THE CROPS.-Notwithstanding the rains and unfavorable weather two weeks ago, we are gratified to hear that the prospect is good for an abundant supply of food in this part of the State. The wheat crop, although injured to some extent, is larger than for several years past. It is true, some farmers have not made as much as they expected, but all have done very well considering the circumstances, and flour will certainly be abundant. The past week afforded splendid weather for harvesting and getting the grass from the corn.

The accounts from the States south of this are

We direct the attention of wheat raisers to the letter which we publish in another column from a New York merchant. We have no doubt of the correctness of the statement that the crop of cereals generally will be immense, and that prices will soon rule low, and therefore those who sell early will get the best rates.

The New York Express of the 28th of June, speaking of Southern Wheat and Flour, says: "We are gratified to learn that the late heavy rains have not damaged the wheat and oats, South, except in a few and unimportant localities. The wheat in several States has been harvested in fine condition, and safely protected from summer rains. SIGNIFICANT .- We find in some of our exchanges a letter written from Charlotte to a Philadelphia paper, giving an account of the mineral wealth of this section of North Carolina, from which we make the following extract:

Now, if Mr Stevens was really in earnest when he talks about favoring confiscation, why would he purchase lands and gold mines in the South. Does he talk that way merely for the purpose of frightening Southern property-owners? The fact that prominent Northern men (members of Congress) are willing to buy land in the South not believe that such a thieving scheme as confiscation will ever be adopted or enforced.

We hope the present session of Congress will and business to be crippled and ruined by the threats of office seeking politicians. Unless people in the South it is now feeding, or let them | I say, the sooner the better.

DIVIDEND .- The First National Bank of Charlotte has declared a dividend of six per cent for the last 6 months. This Bank is one of the soundest in the country; and while its business, we presume, would justify a larger dividend, it prefers to add to and increase its surplus-a wise precaution against unfortunate contingencies. The Wadesboro Argus complains that the carrying of the mail between the head of the Wil., Char. & Ruth. We apprehended from the first establishment of that route that it would prove a failure, especially as regards affording mail facilities to the people between this place would give more satisfaction and conveniences or Louis Zimmer & Co., at Greensboro. to the people along the line, viz: A tri-weekly mail from Charlotte to Monroe, (going the upper road by Providence and returning the lower road by Rose Vale. &c..) also, a tri weekly or semiweekly mail from Monroe to Wadesboro, and the same to Lancaster C. If our friend of the Argus will assist us in having these routes re-established, we think he will find that it will be better for the people, and certainly better for the newspapers at Charlotte and Wadesboro.

Gen. Sherman and Gen. Johnston at some point dexterous performance of the new voters. in this State. If he had endorsed that arrangement, the two armies of Grant and Sherman would have enforced it, and peace and good feeling between the two sections been immediately established. But President Johnston then entertained such hatred for the Southern people that he refused to do anything to save them from treuble. Believing that he is as much deserving of censure as any radical Congressman, we do not feel any sympathy for him in his present embarrassed situation.

The following extract from a communication in the Wilmington Journal so nearly expresses our views that we copy and endorse it:

"Our greatest misfortune since the surrender of our armies was the necessity or seeming necessity for us to risk our shattered fortunes in the same boat with Andrew Johnson. I am not a radical nor on the road to the Radical camps. Between them and me there is an impassable gulf. I am not, however, a believer in Mr Johnson or his policy, which was, in my opinion, as obviously illegal and wrong as the action of Gen. Sheridan, and with less color of title. We were either a State of the United States or we were a conquered country. Mr Johnson's policy started with the premiss that North Carolina was neither a State nor a province, but a sort of geographical hermaphrodite, or rather territorial eunuch .-Conclusions from such a premiss necessarily led him into the mire, where he yet struggles, and ity and yield all that could be desired. GOING TO EUROPE. - In former times pleasure eekers were generally satisfied with a visit to the North or to some fashionable resort in the South, but now the rule is a journey to Europe; and so great has been the number of Americans who have gone across the ocean this year that it is stated that a return passage is secured with difficulty. This disposition to visit Europe is not confined to Northern people alone, but Southerners are going in crowds. Brides and grooms, with their attendants, are sailing from New York every week, and dyspeptic drones seem to think that all that is necessary to restore them to health is a trip to the Continent. Newly married people had better be certain that they can buy or rent a house, secure furniture and food for themselves and children, before they spend hundreds and thousands of dollars in traveling. The evil of the present day is that young people try to commence living in a style that their fathers and dustry and toil.

THE WHEAT CROP. Correspondence of the Democrat.

NEW YORK, June 22, 1867. Editor Charlotte Democrat:-Dear Sir: We $1.371. take the liberty to state a few points concerning the wheat crop to which, if you think proper, you may call the attention of our friends through the columns of your valuable paper. From all points the accounts are favorable for an immense crop of cereals generally, and prices in a short time must rule low. Yet, in the meantime, say within sixty days, before the supplies from the great West can be matured and brought to market, the whole of the crop South can be shipped off and sold, realizing a bountiful pricenow three dollars for a good article of white wheat, and the great probability is that this price will be maintained for at least thirty if not sixty days. The stock of good sound wheat here is extremely light, and the entire stock small for the season-not over three hundred and fifty thousand bushels, all grades-and the Millers in very light stock, all waiting to purchase the new Southern, bespeaks for the latter, for at least a few weeks to come, very fair prices to a certainty. The circumstances then of this market being so very favorable for our Southern friends to dispose of their crop, we need hardly urge them to ship and sell promptly, as they will readily perceive that this is the best mode. Even if they sell more than they can space, reserving but little for home consumption, they will find that they can be supplied later in the season at less than one-half the amount per bushel they have realized by taking advantage of the present Respectfully, your ob't servants, STENHOUSE & MACAULAY.

CHARLOTTE MARKET, July 8, 1867. CORRECTED BY STENHOUSE, MACAULAY & Co.

The past week was one of the dullest of the year. The weather being favorable, farmers were closely engaged at work in their fields. There is no change to note in prices, except Flour, which has advanced to $7 and $7.25 per sack from wagons, and $7.50 to $7.75 from stores. During the week there was little or no Flour in market, and the immediate demand had a tendency to advance prices.
