Sunday Reading.

From the Southern Christian Advocate

THE LIVES OF A WHOLE FAMILY SAVED BY PRAYER.

The father and his family, of the late Judge Torrman of Tampa, Fla., who recently died there of yellow fever, in the early part of the century resided in the State of Indiana. One of the old gentleman's sons, who was then an itinerant Methodist minister, and who was at his father's house on a visit, was about to leave for his field of labor; and having a long day's ride to take, before getting into a white settlement, himself and the family were up before day so that he might have an early start. When daylight came, the family were greatly surprised by learning that their next door neighbors who lived about two miles distant, a family of some eight or ten persons, were all murdered during the night, except the gentleman of the house, who happened to be from home, and the house was consumed. The trail of the savages through the snow proved that they had come from the scene of depredation spoken of to the house of Mr. T. which they had surrounded and afterwards went away without the inmates being aware of it. Why himself and family were spared whilst his neighbors were massacred, and their house burned, remained a mystery of astonishment, until some of the Indians surrendered to General Harrison and came in, and they revealed the secret. It seems they came from the massacre of the other family to Mr. Torrman's with the intention of serving himself and family in the same way; but on surrounding the house and peeping in through the cracks of the logs, they saw the family at prayer. They consulted together as to what they must do, and came to the conclusion that "they were talking to the Great Spirit, and that they could do nothing to them," so they went away and left the family unmolested!

How strongly does this simple narrative appeal to the hearts of all sincere worshipers of God, in reference to their privilege and their duty. Reader, are you the head of a family? If so, see to it that you have set up a family altar. If you have not, live no longer in the neglect of a duty so plain and so important. Your house may never be surrounded by savages, but it probably is often surrounded by evil spirits against whose entrance bars and bolts offer no resistance. No indication of their visit to your dwelling may be found in the snow or in the sand, yet filled with malignant feelings, and burning with malicious purposes, they are the lonely visitants of your dwelling, and from their eternal hatred none but God can save yourself and family. Set up your family altar, and let nothing that can be avoided prevent your morning and evening sacrifice, according to the ability God giveth; and then "Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor the arrow that flieth by day, nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness, nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday," but "God will be thy keeper by day and by night;" and he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

Set up your family altar, my brother, my sister, remembering

1. That God is a prayer hearing, and answering God.

2. That prayer is a mighty weapon in the hand of every christian.

3. That time spent in this exercise is time well spent. And

4. That those who honor God with a family altar, God will honor with family care and protection. W. L. MURPHY.

Sweet Marys, Ga., Nov. 19, 1858.

LOVE PASSING KNOWLEDGE.

Not only for a puny creature, standing on a little point of God's vast universe, but also for a self raised, and daily raising race, doth God desire great things—for such is He love! We speak of his omnipotence and his omniscience, which fill immensity with their witness; we see the smallest worm of the dust so delicately and artistically framed, and so little forgotten of God, as the seraph, whose hallelujah resounds through heaven; and shall not the love of God be as perfect as all his other attributes? Shall that know limitation, confinement, restraint, when his power and his wisdom know none? It can and ought never to be asked whether God could be so merciful as the gospel asserts in the doctrine of a Redeemer! For that is a question which denies his perfection—a perfection in the most glorious attribute in heaven or in earth—love. The only question is, was it needful for man, for the healing of his soul, for his peace in life and death, that God should reveal himself as the way, the truth and the life, as Saviour, Mediator, Redeemer and Prince of Peace? Man must answer this question in the affirmative, when he has faithfully examined his conscience, himself, and his life; when he has learned to disdain and despise all half-way courses, all lukewarmness in thought and deed, then he may with a bold hand grasp at the cloud, then in awe joyfully admit that God so loved the world! Then will he no more ask, How can such things be? For as the being of God is far above human knowledge and understanding, why should not the love of God be above his knowledge and understanding as well"—The Balliz.

☞ God frequently asks us not to give up our wills in little things, God wills to save us. It is kindness in him to cross us in carrying out our own plans, and in saving us from ourselves.

Agricultual.

WATERING SHEEP IN WINTER.

That sheep can do with less water than other domestic animals, is well known.—That they should be forced to do with a less quantity than they desire, or compelled to do without any, except what is accidentally supplied by melting snow or rain, no reasonable or merciful man can believe for one moment. In some experiment, on South Down sheep, at Rothamstead, we found that in the summer months each sheep eat 3 lbs. of clover hay, and drank 6 lbs of water daily. Thinking that they drank more than was favorable for the deposition of fat, we confined them to a less quantity of water for one week. The result was that during that time they eat less food and lost weight. This result satisfied us that sheep knew better than man, though he were scientific, how much water they required.

But we need not quote experiments.—The common sense of every man tells him that sheep, as well as other animals, should be abundantly supplied with good, fresh water. Cows and sheep, if possible, should have free access to it at all times. For, unlike the horse, they will not always drink at stated times, however regularly observed. A well, pump and troughs would seem, therefore, to be necessary appendages to every well managed barnyard or sheep fold. Kind reader, act on this matter, and your sheep and cows will bless you, if not in words, at least in wool, milk and profit.—Genesee Farmer.

RANCID BUTTER.

