Feeling at the North. John Forsyth, the able Editor of the Mebile Register, writes from Washington city as follows: "The readers of the Register know how I have been haunted for some time back with the apprehengion that the spirit of the North was unequal to the duty of defending its liberties against the daring party that is openly assailing them. Since I have been here. I have eagerly watched the temper of the public mind and the public men, and I have seen nothing to lay the ghost of my apprehensions. 1 tremest point of usurpation.' Of course there will be no physical resistance at the North. When the Southern people were conquered and subjugated, the Northern people were also subjugated. Before secession occurred, many of our so-called Northern friends declared that an army to invade the South would have to pass over their dead bodies before accomplishing the object, but when war actually commenced those very same persons were about the first to march against us, and they did us a great deal of barm under the lead of Cochrane, &c.; and the worst of it is, they are now more vindictive and revengeful than many who never professed friendship for us.

Whatever is accomplished towards remedying the difficulties, and removing the annoyances and perplexities under which the South now labors, must be done by the ballot alone, and it must be done by fair argument and calm, deliberate and considerate action. There will be no more war between the people of the two sections, and neither will the Northern people spill their blood in our behalf, no matter what happens.

Notice.

We regret to hear con-plaints from many of our subscribers that they cannot get their papers regularly, because the Postmasters, or those who have charge at the places of delivery, allow persons to take them out and read them and carry them off.

The Agent of the Post Office Department in this State (Dr. Jobe) recently published a notice to Postmasters on this subject, and warned them that they would be held responsible for such conduct, but it has done but little if any good. A man who takes another's paper without permission from the subscriber himself, is no better than a man who steals any other kind of property. If we can get the evidence to justify it, we will expose such persons and make them pay damages. We beg Postmasters in the country not to permit any one (who is not a subscriber) to take papers from the office unless he has written permission from the subscriber.

The Impeachment Proceedings.

But little progress was made in the trial of President Johnson during the past week. Proceedings were resumed on Thursday last, when the counsel for the President commenced introducing testimony. The Washington Express, speaking of the trial,

"It has been agreed by the counsel of the President that Judge Curtis shall open the case on their side. He does not intend to write it, but will speak from very brief notes. Gov. Boutwell will make the summing up on the side of the managers after the evidence is all in, and with Mr Bingham will close the case, the latter of course, by virtue of his position, making the closing speech of all. On the defence, Messrs. Evarts and Stanbery will close. Both on the part of a portion of the managers and the counsel for the President an effort will be made to have the Senate so extend its rule as to allow more than two to speak in closing the case. Col. L. D. Campbell is here, as is also Major General Sherman. The latter is to be questioned concerning conversations with Mr Johnson regarding testing the tenureof-office law in the courts.'

WASHINGTON, April 6 .- Much chagrin exists among Radicals. The failure of Butler to make out a case against the President has been a subject of general congratulation everywhere outside of the friends of such former professed friends as Sickles, Butler, the Rump. Some blame Butler, others condemn the Candid observers and thinkers agree that the impeachment was a stupendous mistake. The Radicals still insist that the President must be convicted. They say that their party cannot afford to fail. To fail would be irredeemable ruin.

WASHINGTON, April 7 .- The President's levee last evening was largely attended. The President appeared remarkably cheerful, and did not look in the east impeachment-disturbed.

After having recognized the most frivolous testimony as bearing upon impeachment, the Radicals are now resorting to strategy, with a view to stiffen the partisanship of those Scuators who, it is feared, are inclined to vote against the conviction of the President. Among other absurd stories promulgated by them for this purpose, is one to the effect that Senator Conness, of California, has been offered two hundred thousand dollars by the President's friends for his influence and vote against conviction. Other absurd stories, equally groundless, are receiving current circulation. President Johnson never had, and does not now entertain fears of conviction, if a fair trial shall be accorded him.

Washington, April 9 .- Judge Curtis, counsel for the President, commenced his speech, and was listened to throughout with marked attention, especially by the members of the Court. Divorce in the North.

One of the saddest signs of the times, and one indicating the very destruction of the foundations of society, is the frequent and deliberate breaking of the marriage covenant, and the facility of obtaining divorces for insufficient causes. The declaring that Judge Irwin is not eligible as a can- wide desire for man to put asunder whom God didate for Governor of the State of Georgia, and that has joined together, has caused a new line of Gen. Gordon, who has been nominated in his place advertising to spring up. Illustrative of this ston, via Zanzibar. He was in good health and idea, we find in an exchange the following:

A number of enterprising gentlemen of New York, who are in the law trade, seemed to have turned their special attention toward simplifying this business, so far as the marriage question is concerned. We constantly observe the publication of notices to the following effect:

"Absolute divorces obtained from the courts of several States without publicity or fee till successful Communications free and strictly confidential."

