BE A WOMAN.

Oft I've heard a gentle mother, As the twilight hours began, Pleading with a son on duty, Urging him to be a man. But unto her blue eyed daughter, Though with love's words quite as ready Points she out the other duty-"Strive, my dear, to be a lady."

What's a lady? Is it something Made of hoops, and silks, and airs, Used to decorate the parlor, Like the fancy rings and chairs? Is it one that wastes on novels

Every feeling that is human? If 'tis this to be a lady, 'Tis not this to be a woman.

Mother, then, unto your daughter Speak of something higher far, Than to be mere fashion's lady-"Woman" is the brightest star. If ye, in your strong affection,

Urge your son to be a true man, Urge your daughter no less strongly To arise and be a woman.

Yes, a woman-brightest model Of that high and perfect beauty, Where the mind, and soul, and body, Blend to work out life's great duty. Be a woman-naught is higher On the gilded list of fame; On the catalogue of virture

There's no brighter, holier name.

Be a woman-on to duty, Raise the world from all that's low, Place high in the social heaven Virtue's fair and radiant bow! Lend thy influence to each effort That shall raise our nature human; Be not fashion's gilded lady, Be a brave, whole souled, true woman.

When David Crocket first entered Congress he visited the President and expectorated freely upon the carpet. A handsomely painted spittoon was at once placed in the line of fire. Crocket then blazed away in another direction. Again the mysterious utensil was placed before him and again Crocket changed his line of fire. Where ever he turned, however, the glittering vessel confronted him, until the hunter in his wrath bawled at the irritating servant, "I say, nigger, if you put that thing before me agin, darned ef I don't spit in it."
