

MY MOTHER.

Long years have passed of toil and strife, And darker grows the path of life, As up the rugged steep I climb, And pause to hear the luring chime, Of memories from the olden time, My mother, my sweet mother.

Thy lessons were not taught in vain, Their sacred seed I still retain, That in my heart will germinate, And though the harvest be but late, 'Twill bless thee in my late estate, My mother, my dear mother.

Once more, once more, I crave to rest, A child upon thy faithful breast, And at thy feet in prayer to bow, And feel thy hand upon my brow, With many deep lines furrowed now, My mother, oh, my mother.

I know, I know thou wilt not yield, Though all thy loved ones stray the field, Though ruthless hands thy home shall blight, Thy smile will ever be as bright, Defying still the vandals might, My mother, my brave mother.

Long years have passed, alas! what years, Of blighted hopes and blinding tears, And on his lonely wandering way, Thine absent son doth nightly pray, God's blessings on thee far away, My mother, my sweet mother.

SOME FACTS FOR THE NEGROES TO CONSIDER.—The New York Tribune, (Horace Greeley's paper) says: "There are 12,000,000 of people in the South, whereof at least 8,000,000 are whites. There is ample room there for 50,000,000 more, and crowds are flocking in, all of them whites. Europe is sending us a full thousand per day, and the South professes them cheap land, a genial climate, and employment for every sort of industrial capacity. Now that a good harvest has delivered the South from famine, and her reconstruction is in rapid progress, there is no region on earth that should attract so many immigrants. Twenty years hence she will have 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 of people, whereof the blacks will probably number 5,000,000 or 6,000,000. Unless all the laws which have hitherto governed the increase of population are subverted, the whites of the South must increase faster than the blacks by at least four to one. Not that the blacks will fall to increase also, but they are nowise recruited by immigration, and cannot be Africa sends forth no voluntary emigrants; the slave trade is on its last legs; and no negroes are coming to this country from any quarter. How, then, is it possible that the 4,000,000 of blacks in this country should overbear the 8,000,000 of whites in the South, with the millions on the point of flocking thither?"

TOMATO CATSUP.—Now that tomatoes are in their greatest abundance, the following recipe for making tomato catsup, communicated by Mrs. Pace to the Prairie Farmer, will be found useful: "Take ripe tomatoes (the small red ones are preferable) wash but not skin them, and thoroughly boil one hour, and then put them through a hair sieve; and to one quart of juice add one table-spoonful of cinnamon, one of black pepper, half of cayenne, half of nutmeg; one of good mustard, two-thirds of tea cupful of salt. Boil three hours, and then to one quart of juice add one pint of pure cider vinegar. Boil half an hour longer; bottle hot and seal up.
