

PERSEVERE.

Voyager, upon life's sea, To yourself be true, And where'er your lot may be, Paddle your own canoe.

Never, though the winds may rave, Falter nor look back, But upon the darkest wave, Leave a shining track.

Nobly dare the wildest storm, Stem the hardest gale, Brave of heart and strong of arm, You will never fail.

When the world is cold and dark, Keep an aim in view, And toward the beacon-mark, Paddle your own canoe.

Every wave that bears you on To the silent shore, From its sunny source has gone, To return no more.

Then let not an hour's delay Cheat you of your due, But, while it is called to-day, Paddle your own canoe.

If your birth denied you wealth, Lofly state and power, Honest fame and hardy health Are a better dower.

But if these will not suffice, Golden gain glittering, And to win the glittering prize, Paddle your own canoe.

Would you wrest the wreath of fame From the hand of fate; Would you write a deathless name With the good and great; Would you bless your fellow men, Heart and soul imbue

With the holy task, and then Paddle your own canoe. Would you crush the tyrant wrong, In the world's free fight, With a spirit brave and strong, Battle for the right; And to break the chains that bind The many to the few— To enfranchise slavish mind— Paddle your own canoe.

Nothing great is lightly won, Nothing won is lost; Every good deed, nobly done, Will repay the cost. Leave to Heaven, in humble trust, All you will to do; But, if you succeed, you must Paddle your own canoe.

THE OTHER SIDE.—Once in a happy home, a sweet triplet baby died. On the evening of the day, when the children gathered around their mother, all sitting very sorrowful, Alice, the eldest, said: "Mother, you took all the care of baby while she was here, and you carried and held her in your arms, all the while she was ill; now mother, who took her on the other side?"
