

Agricultural.

Succession of Crops. A writer in that excellent agricultural journal—The Cultivator and Country Gentleman—makes some suggestions to Southern farmers in regard to the proper mode of cultivating small farms of from one hundred to one hundred and fifty acres of cleared land, founded on the experience of the farming system so successfully pursued in Chester county, Pennsylvania.

This system of farming is carried on here in Chester county, Pennsylvania, with great success, where land is bringing from $60 to $200 per acre—such sales are now reported every week in our county papers. This rotation is carried on with the exception of oats—oats or potatoes succeeding the corn crop, generally oats. That crop is succeeded by wheat, well manured with barnyard manure, and if there is not enough of that, superphosphate of lime is used to fill out.

The necessity we are under to procure that system of tillage which will yield most to a diminished but well regulated labor, prompts us to seize upon and present to our country readers all the practical suggestions we find on this subject.

"A two story street" is the latest wrinkle that occupies the attention of the New Yorkers. A bill for tunneling Broadway in New York city has passed one branch of the State Legislature. The plan proposes not simply to tunnel Broadway, but to take up the whole street in its whole width, carriage-way, sidewalks and all—and to a depth of fifteen or twenty feet; then it is to be reconstructed by building a roof on the level of the present street, and making a basement story for a second Broadway under the present one, through which six railroad tracks are to be carried; the traffic of the present street to be carried on upon the roof of the street below. This stupendous plan, it is said, cannot possibly be completed in less than ten years, and will cost at least ten millions of dollars per mile. New York is naturally very much excited over the scheme.
