

Sunday Reading.

The Scene on Mount Carmel.

This mountain being situated in the western part of Palestine overlooks the Mediterranean. The principal actors were Elijah, the chief of the Prophets, and Ahab, King of Israel.

At the birth of our Lord, the two extremes of life met together, to testify to Him as the promised Messiah. His first witnesses were the humble shepherds—the first messengers of those glorious tidings, uneducated men, versed in no knowledge but that which related to their calling.

From the distant East came His second witnesses. From that land of dim and dreamy tradition, which had been the fountain of all the wisdom and philosophy of those days, selected from the most learned class existing in that country, they were led a long journey by miraculous means, and all, they would seem, for the sole purpose of testifying to the truth of Christ.

Beautiful indeed was this exhibition of faith in the Eastern Magi, and therefore the Church has held them in remembrance by this festival, as week after week she celebrates the manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. It was no hasty impulse, but a calm and deliberate conviction, which could bide the time and the accomplishment of a wearisome journey.

Such then was the Epiphany—the revelation of Christ to the Gentiles. These were the first fruits of those countless thousands who were shortly to be gathered into the fold of Christ. For soon the Apostles overpassed the barrier which separated Jew and Gentile, and proclaimed to the latter the Gospel hopes in all their fullness.

And when shall we again see these triumphs, and as of old, "nations be born in a day?" When there is a revival of apostolic zeal and self-denial, and the Church becomes what once it was, a missionary Church.

But has the star of Bethlehem faded away into the dark night, and left nothing in its place to guide the tired wanderer? Is there no substitute to those leading we can commit ourselves, knowing it will conduct us to the shrine where alone our worship should be paid? Yes; there is a nobler light than that star of old, which was but the morning star of the New Dispensation. It heralded the rising of the Sun of Righteousness, and its beams now rest not only on Bethlehem, but also on the mount of Calvary. It discloses to us, not an infant king, but a suffering, dying Saviour. It summons us to bow before that, His only earthly throne—to prostrate ourselves before a King crowned with thorns, with the purple robe in mockery cast about Him, and the reed in derision placed in His hand. Yet let us have the faith of the eastern wise men, and we shall look beyond this outward drapery in which our Lord in His humiliation arrayed Himself, and recognize Him as "the King immortal and invisible." Then, too, the Day Star shall shine in our hearts, and around us shall be breathed the atmosphere of heaven—a foretaste of the bliss which one day the just shall enjoy forever.

THE OPINION OF A GREAT MAN. A REMINISCENCE OF DANIEL WEBSTER. A FEW years since, I rode by the side of Mr. Webster from Boston to Norwich. I had met him previously, in such circumstances that I felt at liberty to avail myself of his very pleasant and companionable humor, to make several inquiries in regard to subjects, in which the public mind was then particularly interested. In course of the conversation, I asked him whether he thought that the character of our political men, as he saw them at Washington, was improving in the spirit of integrity and probity.—With great seriousness and with his deepened deliberate emphasis, he replied:—"I am sorry to say that I do not think it is." After a brief pause during which he seemed to be revolving some important reflection, he said to me: "Mr. W.—there is a subject upon which I think there should be much preaching in the pulpit. I know it would not be very popular; but the time will come—and I think it has come now—when ministers should often present it to the people.—Christianity, sir, does not address itself to men, only in their social and domestic relations, but it comes to them as individuals. It holds every man to his accountability to God. And if you make a man a good man towards God you prepare him to be a good citizen, and, in short, a good man in all the duties and relations of life. Now, then, the subject upon which, as it appears to me, there should be a great deal of preaching, is the duty of personal holiness!"

