If this Executive trust, vested by the Constibility will be with Congress in clothing the subordinate with unconstitutional power, and with the Executive Department, is an evil that will inevitably sap the foundation of our federal system, but it is not the worst evil of this legislation. It is a great public wrong to take from the President powers conferred upon him alone by the constitution, but the wrong is more flagrant and more dangerous when the powers so taken from the President are conferred upon subordinate executive officers, and especially upon military officers. Over nearly one-third of the States of the Union military power, regulated by no fixed law, rules supreme.
