CHARLOTTE:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1833.

It may be a source of gratification to a number of our friends in this county to hear that the State Tax for this year has been regularly paid, amounting to $1,971.

A lot of 18 bales of Cotton, new crop, from the Plantation of Mrs. Singleton, in Sumter District, was brought to our market on Saturday last, and sold immediately on landing at 20 cents. This is the largest lot yet brought to market.

Charleston Courier, 9th inst.

It is said that the large balloon sleeves of ladies' dresses are about to go out of fashion. This will have an essential influence upon the dry goods market, and will affect stage fare, pew rent, &c. &c.

N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

A Captain in the British Navy is the Commander-in-Chief of the naval forces of Donna Maria—and a French Marshal is at the head of the army of Miguel. These facts are mentioned as illustrating "the military enterprise of the two great nations of the old world; but they teach a much more important lesson, which is, that national law—in this age of advanced civilization—is becoming a dead letter."

Baltimore Gazette.

Gov. Hamilton.—Gen. Hamilton, late Governor of South Carolina, (says the Washington Examiner) has withdrawn from public life. In a conversation the other day, with a gentleman at Saratoga, he observed that he was done with public life, and that he intended to devote his time, in future, to the care and education of his children.

Congressional Election.—Col. Clowney, the nullification candidate, has been elected over Col. Williams, the Union candidate, in the Pinckney Congressional District, by a majority of 226 votes.

In the united Districts of Edgefield and Abbeville, Mr. McDuffie has been re-elected by a very large majority over Mr. Pressly, the Union candidate. All the returns have not come in, but enough is known to render it certain that the delegation of S. Carolina, in the ensuing Congress, will be as follows:—1. Henry L. Pinckney; 2. Dr. Thomas D. Singleton; 3. William J. Grayson; 4. William K. Clowney; 5. Gen. James Blair; 6. George McDuffie; 7. John K. Griffin; 8. John M. Felder; 9. Warren R. Davis.

All nullifiers except Gen. Blair; and all we believe, opposed to the U. States Bank, except Mr. McDuffie.—Charleston Courier.

Indian Affairs.—"In relation to the unfortunate death of Col. Hardeman Owen," who was killed lately by a party of United States soldiers, at his residence in the Creek Nation, the Flag of the Union, of Thursday last, says:—Nat. Intel.

"We are authorized to say, that the Governor of [Alabama] has requested the Marshal to abstain from any further interference between the citizens of the new Counties and the Indians. He has received letters of complaint from individuals of high respectability, and has addressed a communication to the War Department, requesting that the troops may be withdrawn. The Governor does not recognize any authority in the Marshal, or the troops of the United States, to settle disputes between our White and Indian population, and has come to the determination to prevent, by all proper means, a mode of proceeding so repugnant to the Constitution and Laws of the State. The utmost confidence is entertained that the President has no disposition to incommode our citizens, and that the troops will be withdrawn, on the request of the Governor."

Remarkable Fact.—On the evening of Thursday last Robert Graves, fishmonger of East Retford, accidentally swallowed a darned needle upwards of two inches long. During the night he experienced considerable pain in the body, and on Friday morning, going to the barber's shop to be shaved, he there mentioned the circumstance, and said he could feel the needle towards the lower part of the abdomen; search was made, at his request, by one or two persons present, who found the point of the needle protruding through the skin nearly a quarter of an inch, they, however could not draw it out with their fingers, a consultation was held, and at length he was safely delivered with the assistance of a pair of curling tongs, greatly to his own satisfaction, and to the astonishment of those persons who witnessed the tonorial operation.

A good new nose.—A medical gentleman yesterday came into our office with an acquaintance whom he introduced as having just been furnished with a nose. Upon the second look he perceived that the nose had a strong scar upon each side of it. To be short it was made of a thin plate of silver, painted to correspond with the countenance, and fastened in its place by two claws, one of which rested upon each of the real nostrils, the top being held fast by a pair of spectacles. The fastenings though somewhat uncomfortable for a while, have been found in other cases, at last to become easy. It is the work of our ingenious citizen Reubens Peal, whose museum is so justly celebrated. The individual who wore this nose, was so entirely changed by it in his appearance, that his acquaintance sat by him as usual at the boarding-house breakfast table without knowing him. There is one advantage which a silver nose has over one of gristle, it is not liable to turn red. In every respect it is better than no nose at all by a difference that is not to be sneezed at.—N. Y. Percussion Locks.—The question as to using percussion locks in the army is about to be decided in France. By experiments made in the Hanoverian army, it appears that out of 340 muskets with percussion locks, consuming together 27,000 cartridges, there were only 21 missed fire from the failure of the priming, and 72 from defect in the charge, making in all 93; while out of the same number of muskets with flint locks, burning the same quantity of cartridges, 1448 missed fire from the priming, and 378 from the charge, making together 1826. The experiments did not stop here. It was desired to ascertain the effect of firing each species of musket reiterated for a long time without being cleaned. Eleven committees returned that out of 22 percussion muskets, firing 11,000 shots, eight failed in the priming and six in the charge, and out of the same number of muskets with flint locks, 206 shots failed from the priming, and 599 from the charge, in all 805. Still further experiments were made both in exposing the muskets to a constant rain, by wetting the inside of the cap, by putting a drop of water into the touchhole. The result was, that the percussion guns, after being exposed to the injuries of the weather, or even a constant rain, were much more to be relied upon than those with flint locks. Marshal Saut, who had been for a long time impressed with the advantages to be derived from the use of percussion guns, resolved to renew the above experiments in France; and last year a committee of officers, by his direction, repeated all the experiments, and their report completely establishes the supremacy of the percussion lock. At this moment, however, nearly 2,600 muskets of all the different kinds have been fitted up with percussion locks, in order to make a last and grand trial.

An Irish Beauty.—"Who is that very handsome woman opposite to us?" said Lord Albany: "she might make one forget dinner and supper too." "That lady," said Lady Oriel, looking at her through her glass, "is the wife of our most popular writer, and is remarkably beautiful; features, complexion, expression, all are faultless. Mr. Desmond pointed her out to me the other evening as one of the very few perfect specimens now to be seen of a beauty peculiar to Ireland; hair like the wing of the raven seen with the sun's ray full on it, and skin, white as the driven snow, with eyes of heaven's own blue. The lady comes of an ancient Irish race, and belies not her blood, which sends that mantling rose-tint to her cheeks, "as if she blushed because she is too fair."—The Repeater.