I have no doubt that he spoke the honest convictions of his heart, and expressed the comprehensive result of his long experience and widely-extended observation. His massive intellect and his noblest affections gave seal of unfeigned, conscientious devout sincerity to every word of this witness to the exalted claims of the revelation of the "Great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." I responded that I was very happy to assure him that, in my circle of ministerial acquaintance and fellowship, there was very much of preaching upon the duty of personal holiness, and that in the religious periodicals and papers, which passed under my eye, there were many articles which more or less related to the same subject. And, I added, it may not perhaps be unsuitable for me to say, that my own subject of discourse on the Sabbath afternoon previous, was that suggested by the words:—"Believe peace with all men, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord." He turned around and his great eyes, and with a look of intense significance, he exclaimed:—"Right! Right! Dear Sir!"—Boston Daily Evening Traveller.

With solemn and startling emphasis were these words of God heard by Adam after partaking of the forbidden fruit. But in tones equally surprising, if but heard, God is now making the same inquiry of men daily. Not only in the cool of the evening but in the morning, at noon tide, amidst the rush of business, as well as in the silent hours of night, and in the sanctuary on the Sabbath. God meets men, and asks them where they are, and how they stand related to Him. In his providence, and by his Word and Spirit, God asks each rational, accountable soul, hurrying on to eternity, "Where art thou?" Multitudes heed not the call. But God has yet another way of speaking. He will sooner or later bring every individual to a consciousness of his pure moral position and its consequences.

Dear reader, have you ever heard God thus speaking to your inmost soul? And have you realized where you were as a moral and immortal being? Are you now in Christ, one with him, your sins pardoned, and your soul renewed by the grace of God? Or are you still impenitent, unconverted, without God and without hope in the world? O, think of it! God is now asking you, "Where art thou?" Think, too, where you must soon be, if you despise the calls of mercy.

Perhaps you have the witness within that you have passed from death unto life, and feel that you are "a new creature of God." Well, where are you as a Christian? Are you fully awake, at your post of duty, wise redeeming your time? Or slothful, remiss, and wasteful of time; following Christ afar off? God is asking you now, "Where art thou?"—Ch. Sec.

THE success with which this Institution has thus far met has induced the Trustees to enlarge its course of study, so as to include all that is considered in the most thorough schemes of College education in this country, and to adopt a system of means to raise it to the highest grade among the Institutions of Learning in the Southern States.—They expect, in due time, to be able to fill the vacant Professorships, by men of known literary merit and qualifications.

THE Winter Session of 1853 will commence on the first Monday in January. By order of the Trustees: J. H. CRAWFORD, President. Gen. Sec'y, Secretary. Newton, Catawba county, N. C. November 3, 1852. 411f

THE subscriber having connected himself with one of the best houses in Charleston, now prepared to purchase COTTON on fair prices, and to make advances on the same, or forward it by Rail Road as the seller may choose. His Office is at Boyd's Hotel. He will also attend to any Commission business that may be entrusted to him, as usual. W. E. ELMES. Charleston, October 20, 1852. 391f

A WAR WITH ENGLAND. CHARLES T. EBERHARD & CO. RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Charleston and vicinity, that they still carry on the sale of their goods at the same low prices as usual. Their Office is at Boyd's Hotel. He will also attend to any Commission business that may be entrusted to him, as usual. W. E. ELMES. Charleston, October 20, 1852. 391f

THE OPINION OF A GREAT MAN. A REMINISCENCE OF DANIEL WEBSTER. A FEW years since, I rode by the side of Mr. Webster from Boston to Norwich. I had met him previously, in such circumstances that I felt at liberty to avail myself of his very pleasant and companionable humor, to make several inquiries in regard to subjects, in which the public mind was then particularly interested. In course of the conversation, I asked him whether he thought that the character of our political men, as he saw them at Washington, was improving in the spirit of integrity and probity.—With great seriousness and with his deepened deliberate emphasis, he replied:—"I am sorry to say that I do not think it is." After a brief pause during which he seemed to be revolving some important reflection, he said to me: "Mr. W.—there is a subject upon which I think there should be much preaching in the pulpit. I know it would not be very popular; but the time will come—and I think it has come now—when ministers should often present it to the people.—Christianity, sir, does not address itself to men, only in their social and domestic relations, but it comes to them as individuals. It holds every man to his accountability to God. And if you make a man a good man towards God you prepare him to be a good citizen, and, in short, a good man in all the duties and relations of life. Now, then, the subject upon which, as it appears to me, there should be a great deal of preaching, is the duty of personal holiness!"

