THE SONG OF OLD. The songs of old? How deep a spell Lies in the old familiar words. Once sung by those we loved so well, In other days, in happier years; Visions of hope long passed away, Come o'er the heart so lone and cold, And Memoryasks, where, where are they Who sweetly sung the songs of old?

Where are they? Some in silence sleep Beneath the mournful yew-tree's gloom, Others, within the boundless deep, Have early found an ocean tomb; Dim are the eyes that brightly shone, The once warm heart lies still and cold, And hushed for aye, for ever gone, That voice that sung the songs of old.

Where are they? On some foreign land For many a weary day they roam; Cheerless they tread the stranger's land, From friends afar, afar from home. Do they not long to join once more The joyous dance, the social throng; And mingle, as in days of yore, Their voices in the olden song?

Fondly the heart still loves to linger Amid the ruins of the past, Tracing, with Fancy's fairy finger, Visions too beautiful to last; Bringing to memory's eye again The long-lost friends, the cherished ones, Waking the past with some sad strain, Some wee-remembered old song.
