

JEFFERSONIAN:

Charlotte, North-Carolina, TUESDAY MORNING, JAN 31, 1843.

Democratic candidate for President of the United States: JOHN C. CALHOUN, OF SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The great popular party is already rallied almost in mass around the banner which is leading the party to its final triumph.

John C. Calhoun.—The eloquent article on our fourth page, entitled "JOHN C. CALHOUN, in his personal, moral, and intellectual traits of character,"

Gov. Morehead has summoned his Council to convene in Raleigh on the 9th February, to consult with him in the appointment of members of the Literary and Internal Improvement Boards.

We see from the Raleigh papers, that Col. WILKINSON, the new Treasurer, has succeeded in giving a bond satisfactory to the Governor, and has entered upon the duties of his office.

By the Register of the 27th inst., we learn that the legislature adjourned on the 27th or 28th (Friday or Saturday last). We hope to get the Captions of the laws in time for our next paper.

The bill to incorporate the Town of Shelby, in Cleveland, was read a second time, and passed; and on motion, was taken up on its third reading.

Mr. Francis moved to amend by adding the following section: And be it further enacted, That the Ladies of Shelby, shall be entitled to vote in the election of Officers for the Town.

The Editor of the Raleigh Standard has lashed himself into a perfect fury, in replying to a few remarks we made in our paper of the 17th inst.

Charges have been made in the Raleigh papers, and by others, under the very nose of Mr. Brown, that he placed the contest between himself and Gen. Saunders mainly on the grounds of their respective preferences of Van Buren and Calhoun;

We do not pretend to say that Judge Cantton, or any other officer or manager of our Banks, has paid down a certain sum in dollars and cents for the printing office and editor of the Standard, and received a bill of sale for them.

Does the Editor of Standard recollect of having within the last fifteen months, written to certain leading Democrats in this State, telling them there was a large debt against him in the hands of the Bank for collection, and that unless they forwarded him a certain sum immediately, the Standard would go under an influence they would not like?

The idea that the nullifiers "have a long arrears of hate to settle with the Editor of the Standard" is ridiculous enough. If he does not hate himself by this time, no one else will ever take the trouble to do it for him.

We have now said more than probably was necessary in reply to the abuse of the Standard—and we have said it "more in sorrow than in anger."

essary in reply to the abuse of the Standard—and we have said it "more in sorrow than in anger."

NATIONAL CONVENTION.

In our paper a number or two back, we urged the importance of an early assemblage of the National Convention to nominate a candidate of our party for President.

"I cannot concur with you as to the time when the National Convention shall assemble. It should, in my view, not be earlier than May, 1843."

The Charleston Mercury having copied certain remarks of ours, in which we spoke of the hostility of the Hon. Bedford Brown, and other Democrats in our legislature to Mr. Calhoun,

The Editor of the Standard is a much older man than we, and according to his own showing, he has been a long while laboring in the cause of Democracy.

Why now abuse the Nullifiers and Nullification? Is there such a party and a contest for such doctrines in this State? No one will dare venture such an assertion.

Why then, this carrying about "the Nullifiers"? The reason is obvious: the Editor of the Standard, by his own course, has destroyed his influence and that of his paper with the Democratic party;

Let it be borne in mind, that the Democratic party never lost power in North Carolina, until the State Rights men, by just such intolerance as now characterizes a certain portion of that party, will recently gradually approaching a consummation, would ere long permanently restore our party and principles to power again.

THE LITERARY FUND.

Our readers recollect how stoutly and unceasingly Gov. Morehead and the Whigs of our State, for the past two years, have resisted and dodged an investigation into the transactions of the Board of Literature.

Thomas W. White, Editor of the Southern Literary Messenger, died at Richmond, Va., on 20th inst., of an attack of paralysis.

GOLD MINES OF NORTH CAROLINA.

An esteemed friend, who is intimately and extensively acquainted with the operations in, and value of, the gold-mines in Western North Carolina,

The impression appears to have become general with persons residing at a distance from the Mineral region of North Carolina, that the gold-mines in this State are upon the decline,

During the past summer, a number of new mines have been discovered in Lincoln, Burke, and Rutherford, and in the two latter counties extensive preparations are being made to work a number of vein mines.

I have no data upon which to predicate a probable estimate of the number of hands usually employed, but from the quantity of Gold produced, I am inclined to believe, that the labour employed in these mines yields a larger net profit, than the proceeds of all other classes of labour in these counties.

It is true that the amount embraces a few thousand Dollars annually received from the neighbouring Districts of South Carolina, but does not include a very large portion of Gold Bullion, that our merchants find it more convenient and profitable to take to the Northern Cities, and sell to the Gold beaters and traders who convert it into plate.

In this County, on the 26th inst., by Col. Jas. Sloan, Esq., Mr. R. M. Jamison, to Miss Hannah H. Todd.

Sale of a Negro. In pursuance of an order of the County Court, made at January Term, 1843, I will sell for cash, at the Courthouse in Charlotte, on the 4th Monday in April next, Married. In this County, on the 26th inst., by Col. Jas. Sloan, Esq., Mr. R. M. Jamison, to Miss Hannah H. Todd.

Dissolution. The Copartnership of LAWING & BREWER, in the silver-smith business, was this day dissolved by mutual consent. The Books of the concern are in the hands of Samuel Lawing; and all persons indebted are earnestly called upon to make with him immediate settlement.

profitable, and added to the actual circulation of the country, thereby benefitting all classes of society.

There is no class of our citizens, who are not more or less interested in the extension and prosperity of our mining interest, and who should not feel interested in the investment of labour in this enterprise.

The Washington Correspondent of the South Carolinian, under date 21st inst., says:

"Much sensation has been produced here by the appearance of a pamphlet entitled 'An Appeal to the Democratic Party, on the principles of a National Convention for the nomination of President and Vice President of the United States.'"

To the cases of practical Nullification, by other States besides South Carolina which we recently cited, may be added the striking one of the independent action of Maine on the Boundary question,

The truth is, that recent events have contributed to remove to a great degree the sheer ignorance which held the nullifying action of this State in esteem;

With their principles, which were based on the purity of the South Carolina Constitution, they are now strong in the strength of the Constitution. The people begin to see that the Union is not longer in ill repute with States which have grown reconciled to it through their own acquiescence and adoption of the thing.

Inter from England.—The Garrick from Liverpool, at New York, brings papers to the 15th ult. The most important news is bad, viz: that the late rise in Cotton has been lost, the price having fallen back to about the old quotations, viz: for Uplands 4 to 9 1/2, (equal to 7 1/2 to 11 1/2 cents.)

General Lord Hill, late Commander in Chief of the English Army, and a distinguished companion in arms of Lord Wellington, died on the 10th ult., aged 71.—Fayetteville Observer.