I have no doubt that he spoke the honest convictions of his heart, and expressed the comprehensive result of his long experience and widely-extended observation. His massive intellect and his noblest affections gave seal of unfeigned, conscientious devout sincerity to every word of this witness to the exalted claims of the revelation of the "Great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." I responded that I was very happy to assure him that, in my circle of ministerial acquaintance and fellowship, there was very much of preaching upon the duty of personal holiness, and that in the religious periodicals and papers, which passed under my eye, there were many articles which more or less related to the same subject. And, I added, it may not perhaps be unsuitable for me to say, that my own subject of discourse on the Sabbath afternoon previous, was that suggested by the words:—"Believe peace with all men, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord." He turned around and his great eyes, and with a look of intense significance, he exclaimed:—"Right! Right! Dear Sir!"—Boston Daily Evening Traveller.

THE success with which this Institution has thus far met has induced the Trustees to enlarge its course of study, so as to include all that is considered in the most thorough schemes of College education in this country, and to adopt a system of means to raise it to the highest grade among the Institutions of Learning in the Southern States.—They expect, in due time, to be able to fill the vacant Professorships, by men of known literary merit and qualifications.

THE Winter Session of 1853 will commence on the first Monday in January. By order of the Trustees: J. H. CRAWFORD, President. Gen. Sec'y, Secretary. Newton, Catawba county, N. C. November 3, 1852. 411f

"WHERE ART THOU?"

With solemn and startling emphasis were these words of God heard by Adam after partaking of the forbidden fruit. But in tones equally surprising, if but heard, God is now making the same inquiry of men daily. Not only in the cool of the evening but in the morning, at noon tide, amidst the rush of business, as well as in the silent hours of night, and in the sanctuary on the Sabbath. God meets men, and asks them where they are, and how they stand related to Him. In his providence, and by his Word and Spirit, God asks each rational, accountable soul, hurrying on to eternity, "Where art thou?" Multitudes heed not the call. But God has yet another way of speaking. He will sooner or later bring every individual to a consciousness of his pure moral position and its consequences.

Dear reader, have you ever heard God thus speaking to your inmost soul? And have you realized where you were as a moral and immortal being? Are you now in Christ, one with him, your sins pardoned, and your soul renewed by the grace of God? Or are you still impenitent, unconverted, without God and without hope in the world? O, think of it! God is now asking you, "Where art thou?" Think, too, where you must soon be, if you despise the calls of mercy.

Perhaps you have the witness within that you have passed from death unto life, and feel that you are "a new creature of God." Well, where are you as a Christian? Are you fully awake, at your post of duty, wise redeeming your time? Or slothful, remiss, and wasteful of time; following Christ afar off? God is asking you now, "Where art thou?"—Ch. Sec.

THE success with which this Institution has thus far met has induced the Trustees to enlarge its course of study, so as to include all that is considered in the most thorough schemes of College education in this country, and to adopt a system of means to raise it to the highest grade among the Institutions of Learning in the Southern States.—They expect, in due time, to be able to fill the vacant Professorships, by men of known literary merit and qualifications.

