It also shows that the deep conviction of the dangers of Radicalism to the country—the conviction that made itself felt at the polls in California, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey and New York, and gave those States to the Democrats by good majorities - is a deep conviction still that it has not worn away with time, and that nothing whatever of promise for the better is felt in anything done by the Radicals in the period that has elapsed since a State last recorded the judgment of its people against that party. Within that time have come two great party events-the impeachment and nomination of a Presidential candidate. Destructive Tornado in S. C.

On Sunday night, the 7th, a terrific storm accompanied with hail and rain, passed along the western borders of this District, following the course of Broad River. The damage done to crops and fencing is reported to have been heavy. A friend writes to us, that his farm will not produce the seed planted upon it. In some places the fences were lifted up and the rails strewn several hundred yards away, leaving scarcely a vestige to show where a fence once stood. Messrs. Britton and Gibson were the most worthy of praise, although Gov. Seymour declared that he had, at no time and in no place, seen more natural or appropriate declamation by Freshmen or Sophomores.

On Wednesday morning, the Hon. Thomas Henry Seymour, lately Governor of Connecticut, was introduced to an intelligent audience by Senior Busbee, as the orator of the day on the part of the Philantropic Society. After a few words, gracefully returning thanks for the honor thus conferred on him, and expressing his gratification at renewing his intercourse with companions in the joyous contests of boyhood and in the deadly strifes on the plains of Mexico, he announced, as his subject, "Government, its origin and forms, together with its functions and

In presence, voice and manner, the orator for Commencement presented a striking contrast to the preacher for Commencement—the Rev. Mr Moran, of the N. C. Conference. His manly form, deep and rich voice and vigorous and graceful action, enabled him to secure, for an unusual length of time, the thoughtful attention of a large and intelligent audience to a rare, subtle and broad generalization concerning the dealings of our God with his creatures-a generalization dently the favorite philosophy of its author, that was stolen from him at some point between Bal- depth were in inverse ratio, most simple and timore and New York, and their loss will prove comprehensive. The doctrine of this sermon to the Seniors was drawn from Eph. 1:10: "That in the dispensation of the tuliness of time he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in Heaven and in earth," The object of the learned divine was to gratify the instinctive desire of the human mind to perceive unity in the midst of diversity, an end and a purpose all through the most complicated and wide spread activities, and demonstrate that the revelation of the glory of God in the face of the Lord Jesus Christ has ever been, as a matter of fact in history, the centre around which all the dealings of our God with the children of Adam have ever revolved.

Of course Thursday is the great day of Commencement week. This is the day for which Seniors have longed and Mothers have left farm and family-the day for which sisters and sweethearts have reserved their brightest smiles and richest dresses. The Liquor-Traffic.

The N. Y. Examiner, in an interesting article, collates some striking facts and figures about the lands in this respect is wrong and expensive, and liquor traffic in the United States. The Revenue report to the Treasury, January 1868, says: The present productions of distilled spirits in the United States, theoretically available for assessment and revenue, is undoubtedly about firty millions of proof gallons per annum."

The total number of licensed establishments for the sale of liquor in the United States, is 130, 000, that is one establishment for every 266 persons, or for every fifty-three families. This statement cannot be an exaggeration, for the more carefully prepared statistics of New York State give one grog-shop to every 183 of the inhabitants.

These 130,000 licensed liquor establishments occupy more buildings than there are in the city and county of Philadelphia, according to the returns of January 1868.

If a frontage of twenty feet were allowed each iquor establishment, they would form a solid row of buildings more than four hundred and ninetytwo miles long-longer than the railroad route from Boston, by way of New York and Philadelphia, to Washington city. The number of persons required to carry on this profitable traffic, assigning three to each place, (in New York City the average is five each.) is 390,000, more than the population of Baltimore or Boston.

In the State of New York, the number of licensed grog-shops is 21.242, and of employees in them, 63.726. The number of schools and churches is 18,302, and that of teachers and ministers,

The sum of money expended for liquor throughout the country, is still more startling. The total value of retail liquor sales for one year, in the different States and Territories, is $1,483,-491,865. The total value of railroads and their equipments is but little more than this, viz: $1.653,050.799. This enormous amount spent for intoxicating drink, is equivalent to $43 for every man, woman and child in the country. It is more than "the entire product of the precious metals," from all the States and Territories west of the Rocky Mountains, for twenty years, from 1848 to January 1868, which Mr J Ross Browne. in his recent report to the Secretary of the Treasorv. estimates at $1.165,000,000. It is more than ten times the total value of all the church property in the United States, given by the census of 1860 as $171,398,532. It is more than one-half our entire national debt, (not deducting the cash in the treasury), which was $2.625,

502.848 on November 1. 1867: HAILSTORMS. - We read of furious hailstorms in all parts of the country, from the Northern portion of the Union down to Texas. We have seen an account of a storm that occurred in Washington city last Sunday, that did a great deal of damage. The hail fell furiously, breaking immense numbers of window panes. The stones were very large-some of the size of pigcon's eggs. This we can believe. But what shall we say of an account which we read of a storm that passed over San Antonio, Texas, in which one of the hail-stones was weighed, and its weight was five pounds and a half! But this was not equal to one that passed over Indianola, in the same wonderful country, in which there fell stones that weighed eight pounds!

These heavenly shots are said to have riddled the strongest roofs like cannon balls; and so they must have done-if they ever fell-but this is exactly what we doubt.

How to keep up your Hay Crop.

Our farmers must certainly by this time be fully aroused to the importance of paying stricter attention to the cultivation of hay. High prices, going to enrich Northern raisers, must have dearly taught them by this time that their interest lies in the cultivation of this article. We have fine meadow lands, admirably adapted to this peculiar culture, which, with a little care. could be made to abound with fine crops of hav

We find the following extract, as to the best method of keeping up a crop of this character, in an exchange and insert it for the benefit of our planting triends:

"A farmer who had been in the habit of selling his hay for many years in succession, being asked how he kept up his hay crop without manuring or cultivating his hand, replied, "I never allow the after-swarth to be cut." If this rule was generally tolk wed there would be less said about running out of grass fields or short crops of hay. Some farmers feed out every green thing and compel the cattle to pull up and knaw off the roots of the grass. Cutting rowen is certain death to bay creps. A farmer had better buy hay at forty dollars a ton than ruin his hay field by close grazing. The general treatment of grass should be abandoned as a matter of profit and

KOOPMANN'S BITTERS.

VALUABLE MEDICINE I take pleasure in informing the public at large that I have again made preparation for the manufacture, (on a scale adequate to the increased demand) of the so well and favorably known "Koopmann's Bitters." The virtues of which have become as familiar as household words, as can be attested by hundreds of families who have used it with unvarying success in all cases of Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhoa and Chills and Fevers, &c, and by thousands of North Carolina soldiers in the late war who have found it in the different diseases contracted in camp, a safe and certain cure. This remedy is so well known that any recommendation is deemed utterly unnecessary, although I can refer with pride to actual consumers in your midst, who are willing to testify to its efficacy. Wholesale and retail at my Store in Charlotte, N. C., and at all Druggists. B. KOOPMANN