The Rehoda Monde Savant says: "A farmer in the vicinity of Brussels, having been successful in removing the bad smell and taste of some butter by mixing it with chloride of lime, he was encouraged by this experiment, and he has restored to butter, the taste and odor of which were inappreciable all the sweetness of fresh butter.—The operation is extremely simple and practicable by all. It consists simply in working the butter in a sufficient quantity of water, in which from 25 to 30 drops of chloride of lime have been added to every two pounds of butter. After having mixed it till all its parts are in contact with the water it may be left in it for an hour or two, afterwards withdrawn and worked again in clear water. The chloride of lime having nothing injurious in it, can with safety be augmented; but after having varied the experiment, it was found that twenty-five to thirty drops to every two pounds of butter were sufficient.

Another method of restoring sweetness and flavor to rancid butter, said to be very effectual by those who have tried it, is to put into a churn with new milk and work it till the salt and rancidity is removed, after which it is to be taken from the churn, worked and salted afresh.—N. E. Cultivator.

SAVING SEEDS.

Choose the best plants for seed—the most true to their kind and the most perfectly developed; allow the seeds to become perfectly ripe before gathering them; gather when dry and especially take care that they are perfectly dry when put up: store them in paper bags carefully labelled, and keep them in a dry cool place. Great care is necessary in raising seeds to preserve the sorts unmixed, as varieties of the same species or similar species are almost sure to mix if planted near each other. If you raise more than one kind of corn, or pumpkin, or cucumber, or melon in the same garden, you can not be sure of pure seed.—The squashes and pumpkins may mix, or the melons with either, the pollen of one being conveyed by the wind, or sometimes by bees or other insects, to the pistil of the hers.

KICKING COWS.

Cows sometimes move their feet from impatience or restlessness, and sometimes kick for the same reason. Any unreasonable and prompt infliction of a short, quick punishment, will soon cure them. They dislike to have their tails jerked, and if, whenever they kick or step, this infliction always instantly follows, they will soon cease. It is of the utmost importance that it be always uniformly severe, not irregular, and never but once performed for each repetition of the fault.—Country Gentleman.

☞ At the Cumberland County Agricultural Fair, the premium for the largest quantity of Corn raised on one acre was awarded to 742 bushels. Largest quantity of potatoes raised on one fourth of an acre, 304 bushels; Turnips, 141 bushels on one fourth of an acre, 1000 lbs. Fodder were gathered from one acre. Good showing for sand hill farmers.

PRESERVING EGGS.—To preserve eggs for the table in winter, dip them in warm lard, and then lay them in small barrels in layers, filling up the spaces with salt. I preserved some in this way in '56, and had but three eggs out of two hundred that had not "mill" in them, and only one unsalable.

SNOW BALL PUDDING.—Pare and core large mellow apples, and enclose them separately in a cloth spread with boiled rice; boil them one hour; dip them in cold water before turning out. Serve them with cream sauce.

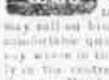
CHARLOTTE HOTEL,

BY

J. B. KERR,

CHARLOTTE, N. C.



THE Proprietor of this Hotel is still at his post ready to fulfil the duties of "mine host" to the travelling public and others who may call on him, and he defies himself that as comfortable quarters can be found with him as any where in this vicinity. Being situated nearly in the centre of Charlotte, Business Men will find this Hotel a most convenient and desirable location. He has been engaged in the business at this stand nearly eighteen years, and to that time he has made several additions to his former house, and it has been greatly enlarged and improved, presenting in front a two story VERANDA 100 feet in length by 12 wide, which, handsomely shaded by trees on the side walk, affording a pleasant promenade at all hours of the day.

The House has been thoroughly furnished throughout, and in every part of it everything conducive to comfort and cleanliness, especially in the DINING ROOM, where the "inner man" is "renewed" day by day.

Connected with this Hotel are Stables affording room for 100 horses, abundantly furnished with grain and provender, attended by faithful and obliging hostlers.

The Proprietor feels confident that with his long experience and many new advantages offered to his guests to please, he is prepared to offer his friends and the "rest of mankind," as many comforts and as much good cheer as will be found anywhere, perhaps a little more so.

☞ At any rate try the Charlotte Hotel.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD FOR RESTORING HAIR PERFECTLY and permanently, has never yet been found, although many other unknown things are given from all parts of the world as a perfect Restorative; but now the discovery of the long sought desideratum is announced as a perfect Restorative, and from the evidence we have seen, we unhesitatingly recommend it to the following:

☞ THE HAIR.—Persons here for centuries have adorned their heads with false locks, and the only remedy ever known, has been those chemicals which, lately a recent discovery of Professor Wood, those articles are being fast surpassed with hair, as a very few years, can still be seen those, here and there, that have been swindled into purchasing some one by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request, that they will try more again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who, since the article about time, and her head is now covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was coming falling out, which it restored in greater profusion than it ever had been known.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the diseases that hair is subject to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, being a sure way to secure respect to the ways of many of us, that every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair causes as much or more admiration in respect more to be desired, and there are no means that should be left neglected to obtain such a consummation.—Woman's Advocate, Pittsburgh.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season, and having experienced the best effect of both of myself, I would not be doing my duty to the PUBLIC if I did not say a few words in favor of it. I have sold more of it than any other article in the West, and I am confident that it will continue to do so, as I am convinced the real merit equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have never met with a preparation that possesses the nutritive organs of nourishment for which as well as it does, being fully convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it would sell.

Yours truly,

S. T. STOCKMAN.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the great benefit of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that having my hair greatly thinned, as well as grey, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to my great satisfaction and delight, to state as it was in reality, both of which it has effected immediately.

Yours &c.,

JAMES FRANCIS.