THE Winter Session of 1853 will commence on the first Monday in January. By order of the Trustees: J. H. CRAWFORD, President. Gen. Sec'y, Secretary. Newton, Catawba county, N. C. November 3, 1852. 411f

THE subscriber having connected himself with one of the best houses in Charleston, now prepared to purchase COTTON on fair prices, and to make advances on the same, or forward it by Rail Road as the seller may choose. His Office is at Boyd's Hotel. He will also attend to any Commission business that may be entrusted to him, as usual. W. E. ELMES. Charleston, October 20, 1852. 391f

A WAR WITH ENGLAND. CHARLES T. EBERHARD & CO. RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Charleston and vicinity, that they still carry on the sale of their goods at the same low prices as usual. Their Office is at Boyd's Hotel. He will also attend to any Commission business that may be entrusted to him, as usual. W. E. ELMES. Charleston, October 20, 1852. 391f

THE OPINION OF A GREAT MAN. A REMINISCENCE OF DANIEL WEBSTER. A FEW years since, I rode by the side of Mr. Webster from Boston to Norwich. I had met him previously, in such circumstances that I felt at liberty to avail myself of his very pleasant and companionable humor, to make several inquiries in regard to subjects, in which the public mind was then particularly interested. In course of the conversation, I asked him whether he thought that the character of our political men, as he saw them at Washington, was improving in the spirit of integrity and probity.—With great seriousness and with his deepened deliberate emphasis, he replied:—"I am sorry to say that I do not think it is." After a brief pause during which he seemed to be revolving some important reflection, he said to me: "Mr. W.—there is a subject upon which I think there should be much preaching in the pulpit. I know it would not be very popular; but the time will come—and I think it has come now—when ministers should often present it to the people.—Christianity, sir, does not address itself to men, only in their social and domestic relations, but it comes to them as individuals. It holds every man to his accountability to God. And if you make a man a good man towards God you prepare him to be a good citizen, and, in short, a good man in all the duties and relations of life. Now, then, the subject upon which, as it appears to me, there should be a great deal of preaching, is the duty of personal holiness!"

I have no doubt that he spoke the honest convictions of his heart, and expressed the comprehensive result of his long experience and widely-extended observation. His massive intellect and his noblest affections gave seal of unfeigned, conscientious devout sincerity to every word of this witness to the exalted claims of the revelation of the "Great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." I responded that I was very happy to assure him that, in my circle of ministerial acquaintance and fellowship, there was very much of preaching upon the duty of personal holiness, and that in the religious periodicals and papers, which passed under my eye, there were many articles which more or less related to the same subject. And, I added, it may not perhaps be unsuitable for me to say, that my own subject of discourse on the Sabbath afternoon previous, was that suggested by the words:—"Believe peace with all men, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord." He turned around and his great eyes, and with a look of intense significance, he exclaimed:—"Right! Right! Dear Sir!"—Boston Daily Evening Traveller.

THE success with which this Institution has thus far met has induced the Trustees to enlarge its course of study, so as to include all that is considered in the most thorough schemes of College education in this country, and to adopt a system of means to raise it to the highest grade among the Institutions of Learning in the Southern States.—They expect, in due time, to be able to fill the vacant Professorships, by men of known literary merit and qualifications.

Elock and Watch Repairing.

R. W. BECKWITH has removed his SHOP to the house lately occupied at the Florence Street Printing Office, where he will be pleased to serve any one who may have work to do in his line. February 11, 1852. 31f

MARTIN & BRYAN, FACTORS, AND GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS, No. 3 Boyce & Co's Wharf, CHARLESTON, S. C.

DIRECT LINE TO THE NORTHERN CITIES. Freights Reduced. Through from Greenboro, N. C., to Richmond or Petersburg, TEN DOLLARS.

THIS LINE of Four-Horse Post Coaches, from Greenboro, N. C., via Danville, Va., to Richmond and Petersburg, is now in full operation, running in connection with the Richmond and Danville Railroad, and South side Rail Road from Thursday and Saturday, at 7 A. M. arrive in Richmond and Petersburg second day thereafter, in time for the evening Cars North.

Leave Richmond at Petersburg every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 A. M. arrive in Greenboro second day thereafter, in time for the Saturday Stage. This line also connects at Danville, with the Stages to Lynchburg.

J. HOLDREY & CO. P. FLAGG & CO. July 25 1852. 271f

J. F. Gilmer, Druggist and Apothecary, is now receiving and opening a fresh and large supply of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Putty, Thompsonian Medicines, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Extracts and olognes.