No fees until divorce is obtained "Absolute divorce legally obtained in New York and other States where desertion, etc., is sufficient cause. No publicity or charge till divorce obtained."

Very many of these divorce suits are conductted in a manner so exceedingly confidential, that one of the parties most interested is not informed of the proceedings at all until astounded by the presentation of the decree. We were cognizant of a case wherein an estimable lady, innocent of all wrong, and ignorant even of any dissatisfaction on the part of her husband, parted with him affectionately at the steamboat dock as she started on a journey to see some friends. Some hours after, in the privacy of her state room, she found leisure to examine a paper her husband had handed her at the last moment, and discovered it to be a copy of a decree of divorce rendered by an Illinois Judge. Before the steamboat had been six hours gone, her late husband had married another woman. Numbers of these confidential divorces are obtained for unworthy purposes by the most rascally means .- Baltimore

The Ku-Klux Klan Humbug.

WASHINGTON. April 9 .- General Grant has issued no orders regarding the Ku-Klux Klan.

The above is a telegraphic dispatch from Washington, and shows that the idle talk in Southern papers about the "Ku-Klux Klan" is attracting attention at the North, and will, no doubt, be made an excuse for accusing the Southern people of disloyalty and justify more oppressive measures

We presume the whole affair is an attempt at fun but we fear it will prove rather unfortunate to our people. Northern papers are already denouncing the supposed organization as dangerous to the Union, and calling on the Government to interfere. No matter who commits acts of violence, it is attributed to the work of the "Ku-Klux Klan," said to be composed of Southern men.

We cordially endorse the following remarks of the Norfolk Journal: "We hope that our press will universally unite with us in discountenancing this absurd and mischievous nonsense-as, indeed, most of the papers in Virginia have done already-and that companies of lads with blue lights, horns and tails, will not be by our papers elevated into mythic Roman heroes. In Virginia we think that we should mind our own or that wing of the Republican party which acbusiness, and carefully eschew anything that may tend to involve us in trouble. If the people of other States do not think their condition bad enough, let them make it hopeless enough to suit themselves-it is merely a matter of taste with them We hope. however, that Virginia will not follow their lead; for our condition is already just about as bad as we could

We respectfully suggest to our cotemporaries North Carolina the importance of heeding the above advice and caution of the Journal.

One Result of Impeachment.

[From the New York Times, Republican.] The Tenure of Office law is likely to bring about results, in case the President is convicted and removed, that were not looked for by all who gave it their votes. That there will be a general weep of office-holders throughout the country. upon the advent of Senator Wade to the Presidency, seems to be conceded; and as there is also a general concurrence of opinion that the public westare demands such a retorm, the Republican majority in the Senate will find little difficulty n giving such changes their assent.

But in filling these offices by new appointnents it is equally certain that Mr Wade will make his selections exclusively from the "Radical' wing of the party. General Grant when he comes into office, will thus find all the places under him filled in advance; and as the "Radicals' have the majority in the Republican party in the Senate, so as to render changes in this respect quite out of the question, his patronage and power will be reduced to the min mum. He will not be able to make even a single change when he becomes President, except at the pleasure cepted him as the candidate only at the last moment, and when they tound his nomination to be inevitable. So far as controlling the patronage of the Government is concerned, one year of office for Mr Wade will be quite as potential as four. It can all be disposed of within that time and put beyond the reach of Executive interference.

If the selections for office are fit and judicious, this result may prove advantageous. We are so thoroughly convinced of the absolute necessity of some reform in our system of appointments to office, which shall give it greater stability and make it more independent of party changes, that we shall welcome almost anything which promises those results. But we do not think that this about two hours, and nary one of 'em spoke. precise turn of affairs was to eseen by all those in the Senate and House who gave the bill their

From the Greensboro Patriot. Marriages of Negroes and Whites.

The Clerk of the County Court informs us, that some time last Fall application was made by a colored man for a license to marry a white woman. The man was told that such proceeding would be contrary to the law of the State; whereupon he went to the Superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau, who called upon the Clerk, and was told that such license could not be granted without a military order to that effect. The Superintendent here then wrote to the State Superintendent at Raleigh, stating the case, and that there were three such cases before him, and asking that a "special order" might be granted in a specified case. (where the woman already had children by the man,) if a "general order" could not be given for all. He wrote a second time before receiving an answer, which had been delayed on account of waiting a return from Headquarters at Charleston. The following was finally received as Gen. Canby's response:
