

A correspondent, "in one of the upper counties," whose communication in the Journal of the 11th ult. was so unpalatable to the combination editors in this state, writes us again, under date of Oct. 1. that he has just returned from the mountains, and is more fully convinced of the correctness of his former opinion.

The "scrap" which he has sent us, will be used hereafter, should circumstances render it necessary.

Large Watermelon.—A watermelon was raised on the plantation of Maj. M. THURMOND, of Wilkes county, this season, which measured and weighed as follows:—Its girth was 37 1/2 inches; its length 19; and it weighed 51 1/2 lbs. Beat this who can! "As to its quality," says our correspondent, "I only wish you had been there to try it. The remembrance alone makes my mouth water."

Administration Ticket in N. Carolina.—The editor of the Fayetteville Observer asks, if we "will say that an Administration Ticket will be run?" This, we think, is asking rather too much of us. We will, however, assure him, that as far as our information extends, it is the wish and intention of the friends of the Administration to run a ticket in this state. As to its being "useless" to run such a ticket, it is a mere matter of opinion, which may or may not be correct; and we are desirous to test its correctness by a fair trial of strength, if such a trial, under the system of misrepresentation adopted by the combination papers, can be had. To this Gen. Jackson's friends, certainly, ought not to object; for if their numbers are as overwhelming as they would fain make the public believe, they ought to rejoice at an opportunity of displaying them; and such an opportunity, we doubt not, they will, at the proper time, be favored with.

The last Star contains the rejected communication of Gen. Saunders. We are inclined to think it will add nothing to the General's fame, but, on the contrary, that its style and temper will operate against him. His unjustifiable attack on the presses in favor of the Administration is certainly impolitic, as they have it in their power to retaliate with a severity which he would feel most sensibly; but they will probably regard it more in pity than in anger, believing, with the General, that if, as he represents, Gov. Kent owes so much to his office, he is not "the first man who is indebted to his station for a little brief consequence."

As specimens of the General's style and temper, we give the following:—"The signal proof of daring and determined servility evidenced by this 'extract,' the bold and unblushing falsehood it avows as to my conduct and language, shews his 'Excellency' a worthy favorite of his master; and the readiness with which it is copied into certain prints evince their greedy subserviency to his will." Again: "The affirmative charge rests upon the ipse dixit of this pliant Governor alone. I meet it, therefore, as it ought to be met, with the lie direct." It may be said, in reply to this dignified denial, that it rests on the ipse dixit of the worthy General alone; and it will remain for the public to decide between them. We have no idea that either Gov. Kent or Gen. Saunders would utter a deliberate falsehood: there must be some mistake, or misapprehension, on one side or the other; and we think it extremely unbecoming and reprehensible in the latter gentleman, to meet the statement of the Governor of Maryland "with the lie direct." It certainly will not prejudice the public in his favor—it is calculated to have a contrary effect.

The second Monday in September was the day fixed upon for the assemblage of Doct. Cooper's Southern Convention.—Will the Doctor now inform the public why his Convention was not held? To some, we presume, this information will be acceptable; but it will not, it is supposed, be so agreeable to the Doctor to communicate it. His failure in this daring project, which has found none out of his own circle to advocate it, will teach him a salutary lesson, and enable him to form a juster estimate of the intelligence and patriotism of the Southern people, as well as of the confidence which they repose in him.

Virginia.—This state seems disposed to free itself from the shackles of the Richmond Junta. The proposition for a Convention, to be held at Richmond, for the purpose of forming an Electoral Ticket favorable to the re-election of Mr. Adams, seems to be in unison with the wishes of the people; and meetings have already been called in various counties, to choose Delegates to the Convention. The Caucus! that was a weight which pulled Mr. Crawford down in this state, and gave its vote to Jackson; yet Gen. Jackson's friends, with what consistency, we shall not say, will resort to it in Virginia: but it will sink them, judging from the present "signs of the times," and with them will go down the influence of the Richmond Aristocracy. The people, we have little doubt, will triumph in Virginia, as they did in this state.

The public ought to know the name of the individual, who wrote to the editors of the Intelligencer, that "the gallows would be too lenient a punishment" for them for supporting the present Administration; "IMPALING OF THE FAGGOT should be employed!" His letter was postmarked at Salem, in this state, and it is therefore to be presumed he is a citizen of Stokes county. If the daily developments of the spirit of the opposition do not open the eyes of the people to the danger which threatens them, we know not what will. Freedom of opinion and conduct, in this free country, is to be punished, not with hanging, that is too "LENIENT!"—but with "IMPALING OF THE FAGGOT!" Will the people submit to this?

Poverty.—The English papers state that Mr. Canning died poor; his property amounting to something less than £25,000. In most parts of this country, a man possessing such a property, would be called rich.

Signs of the Times.—A party of gentlemen, fifteen in number, accidentally dined together, a few days since in this County and the subject of the Presidency being under discussion, it appeared that 14 out of the fifteen were friendly to the Administration. So we go. Raleigh Register.

Of all men in the world, Gen. Jackson has reason to exclaim, "Save me from my friends, and I will protect myself against my enemies." One of his partisans in this State, in an anonymous letter, to the editors of the National Intelligencer, tells them, that for supporting the Administration, the GALLOWES would be too lenient a punishment. IMPALING OF THE FAGGOT should be employed!!! Register.

The General Assembly of Tennessee met at Nashville on Monday last. The session is likely to be one of great importance. Among the subjects of deepest interest to the state, likely to be brought upon the tapis this session, those of the Judiciary and Penitentiary will, perhaps, occupy the first place. Early in the session, the Governor elect, Gen. Houston, will be inaugurated, and a Secretary of State will have to be chosen.—ib.

The Frankfort Commentator proves, by the acknowledged returns of the late Congressional Election in Kentucky, that there were eight thousand six hundred and eighty seven more votes given to the Administration candidates than to those who avowed themselves for Jackson. There can be no mistake in the calculation. Every candidate on each side of the question is named, and every vote given to each is computed. The returns are undisputed, and show the majority for the Administration to be 8,687! The Administration majority in the State Legislature is established at sixteen, or 77 to 61; and yet people are to be found so "incredibly stupid" as to assert that General Jackson will get the votes of Kentucky.—Alexandria Gazette.

The Rev Effendi at Constantinople is reported to have said to a European diplomatic agent—"Woe to the Franks of Pera, and particularly to the English, if a treaty exists for placing obstacles in the way of the Turkish fleet."

To the Editor of the Baltimore Patriot.—Sir—It may have a tendency to lessen vain boasting on one hand,—and prevent any thing like despondency on the other,—to publish the following estimate of the probable result of the next election for President. This estimate is made up after much inquiry on the subject, and although there may be a variation of a few votes on either side, I think the friends of the Administration may repose with entire confidence on the re-election of Mr. Adams.

Dr. Chambers' Remedy for Intemperance. THE Subscriber, on the decease of the late Doct. Wm. Chambers, took into his possession the personal estate of the deceased, and found prepared a large quantity of Doctor Chambers' remedy for Intemperance. He hereby informs the public, that he has disposed of all the Medicine so found, to Dr. Jas. H. Hart, and Mr. Andrew M. Fanning, of this city. In making this disposition, the subscriber has been actuated by a due regard to the interest of the heirs of the Intestate, as well as from a wish to give the most extensive use to the virtues of the discovery, whatever they may be—and he can further add with confidence, that the gentlemen who will hereafter be the vendors of the remedy for Intemperance, as prepared by the Inventor, have been intimately connected with Doctor Chambers in his lifetime—have been his agents in compounding the medicine, and are acquainted with its composition. SYLVANUS MILLER, Pub. Administrator, &c.

The Medicine is prepared only by the subscribers, who alone are in possession of the original Recipe of the inventor, at the office of the late Dr. C. in the basement story of Rutgers' Medical College, in Duane street, east side of Broadway, and at the Medical store of Dr. Hart, corner of Broadway and Chamber street, 3 doors from Washington Hall, New-York. [From the Vermont Gazette.] "We have the pleasure to announce that Doctor Chambers' Medicine for intemperance has been administered to twelve persons in this vicinity, and that in every instance it has had the desired effect of producing an entire dislodge for the use of ardent spirits. It has redeemed them from obvious ruin, and restored them to themselves, relatives, and friends—to health, to industry, to usefulness, and to their proper stations in society."

Beware of impostors!—The almost incredible success which Dr. Chambers' medicine has met with in the cure of intemperance, has bro't forth many fraudulent imitations of this valuable remedy. To secure the public against imposition, the directions accompanying the genuine remedy for intemperance are signed in the hand writing of the subscribers, without which none are genuine.

TO EDITORS, In order that the efficacy of Dr. Chambers' Remedy for Intemperance may be thoroughly tested, Editors of newspapers, throughout the country, who will insert our advertisement and add this article to it, and send us a copy of the paper containing it, shall receive from us by return of mail, a quantity sufficient to cure one drunkard, which they will be requested to administer to some patient in their neighborhood, and publish the result. Public Institutions and Philanthropic Societies, by making application (duly authenticated) to the Subscribers, shall receive the medicine at a very reduced price. On enclosing to us the usual price, $5, postage paid, the medicine can be sent in a letter by mail. To those who are unable to pay, on personal application of the individual to our office, the medicine will be administered gratis. JAMES H. HART, M. D. A. M. FANNING, Successors to W. Chambers.
