HOW TO SPEND THE SABBATH.

1. Rise early. God requires one-seventh part of your time. The Sabbath is just as long as any other day. If you mulligo in sleep on Sabbath morning one or two hours later than usual, you rob God and yourself of so much holy time; and if you begin the day by robbing God, you cannot expect he will bless you.

that it could not get out. It had been there for some time, for he fed all the grass within its reach quite into the ground. Poor sheep, how glad it was to be relieved!

Agricultural.

From the New England Farmer. CAN LAND BE MADE FERTILE WITHOUT STABLE MANURE?

Mr. Editor: I wish to improve a piece of high land which is pretty much ran out. The soil is of a light, loamy character, plentifully supplied with boulders, subsoil much the same, except difference in color; lays to the southeast, and with liberal culture gives good crops of corn.

use to yield its increase when men get hold of it who think as well as act: "There is a tract of the town of Wilbraham on which the farmers of the last generation could not obtain a living although they seemed willing to live poorly. They did not even raise the rye which they ate. This they obtained by going to other parts of the town, reaping rye by the day, and taking their pay in grain which they reaped. Now that tract is occupied by some of the wealthiest farmers in the town, and they have made their money from the soil which they occupy. That soil now grows rye—and it grows anything else that grows in the town. Need it tell you that the present occupants of that tract of country have been active members of your society from its commencement. I am informed that twenty-five years ago, two-thirds of the farms of Ludlow did not pay the current expenses of their occupants, and their expenses there were not so great as the current expenses of the occupants now, but instead of the heavy mortgages that then existed, now their money is left. What is the cause of the change? Come, sirs, there is cause enough. Beside the temperance reformation, to which no doubt they owe something, a flood of light and knowledge has been poured upon them from the agricultural fairs. And if any are there who do not take the papers, and who do not attend the fairs, still, the light from their neighbor's farms has shone in upon them, and dispelled the darkness in which they would willingly grope."
