The Cowan's Ford Mass Meeting.

The morning and noon of Thursday the 15th, was dark and portentous; but, towards evening, the clouds gave way to the sun of Austrelitz, and the glorious king of day went to his rest with a bright and cheerful face.

The officers having taken their appropriate places, the Marshal introduced V. C. Barringer, Esq.

Mr. Barringer having concluded and taken his seat and the loud plaudits of the audience, the Marshal introduced John W. Cameron.

In the very meager sketches which we are attempting to give of the several speeches delivered on this occasion, we know that we shall do injustice to the capacities of all the speakers; but to name more than John W. Cameron, the Whigs of this District may certainly congratulate themselves upon having such an able standard bearer in such an important crisis.

The next gentleman introduced to the audience was Lieutenant E. C. Davidson.

It is now a fixed fact that the Legislature will continue in session until all the business calling for legislative action has been acted upon.

for support, were organizing to defeat him. That in consequence of this, although he might carry all the Whig States of the South, nevertheless the Democrats had the majority here, and would also carry the North against him, and he must inevitably be defeated.

The writer of these lines must ask your leave to declare that, regarding the latter part of the contract, your labor under a mistake—an error possibly promoted by some interested persons.

When the bridge had been carried away by the freshet, a committee of merchants of this place waited upon Mr. Conner, asking him how he meant to act regarding the railroad to Columbia and the transmission of goods!

Gen. Doekery next took off those prominent Whigs who refused to support Scott; such as Gentry, Stephens, Tombs, Faulkner, and Clingman. He proved most clearly, from their political lives, that the motives of all these gentlemen were to be traced to personal ambition, selfish ends and disappoited hopes.

The undersigned, who voted in the negative do hereby most solemnly protest against the action of the Senate, on the 7th day of October, 1852, by which the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That from the certificates of the Sheriff, exhibited to the Senate, Henry M. Shaw is entitled to a seat in this House, as a Senator from the counties of Camden and Currituck.

We clip the following from the Columbia South Carolinian. The merchants in this place having sorely felt the force of the truth of what is said in this article, are talking of holding an indignation meeting on the subject.

It is stated that orders have been received by Capt. Hartman, the Commander at Brooklyn Navy Yard, to prepare the sloop Heron, crew, which would number about one hundred and twenty men, to be detached from the receiving vessel North Carolina.

if the structure for that purpose had been temporary. In saying this, however, we are constrained to add, that much of the difficulty is owing probably to the earnestness in which our merchants displayed in taking the matter, and much of the responsibility, out of the hands of the officers of the railroad company.

Why, sir, has it never occurred to the railroad company what enormous loss is caused to the community by the detention of goods—or their ruin! Have they never yet seen that it is not very agreeable to live in a place as though it were besieged? everything that can be had, very dear, and many necessities being totally wanting!

How long, then, does it take to put together a temporary bridge? How long has it taken? and how much longer will it take? This is all desired to be known by A MERCHANT.

The Senate has given the seat as Senator from Camden and Currituck to Dr. Shaw, Democrat. How they could do this, when Mr. Barnard also claimed the seat, without fairly examine the claims of both, is more than we can tell.

After a lingering illness this distinguished citizen died, at his residence in Raleigh, the 17th inst., in the 51st year of his age.

Our friends are working bravely, and their labors go also to carry the State for Scott in November.

We learn from the "Milton Chronicle," that the Hon. Bedford Brown—for a number of years United States Senator from this State—ten or eleven days before the meeting of the late Convention in Baltimore, wrote to Washington city to a personal and political friend of his the nominee of the convention.

It is stated that orders have been received by Capt. Hartman, the Commander at Brooklyn Navy Yard, to prepare the sloop Heron, crew, which would number about one hundred and twenty men, to be detached from the receiving vessel North Carolina.

SPECIAL MESSAGE.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of North-Carolina.

The meeting of the Legislature afforded gratification to the expression of deep-felt thanks to any in November next, of ten Electors of President and Vice President; that the existing laws prescribing the qualification of voters, the manner of holding the election and making returns, as well as the penalty imposed for illegal voting, be continued in force.

The Constitution requires the Senatorial districts to be laid off by the General Assembly at its first session after the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; and that the apportionment of the House of Commons shall be made by the General Assembly at the respective periods when the districts for the Senate are directed to be laid off.

It is now pretty well settled that the Legislature will not adjourn, but continue on with the regular business of legislation. A resolution to adjourn until the first Monday in December, was debated and rejected in the Commons on Saturday.

A bill has passed both branches of the Legislature, and has therefore become a law, making a temporary provision for the election of Electors to vote for President and Vice President.
