FOR THE NORTH-CAROLINA WHIG. Mr. Editor: In the last issue of your paper, a correspondent who styles himself " a genuine friend of Temperance" asks "by what authority the Sons of Temperance, in their secret might sessions, legislate for the town of Charlotte. Or, in other words, he means to say that the Sons have no right under the existing laws to meet and deliberate for the suppression of Intemperance "Who crooks the pregnant which knee, Where thrift may follow to rise o'er our ruin in all his full-blown pride! Why does not this "friend of Temperwho is presumed to be acquainted with the law, show that we have no right to and at low prices. hold private meetings? Whenever he does that, it will be time enough for us to plead our cause more at length, so far as the law is concerned.

Sons of Temperance are alone in this work of reform. No sir: from the very commencement of this agitation in our community, the anti-license rueasure has numbered many of our most respectable Citizens, who never could be prevailed upon to become Sons, amongst its most able and most zealous supporters. And upon the nolicense ticket will be found the names of at least three men who have never seen the inside of the Division Room. This "genuine friend" also labors to make the impression that his opponents deny that men have the logal right under the present law to retail liquor. It is much easier to make a man of straw and then demolish it, than successfully to assail the actual principles upon which the opposers of the retail | Tousday of the County Court, it will be sold at pub-system base their opposition. on the score of legality is too flimsy to stand investigation. Our sapient author seems great deal of harm, and no honorable man ought to engage in it." But because it is lawful, he who would try to reform public south the Court trouse in harlotte, on the Toe-day of our County sentiment, and get the law changed, is a "long faced fanatic." That is, if the law Land, one contains 272 ucres, and known as the sanctions theft, he who says anything against ther tract, and the other containing 162 acres and theft is a senseless realot!

withheld, "every house in Charlotte and in 'y Mecklenburg may become a regular grogshop;" but he seems to think this possi bility has not Leretofore existed! Who ever heard of a regular grog-shop before! And if the prevalence of no license principles in Charlotte is to let forth such a flood of spirituous liquors here, how is this to increase the demand in the rest of Mecklenburg County? One would think that every dande if are any wed and armounted by wo use, and body would come to the fountain head and its effect on the i damed cut or pure tired skin is drink, and that there would be no further wonder ul. The price is astonishingly low—only use for country grog-shops in our glorious old Mecklenburg.

Our friend thinks that if a man has the chance of buying liquor both by the quart and by the small that he is not in much danger of getting drunk, but if he only has the opportunity of buying by the quart, why then it is a gone case. That is he is more likely to fall by one chance, than he is by that same chance (purchasing by the quart) and another chance ("purchasing by retail ) superadded. Or, a "sinking vessel" is more likely to sink with both "worm holes" and "other holes much larger," than it is if it has only the large holes! But let our sagacious co-laborer (?) dismiss his fears. The ship of good morals will not ultimately sink. We intend to stop the "worm holes now, and, as soon as we can get at them, we intend to stop the " much larger ' ones, and then the gallant vessel will, for ages to come, still be seen booming triumphantly over the rolling seas of time.

A gentleman in our town said not long since that he would put down the Sons of Temperance. And in the aforesaid effusion we suppose he has struck the first blow Well, if this is a specimen, we are not much afraid of what is to follow. Stronger arms than his have been uplifted against the order in Charlotte, but it still stands. Yes, this Institution which has reclaimed and saved menin our own midst from the worst of all vices is to be put down, while the very houses which brought them to poverty, and shame, and ruin are to be upheld, and all this by a genuine friend of Temperance! This wild boar of the forest may whet his tusk against the bark of the tree of Sonship, but, judging from the past, he will not be able even in which every possible variety of sa ables and to graze the wood, or to shake a solitary drink observation may be returned or artificial bough or leaf of this tree.
