Home and Friends.

O there's a power to make each hour As sweet as Heaven designed it; Nor need we roam to bring it home, Though few there be that find it. We seek too high for things close by, And loose what Nature found us; For life hath here no charms so dear

As home and friends around us.

We oft destroy the present joy For future hopes-and praise them, While flowers as sweet bloom at our feet, If we'd but stoop to raise them; For things afar still sweeter are,

When youth's bright spell hath bound us; But soon we're taught the earth hath naught Like home and friends around us.

When hope's last reed is shaken, Do show us still, that, come what will, We are not quite forsaken. Though all were night, if but the light From friendship's altar crowned us, 'Twould prove the bliss of earth was this-Our home and friends around us.

The friends that speed in time of need,

Justice to Women.

A bill has passed on to a second reading in the British Parliament, the object of which is to take away from husbands the unbounded control over the property of their wives, which they have possessed from the times of heavy antiquity, and which is worthy of those "good old times" of injustice and oppression.

The old fogies object to any disturbance of this denial of justice, so promotive of domestic day when it will be wiped out in every State of the Union. When England is awaking to this absurd injustice and wickedness of past ages, it is time that we should bestir ourselves wherever it is in force and destroy all traces of such a degradation of one-half of our race-we say half, for if every woman is not married, she is going to be, or it will not be her fault.

It is objected that it will make "the sex" too high-minded, and that they will get entirely above themselves. This argument is absurd; for it is notorious that they already wear the useless to deny the fact.

Ignorance of Women.

Dr. C. S. Lozier, of New York, a female physician, thus refers to a prevalent cause of disease among women:

"I see no effectual remedy for the evil but free discussion on the subject among women. There is among them a deplorable ignorance of every law of their being. A young lady, last week, fainted on the floor of her dancing school. A patient of mine being present, assisted to loosen her clothing, and tells me she found next her body, around her waist, a steel belt or girdle made to compress her form. Another lady told me, a few days since, that her family doctor advised her to dress her young daughter as tightly as she could possibly draw her corset, to cure a palpitation of the heart. The foolish mother believed and obeyed, and shortly buried her daughter. I know of many facts of a similar nature coming to me in my daily practice, which professional etiquette forbids me to publish. I am convinced that three-fourths of our christian women are suicides, and physically more to be pitied than the small-footed Chinese or the flatheaded Indians."

Corporations have Souls. The subject of Life Assurance is attracting the attention of almost every man. Capitalists are availing themselves of the opportunities it affords for profitable investment, and poor men are seeking it as a refuge for their dependent families. While all life assurance societies are financially sound and firm, as the record of each will show, how important that a spirit of high-toned liberality and integrity should characterize the decisions of those who, as officers and directors, control the payment of losses! The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States shares largely in the public confidence, the Tobacco in the City. names of those honored Philadelphians, George II. oppression; but it must go the way of all other Stuart, Thomas A. Biddle, and Theodore Cuyler, fetters on human rights. We hope to see the acting directors therefor, being sufficient guarantee to all. The following instance, however, illustrates clearly the generous and noble sentiments that do and will guide its officials in the settlement of claims which arise from the death of its members:- John Thompson, deceased, has resided in this city many years, doing business at Spruce street wharf, and for years has been insured in "The Equitable" for the sum of ten thousand dollars. All his premiums were promptly paid, except the last, which fell due on Monday, October 15, 1866. On Tuesday, October 16, the agent of the Society called at the office of Mr T., and learned that he was Thompson with a check drawn by Mr T. himself on of Saturday, October 13, for the amount of premium. breeches in every well-regulated family, and it is Under these circumstances, the agent could not receive the premium, and thus revive the forfeited Suppose, however, that they have all this policy, without the consent of the Society, to whom power, which no gentleman should deny, would | the facts were at once presented, (October 18); and any further damage be caused were it increased?

If they rule their husbands now, they can't do after the Society had been informed of the death of Mr Thompson, J. W Alexander, Esq, replied as follows:—"We think it best, under the circumstances, any more than that anyhow; and so they may as to receive the premium on Thompson's policy, and well have as full control over all their property will not make the failure to pay on the day the premium was due a reason for declining to pay the loss We are certainly not legally bound to receive it, but as the parties appear to have acted in good faith, we Seriously speaking, however, we think that prefer to incur the loss rather than take advantage of some provision should be made to secure wives their neglect. Please receive the premium and issue the FOR THE WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TRADE.

Is there one individual of the large number insured by "The Equitable" who will not approve and applaud this generous action? Certainly, after such praiseworthy conduct, we cannot endorse the old saying:-"Corporations have no souls."

Highly commendable as the above instance of liberality on the part of The Equitable Life Assurance Society certainly is, yet it forms by no means an exception to the general system of dealing with their policy-holders. This justly-popular Society always pays its losses with the most honorable promptness, never having contested a claim, thereby leaving no uncertainty whatever concerning its ability and willingness to settle all claims of a similar character .-Philadelphia Press.

This Society has nearly $7,000,000 of assets, and is represented by Hutchison, Burnoughs & Co., who are the General Agents.

KOOPMANN'S BITTERS.

I take pleasure in informing the public at large that I have again made preparation for the manufacture, (on a scale adequate to the increased demand) of the so well and favorably known

"Koopmann's Bitters," The virtues of which have become as familiar as household words, as can be attested by hundreds of families who have used it with unvarying success in Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhoa and Chills and Fevers, &c., and by thousands of North Carolina soldiers in the late war who have found it in the different diseases contracted in camp a safe and certain cure. This remedy is so well known that any recommendation is deemed utterly unnecessary, although I can refer with pride to actual consumers in your midst, who are willing to testify to its efficacy. Wholesale and retail at my Store in Charlotte. N. C., and at all Druggists. B. KOOPMANN. June 8, 1868.

I tried a great many Physicians, but without relieving her much; many Physicians, but without relieving her much; in fact, most of them said there was no hope of cure. During the last Spring she was worse than ever, her body and limbs being covered with sores and blotches—with face and eyes badly ulcerated and swollen.

Whilst in this condition, I was advised by Dr. L. A. Stith to try your Rosadalis. I at once procured Stith to try your ROSADALIS. I at once procured three bottles, and commenced giving it to her. The effect was magical. In less than a month to my great
