FOR THE S. C. WHIG. A VISIT TO CONCORD.

Ma. Entron :- It has been my privilege recently to visit the town of Concord, the county seat of Cabarress county; and you are perhaps, fully aware that there is im-planted in the human breast's disposition or inclination, to foncy to ourselves, prior to visiting a place, its location and appearance, and very frequently too we cherich delusive imaginations; and I must confess that this was my experience previous to visiting Cancord. No sconer had my companion (who was sequalited with the place) and myself entered the suburbs, than our Couli were attracted by two young ladies, who sat resing their elbows upon the window easement; gracefully reclining their rosy cheeks upon their fily hands. We then drove to Mr. Harris Hotel. After being introduced to him I formed a very high opinion of him, stranger, however strange, feel perfectly at ony, even if they were stayes to their palutes, and possessed the habits of an Epicure.-The New York and Havre steamship com- We then walked up street where I was struck on Saturday, with dates from Havre and probably one day be the business part of Liverpool to the 25th ult. town. Having returned to the batel. Tom, There were warlike rumors from the Holl and myself deliberated upon the anasande Allen to wait till he would return --The weather in England had been favor. Allen unally consented to wait. We then proceeded to the house where we met with Cotton had advanced [d. per pound. - a cordial reception, and after conversing drew near, arrested our attention, especially Havre cotton market was unchanged .- Bob's, she turning quickly round, was astonished to behold standing at the door his companion Allen.