Having been engaged in business for so long a time, at the same old stand, it would seem useless and unnecessary to give publicity to the fact that I still stand along and blessed with usual health and strength, but my friends Messrs. Hilton & Williamson having lately commenced the "North Carolina Journal," in the place of the old familiar "Charlotte Journal," that in days gone by, cheered and comforted me in my trials, and presented itself to me, I thought I would do my best to assist them in their arduous, laborious and responsible undertaking.

To those who have so liberally patronized me for the last number of years, I return my grateful acknowledgments, still soliciting your continued kindness and custom, feeling confident that it will be to your advantage and interest. An still occupying my old stand in Charlotte, on Main Street, near Mr. J. E. Kerr's Hotel, and nearly opposite R. H. Bradley's new building. May 15, 1852. 171f

A. C. WILLIAMSON, Attorney at Law, CHARLOTTE, N. C. WILL practice in all the adjoining counties, and will attend to all professional business entrusted to him. Office on Tryon street, near Boy's Hotel. CHARLOTTE, January 26, 1852. 11f

J. M. Davidson, M. D. OFFERS his Professional Services to the citizens of Charlotte and the surrounding country. His Office is in the corner Building, near the residence of Wm. Johnston, Esq., where he can always be found when not professionally engaged.

R. & V. C. Barringer, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, HAVE associated themselves in all Professional Business, in the Counties of abstrus Mecklenburg, Rowan and Stanley. ROBERT BARRINGER, N. C. VICTOR C. BARRINGER, Charlotte, N. C. October 15, 1851. 441f

NORTH-CAROLINA Mutual Life Insurance Company. OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C. THIS Company continues to insure the lives of all healthy White Persons and Slaves. The greatest risk takes on a single life $5,000.—Slaves are insured for a term of one to five years for 1/3 the value.

Dr. Charles E. Johnson, President. James D. Haywood, Vice President. William H. Jordan, Secretary. William H. Jones, Treasurer. Perrin Barber, Attorney. Dr. Wm. H. McKee, Examining Physician. J. Herman, General Agent. A notice is hereby given, 30 days after satisfaction is presented.

Blanks and Pamphlets, showing the plan of operation of the Company, may be had on applications at the Office, or any of the Agencies. All letters on business should be addressed to JAMES F. JORDAN, Secretary. July 3, 1852. 331f

Dr. Allen's Vegetable Compound, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Debility, Bilious Affections, &c. This medicine is offered to the public under the assurance that there is no article in existence having stronger claims to their consideration. Being compounded by a regular GRADUATE OF JEFFERSON COLLEGE, Philadelphia, and a practicing Physician of TWENTY YEARS STANDING in Philadelphia, his long experience has confirmed him in the opinion that a compounded medicine was required to prevent and remedy the debility produced by reading in low miasmatic climates, and to counteract the prevailing influence of the many nervous disorders with which the human family are afflicted.

DR. ALLEN is a well known physician, and has been the able and successful practitioner for TWELVE YEARS with the most astonishing effect, having tested its qualities in above FIVE THOUSAND CASES. No medicine ever received more flattering recommendations from the press of eminent standing than has been bestowed on this. THOUSANDS ARE NOW SUFFERING from that most dreadful complaint, the DYSPEPSIA, when a single bottle of DR. ALLEN'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND would have the effect of removing all those distressing feelings attendant on that most debilitating disease.

Sole Proprietors, G. W. ALLEN, M. D., Phila., and J. A. & W. L. CLEVELAND, N. Y. Dr. Cleveland's Oak Tooth Wash; Dr. Cleveland's Palmate Hair Restorative; Dr. Cleveland's concentrated Extract of Jamaica Ginger; Bennett's Mixture for Bowel Complaint, a sovereign remedy for Dysentery, Diarrhea, and Colera Infantum. For sale in all varieties, by Fox & Caldwell.

Sash, Door and Blind FACTORY.

