preferred to the devil at any time. Balt. Pat.

From the Democratic Press. The Richmond Enquirer—printed at the seat of Government of Virginia, that was so miserably mistaken in its estimate of the votes of the Legislature of that State, but one day before they rejected Mr. Randolph—undertakes to say, that the vote of Pennsylvania is “irreversibly gone over to General Jackson.” We pass over the presumption of Mr. Ritchie, in undertaking to announce what will be the vote of Pennsylvania two years hence, when he could not properly estimate the vote of the members of the legislature, in the very city in which he resides. For the information of the Enquirer, and other such factious prints, we state that if Pennsylvania has to pass between Gen. Jackson and the present President of the United States, she will assuredly vote for Mr. Adams; always presuming that the Administration will adopt the measures and appoint the men which are best calculated to promote the general weal, and are most acceptable to the friends of the administration. If they sustain their friends, and the principles of their friends, the vote of Pennsylvania is irreversibly gone over to John Q. Adams.

Trouble among the Bachelors.—Gen. McClure, the hero of Newark, has made war upon the bachelors of New-York, at the head of an army of Dogs and puppies! He has introduced a bill into the Legislature of that State to repeal the Dog-tax, and to levy the amount arising therefrom on Bachelors between the ages of 30 and 45 years. The Bachelors of the city of New-York have called a meeting to take measures to prevent the passage of the bill and to express their indignation at the proposition. Ball Patriot.

The labored efforts now making to impress on the public mind the belief, that the accounts of Mr. Randolph’s wild and extravagant behaviour in the Senate, were false and unfounded, is certainly one of the most remarkable and important attempts of political frontery, that ever fell under our observation. We know of but one parallel to it—the fierce and sturdy denial of Mr. Crawford’s bad health, when that distinguished gentleman lay the victim of a potent disease. There is one short way to settle the question—let an enquiry be addressed to Mr. Randolph’s most intimate personal friends in Richmond. We will abide their answer. Richmond Whig.

The following anecdote has been sent to us by a correspondent, who states that it has occurred within a month, and to his knowledge:—A Quaker took a horse to a fair to be sold; the animal was handsome, and appeared every way calculated for the collar, and a purchaser was soon found. “Will you warrant him, Sir?” said the man. “I will,” answered the Quaker, “in every respect.”—“And to draw,” added the dealer: “for if he will not draw, he is of no use to me.”—“Friend,” said the Quaker, “thou wouldst be delighted to see him draw.” Upon which a bargain was struck, and the horse delivered over. The next day he was put in a gig; but the moment he heard the rattle of the wheels he attempted to run away and ultimately kicked the vehicle to pieces, and endangered the lives of two persons in it. The animal was therefore returned, as not being according to the warranty, when the cunning Quaker proved himself to be too cunning for the horse-dealer; for, said he, “I did not warrant the horse to draw, I only said thou wouldst be delighted to see him draw and so should I; for had he drawn thou never shouldst have had him.” London paper.

On Thursday evening, the 25th ult. by the Rev. John M. Wilson, Mr. NATHANIEL MORRISON, to Miss RUTH ALEXANDER.

DIED. In this city, at the residence of the Rev. Dr. McPheeters, on Friday, the 2d inst. ELAM ALEXANDER, Esq. of Mecklenburg county, in this State.—This lamented young man was an alumnus of our University, and had just qualified himself for the practice of the law—to obtain a license for which he had come to the Supreme Court now in session. But who can look into futurity? Mr. A. has left a widowed mother and several brothers and sisters, to mourn his loss—a loss to them irreparable, but sanctified by the hope which he himself expressed, in his last message to his mother, that he had “a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.”

“.....Where is now The promise given—night’s golden promise Of a radiant morn? So perish off the hopes Of man!” Rol. Register.
