

Be a Woman

Of I've heard a gentle mother, As the twilight hour began, Pleading with a son on duty, Urging him to be a man. But unto her blue-eyed daughter, Though with love's words quite as ready Points she out the other duty, "Strive my dear, to be a lady."

What's a lady? Is it something Made up of hoops, and silks, and airs, Used to decorate the parlor, Like the fancy rings and chairs? Is it one that wastes on novels Every feeling that is human? If 'tis this to be a lady, 'Tis not this to be a woman.

Married to Save Room

At a late hour in the evening a party of young gentlemen and two young ladies arrived at a hotel in St. Paul. The several individuals desired separate rooms, though all belonged to the same party, and it did not seem unreasonable that the two ladies should occupy one room, while the two gentlemen occupied another. On account of the crowded state of the hotel, it was found impossible to give each a separate room, and they were so informed. They then retired to the ladies' parlor, and held a council of war on the subject of the manner in which they were to be accommodated. After a short time, one of the young gentlemen sought an interview with the proprietor of the hotel, and said he thought the matter could be satisfactorily arranged if the proper officials could be procured. "What officials do you require, my dear sir?" was the very polite but peremptory request of the host.

He replied that either a clergyman or a justice of the peace would answer. No sooner said than done! A justice of the peace was summoned, and in about three minutes, the young man and one of the young ladies were made one flesh, according to the statute in such case made and provided. This little ceremony, costing the hotel nothing, and only involving the parties in the expense of the fee to the justice and the revenue stamp on the marriage certificate, saved to the hotel one room, which was soon after let to an elderly gentleman from up the country, at the rate of $3 a day.

B. KOOPMANN. Having completed my Winter Stock, I now offer to my friends and patrons in Charlotte and surrounding country, as handsome and cheap an assortment of Fall and Winter Goods as can be bought in or out of the city.

An Arab Marriage.

From "Life in an Oasis" we take the following sketch of a Bedouin bride: "I had the honor of 'assistin' this mornin' at the marriage of a Bedouin lady. Strolling a little way into the desert about eight o'clock I saw three Bedouin encampments, and from the most distant there issued a camel, on whose back was a huge bower, formed of plain branches and covered with red cloth. As the camel approached, the women left the nearest encampments and raised shrill cries in welcome to the bride, the men firing muskets in close proximity, which would have proved alarming to most European young ladies. The cradle was lined with Arab carpets, on which reclined a girl, dressed in the height of Arab fashion: large silver rings on her legs, silver ornaments on her breast and turban, and over all a huge striped rug of native manufacture. The lovely Fatima—for such I learned was her name—deigned to glance at me as I raised my hat in salutation of the bride; but she appeared to take far greater pleasure in the musketry of her Bedouin followers, who fire about her bower as if it had been a French fortress. Presently there issued from the gate of Laghouta a train of Arab women, dancing, clapping their hands and making shrill cries as fine as human voices possibly could be to the whinny of a mare. Then the camel was stopped, the bride alighted, embraced a few of the women, joined the procession, and, followed by the camel, all proceeded to the mud hut in which Fatima was to share for ever the love of an Arab with two other ladies. But en route the Bedouins chased about the procession at full gallop, firing their guns while at top speed; and when the bridal party had passed into the mud mansion, they followed, and I could hear the feu de joie repeated. May Fatima be happy! Her price was not high, as she only cost her lord sixty francs, and there are some young ladies of the desert who cost two hundred francs.

NOT LAWYER ENOUGH TO HURT.—That moderate reputation at the bar is not regarded in the West as an insurmountable barrier to vital party or membership in the church, has been definitely settled at F——, a city of Illinois, where an interesting revival of religion has been in progress under the ministrations of Elder B——, an able minister and something of a wit. That church was a power in the city and country roundabout. A young lawyer, Hiram D——, had been a regular attendant at the meetings, had several times gone forward to the anxious seat, yet seemed to be in no hurry to unite with the church. The sickle had been thrust in unsparingly for several weeks, and now they were gathering the sheaves. Brother Hiram was called to testify his experience and explain the difficulties in the way of his "coming out." He arose and said he felt the necessity of being a Christian, but the fact was, he was just starting in the world, had no way of making a living but to practice law, and doubted whether a man could be a lawyer and a Christian too! At this point, Elder B—— cried out, "Come along Brother Hiram, you are not lawyer enough to hurt."

Health for the Southern Invalid, Found in the use of KAY'S WORDSWELL'S Vegetable Restorative Pills, imported by A. H. ERWIN & CO. These Pills supercede the use of Blue Mass, Calomel and all dangerous medicines; are most effective in Chills and Fever, and will renew and invigorate the body. As we have been disfranchised by the Yankees let us in turn disfranchise all Yankee trash medicines and Yankee nostrums. This Medicine can be had at Dr. Scarr's and Walker & Brother's, Charlotte, and at Dr. G. E. Davidson's, Salisbury, and at A. H. ERWIN, Sept. 30, 1867. Lincolnton, N. C. CHARLOTTE, Oct. 21, 1867.

I have used some of the above mentioned Pills, (Kay's Wordswell's Vegetable Restorative Pills), and can cheerfully say that I regard them as a safe and efficient remedy for many disorders incident to our country. L. G. JONES, M. D.

Important to Carolina Shippers. THE NEW Balt. & Carolina Grand Trunk FREIGHT LINE, VIA PETERSBURG, VA. Comprising the following great Freight Routes: THE POWHATAN STEAMBOAT COMPANY'S FREIGHT LINE OF STEAMERS, RALEIGH AND GASTON, NORTH CAROLINA, WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA, WILMINGTON AND WELDON. ATLANTIC & NORTH CAROLINA, WILMINGTON AND MANCHESTER, CHARLOTTE & SOUTH CAROLINA RAILWAYS, And their connections.

Time Quick and Rates Low. This new trunk line forms a Great Freight Route between Baltimore and Weldon, Warrenton, Raleigh, Hillsboro, Lexington, Salisbury, Morgantown, Charlotte, Lincolnton, Goldsboro, Newbern, Beaufort, Wilmington, Chesterville, Wimsboro, Columbia, Sumterville, Manchester, and all intermediate points on and near these great Railways and their connections. The Powhatan Steamers connect at Petersburg with Petersburg Railway for all points in the Carolinas. Cars run alongside of Steamers' Wharf, and goods are transferred with careful handling. CARS ARE RUN THROUGH WITHOUT BREAKING BULK. Between Petersburg and Raleigh, Charlotte, Goldsboro, Wilmington, &c., &c. This inland Line possesses many advantages over a Sea Route. Marine risk is small and insurance is comparatively nothing. The Wharf of Powhatan Steamers being situated in the very centre of the great Shipping District of Baltimore, renders it convenient to shippers, and drayage is very small. Special attention paid to consignments of Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Rosin, &c., &c. All produce forwarded at the lowest possible rates. To insure transportation over this Inland Fast Line, mark all goods, whether Northward or Southward bound, "Via Petersburg." Freight landed in Baltimore day following delivery to the Steamers. Through Receipts are given and fixed rate per 100 pounds guaranteed both ways. Rates in every case as low as via Bay Line and Portsmouth, and from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. N. B.—With regard to last named points, freight is forwarded to and from Petersburg by Philadelphia and New York Steamers. For rates and all further information, apply to any Freight Agent on the Line, or at the OFFICE OF THE POWHATAN STEAMBOAT CO., 90 Light St. Wharf, BALTIMORE. J.