KILIAN, FRY & CO. are prepared to fill all orders for sash, doors, blinds, mouldings and carriage of any pattern, dressed flooring, ceiling and weatherboarding, at very low prices. The attention of Carpenters and builders is called to their establishment. 19-1y.

MEDICINES, &c. CHARLOTTE DRUG STORE. New Establishment. FOX & CALDWELL, Successors of C. & C.

DR. S. J. FOX & P. C. CALDWELL, having formed a partnership in the above business, offer for sale the largest and most general assortment of Medicines, Patents, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Patent Medicines, &c. &c. ever offered in this market; all of which will be sold lower for cash, or on time to practical dealers, than ever before offered. They hope by short profits to offer such inducements to Physicians and Country Merchants as to secure their patronage.

Persons from the Town and Country may rest assured that no attention to carelessness in putting up Medicines properly shall be wanting. Medical prescriptions neatly and carefully prepared. All orders from the country punctually attended to. Charlotte now presents the best market, for articles in our line to be found in the interior, having three well conducted Drug Stores, and with the prospect of heavy sales, we now offer to Physicians and country merchants, every article in our line, cheaper than ever offered in the back country.

Our stock enters a fresh and warranted genuine. To it such additions will be made from time to time, as the wants of the country may demand. March 23, 1852. 9-ly

200 BOXES GRAY'S OINTMENT, large Boxes 50 cents, small do, 25 cents. 12 DOZEN CONGRESS WATER, in quart Bottles. PURE II supply Sand's, Epping's and Townsend's Sarsaparilla; also, Rowand's Tonic Mixture.

Just received and for sale by FOX & CALDWELL. May 25th 1852. SULPHATE OF QUININE. 100 BOTTLES for sale by FOX & CALDWELL. 5,000 POUNDS WHITE LEAD in Oil. 500 GALLONS LINED OIL, for sale. 1,000 POUNDS BLAKE'S FIRE Proof Paint, by May 12. 16 FOX & CALDWELL.

WYLLIE'S CHERRY PECTORAL. For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND DRESSNESS OF THE BODY, take the Cherry Pectoral, on going to bed, wrap up warm, to sweat during the night. FOR A COLD AND COUGH, take it morning, noon and evening, according to directions on the bottle and the difficulty will soon be removed.—It will long suffer from this trouble, when he will find it can be so readily cured. Persons afflicted with a cough, which breaks their rest at night, and which, by taking the Cherry Pectoral, will find relief, they may be sure of sound, unobscured sleep, and consequently refreshing rest.—Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded to thousands who thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

From its agreeable effect in these cases, many find themselves willing to forego its use when the necessity for it has ceased. From its eminent Physicians in Fayetteville, Va., April 16th, 1851. Sir—We have given your Cherry Pectoral an extensive trial in our practice, and find it to surpass every other remedy we have for curing affections of the respiratory organs.

DRS. DIMER & HAMPTON. TO SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS this remedy is invaluable, as by its action on the throat and lungs, when taken in small quantities, removes all hoarseness in a few hours, and wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice. In this respect it is generally much relieved, and often wholly cured by Cherry Pectoral. But there are some cases so obstinate as to yield entirely to no medicine. Cherry Pectoral will cure them, if they can be persuaded to diminish the loss of their sight.

BRONCHITIS, or irritation of the throat and upper portion of the lungs, may be cured by taking Cherry Pectoral, in small and frequent doses.—Rev. Doct. Lansing, of Brookline New York, states:—"I have seen the Cherry Pectoral cure such cases of Asthma and Bronchitis as leads me to believe it can rarely fail to cure those ailments."

FOR CROUP. Give an emetic of tartaric acid, to be followed by large and frequent doses of the Cherry Pectoral, until it subsides the disease. If taken in season, it will not fail to cure.

WHOOPING COUGH may be broken up and soon cured by the use of Cherry Pectoral. THE INFLUENZA is speedily removed by the use of Cherry Pectoral. In this disease, where whole families were protected from serious consequences, while their neighbors, without the Cherry Pectoral, were suffering from the disease.

Salem, Ohio, 11th June, '51. Doct. J. C. Ayer—I write to inform you of the truly remarkable effects of your CHERRY PECTORAL in this place, and in my own family. One of my daughters was completely cured in three days of a dreadful Whooping cough, by taking it. Dr. Meane, one of our very best physicians freely states that he considers it the best remedy we have for pulmonary diseases, and that he has cured more cases of croup with it than any other medicine he ever administered.

Our clergymen of the Baptist Church says that during the rise of Tollen's here this season, he has seen more from your medicine, he could scarcely have believed without seeing. Yours respectfully, J. D. SINCLAIR, Deputy Postmaster. FROM THE DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR OF CHEMISTRY AND MATERIA MEDICA, BOSTON COLLEGE. I have found the Cherry Pectoral, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and pulmonary diseases.

PARKEE CLEVELAND, M. D. BUNSWICK, Me., Feb. 3, 1847. DR. VALENTINE MOTT, THE WIDELY CELEBRATED PROFESSOR of SURGERY in the Medical College, N. Y. City, writes:—"It gives me pleasure to certify the value and efficacy of 'Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,' which I consider as practically applied to cure disease of the Throat and Lungs."

Cure of severe diseases upon the Lungs have been effected by Cherry Pectoral in such extreme cases as warrant the belief that a remedy has been found which can be depended on to cure the Coughs, Glands and Consumption which carry from our midst thousands every year. It is indeed a medicine to which the afflicted can look with confidence for relief, and they should not fail to avail themselves of it. Prepared by J. C. Ayer, Chemist, Lowell, Mass. For sale in Charlotte, by FOX & CALDWELL.

Notice.

DRIVING A temporary absence from this place, I Victor C. Barringer, Esq. will act as my agent in all business transactions. In Charlotte, at the several Courts on my circuit. All persons who held Negroes on my circuit, are requested to return them to Mr. B. on the 31st of December next, when they will be again hired up by him. RUFUS BARRINGER, Concord, N. C. September 9, 1852. 341f

Tin Ware. A GENERAL ASSORTMENT of Tin ware always on hand and for sale as low as the lowest either wholesale and retail by SAM'L T. WRISTON, Aug. 25, 1852. 31

20,000 PERSONS CURED. NO RELIEF, NO PAY. THE Public are respectfully informed that Dr. F. J. COOPER'S VEGETABLE LINIMENT has been introduced into this country by the following gentlemen: VENETIAN LINIMENT. On sale in the United States now over 3 years.

During that period, every bottle and box has been warranted to give RELIEF, if taken according to the directions, or the money is refunded; and the Agent was allowed to have on sale without a warrant it. THOUSANDS OF BOTTLES. Have been sold, and not one in a thousand has been returned! Whoever it has been introduced it has superseded every other Liniment, and, with scarcely any advertising, has quietly won public confidence. Now there are hundreds of families that are never without it. This has been done by private recommendation, chiefly from those who have been cured by it of various diseases.

Wholesale Clothing House. HOPKINS & FAIRCHILD, No. 230, Baltimore Street, BALTIMORE. KEF constantly on hand a large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING, of all qualities, to which they invite the attention of dealers. No. 19-1y.

HOUSE & SIGN PAINTING and Paper Hanging. ALL orders from a distance will be attended to. J. W. RAINEY, Charlotte, N. C. No. 1-1f

SARSAPARILLA. For the removal and permanent cure of all Diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood or habit of the System.

Among the many and important discoveries of this generation is one whose name will be written, as with a sun beam, in the history of the past. Sarsaparilla stands forth alone, and by its own work proclaims its power—that male eloquence no trebly affecting the system, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers of the system. Although the power of Sarsaparilla, as a purgative, is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most delicate constitution. When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and curing fastidious chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character—furnishing, as it does, evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the afflicted internals the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this—one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precision and purity of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vital powers