

THE GLEANER.

GRAHAM, N. C., SEPT. 14, 1875.

Local, State and General.

W. T. JOHNSON, EDITOR.

Mr. John C. Robertson, of Company Shops, is our authorized agent to receive subscriptions, and receipt for the same.

During the past week, at Phillips Chapel, in this county, there has been progressing an interesting camp-meeting. There were a number of ministers present. The meeting was conducted under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

We call attention to the advertisement of Sergeant McCauley. If you want a first-class cook stove, cheap, you know where to get it. The fact that any broken part can be readily supplied at home, occurs to us as a very great inducement to buy from home manufacturers. Their stoves have given universal satisfaction, and there are a great number in use. No better or cheaper stove can be bought.

The friends of temperance reform in Guilford propose to hold a Temperance Convention, at 11 o'clock A. M., on Saturday, the 25th day of September, and will meet at the Court House in Greensboro.

Becher, being introduced to a Quaker gentleman at the White Mountains, said to him: "I understand you, belief deprives you of some of the pleasures of this life. The other replied: "It shields us from some of its temptations also."

The New York Evening Post pithily remarks that "the old notion that governments are instituted to protect members of society in their rights is fast yielding to the apprehension that members of society have no other duties than to protect themselves from governments."

The Reidsville News says: During the next month (October) Rockingham, as we learn, will have some distinguished visitors. President Grant Chief Justice Waite, Judge Bond, leading journalists of both political parties, and other noted persons will visit the county on a pleasure excursion. While here they will indulge in the luxury of a first-class fox hunt. Piedmont Springs will be headquarters for the party, but while in our midst they will be the guests of General Douglas, at his recently purchased country residence.

Jefferson Davis couldn't accept Mr. James Repdath's invitation to lecture in Boston on a specified date the coming season, but it is quite probable he will speak there at some other time during the next three months. In response to the assurance that he would receive a respectful reception in Boston, he wrote: "I did not do the citizens of Boston the injustice of supposing they would do otherwise than listen quietly so far as they chose to hear any one, who under such circumstances, would be offensive to his audience would be wanting in judgement as in good breeding."

GRAND LODGE OF GOOD TEMPLARS.—This body meets in Fayetteville on Tuesday, September 28th.

Representatives and visitors living West of Salisbury will find it most convenient to go by way of Charlotte and Central R. R. to Wilmington, where they will go aboard the steamer there waiting to take them to Fayetteville.

Those living East of Raleigh will go to Wilmington and take steamer also, which leaves after the arrival of trains from Charlotte and Weldon, on Monday evening.

Representatives from the West this side of Salisbury and in the centre go by way of Raleigh.

Arrangements over all the railroads for half fare. By steamer from Wilmington to Fayetteville $1.

To the best of our recollection, he was an Arkansas clergyman who had been accused of trailing his "true inwardness" in the company of the wrong woman. Under these painful circumstances, his wife was frequently compared to a "noble Roman matron," but she didn't seem to mind it, and firmly declared her belief in her husband's innocence. When the day of trial arrived she sat in court beside him, and moved the jury to tears by arranging a fifty-cent bouquet in the buttonhole of his coat. The case was at last opened, and the witnesses for the prosecution called. There were thirty or forty of them; but before half a dozen had testified a mighty change came over the face of the wife, and getting right up and addressing her remarks to the bench, she said: "See here, Judge; I'm satisfied, if you are. Don't mind me; I can stand it. I reckon it's into me, Judge, to get even. Just hold on to him till called for, and if enny woman wants him he's hers, and no questions asked. Then turning to her husband and snatching the floral tokens from his buttonhole, she bitterly exclaimed: "Remember, from this time forward my home's a den of ragn lions, and you ain't no Daniel."

SOMETHING ABOUT THE WHEAT CROP.—[From the Journal.]—The average wheat crop of England and Ireland varies from twelve to fourteen million quarters of eight bushels, and the average annual consumption is about 22,000,000 quarters. The crop of 1875 is undoubtedly poor, both in quantity and quality, in England as well as in Scotland.

The crop of France last year was about 123,000,000 to 124,000,000 hectolitres or something more than 850,000,000 bushels, leaving a surplus for export of seventy odd million bushels. In the current year, it is doubtful whether the crop will more than supply the home demand.

Russia exports from 7 to 12 million tchetverts of wheat and flour per annum, 40 to 79 million bushels. The government reports indicate that the crop this year has been cut down to a perhaps unprecedented extent, and a deficiency in yield of other bread crops is reported. Altogether it is very unlikely that Russia will be able to compete with America in other markets in the next twelve months.

The German wheat crop is said to be 25 per cent short of a full average yield, though good crops of rye and barley are reported.

The crop of the Austrian empire is of no commercial importance outside of that country, as it is estimated by late dispatches at only 5,500,000 quintals.

The Spanish crop can not be an average, whatever have been the weather condition, as a large part of the laboring population is in the camps of Alonzo and Carlos. The Portuguese crops is so light as to have excited an injurious movement at Lisbon, designed to prevent shipments of grain from the country.

France, Russia and Germany are the great rivals of the United States in supplying those nations whose production does not equal the wants of home consumers, and in each of those countries there was a greater or less surplus of the crop of 1874 left on hand, though there is no doubt that the deficit in each will exceed this balance, and leave a comparatively light open supply.

The early course of the market will be mainly regulated by speculative influences, but the general range of prices will probably be high, compared with the last year or two.

The Newbern Journal of commerce under the caption of "A Field of Rattlesnakes relates the following:

From S. W. Latham, Esq., we learn that Mr. Frank Hartly, of Pamlico county has a two acre wheat field in which the grain has been for sometime ready for garnering, but owing to the countless rattlesnakes therein no reaper can be procured to do the work. It appears that sometime since, Mr. Hartly sent one of his farm hands to this field for the purpose of cutting the wheat, but the man soon returned, very much excited, and informed his employer that by the very first sweep of his cradle he severed the heads of three huge rattlers while a fourth, in the act of springing upon him, came in contact with the point of the scythe which passed through its body and rendered it hors du combat; he then dropped the implement and ran from the field to report the startling occurrence. Mr. Hartly, thinking the man must be laboring under some great hallucination, immediately proceeded to the field where he realized to his horror and surprise the facts as related; whereupon he took up the cradle and in making three swipes killed as many snakes by cutting them in twain. It was then that his ears became deafened by their hissing, and the vibration of the rattles of these venomous reptiles caused the ground to tremble and shake like unto an earthquake. It is needless to say that Mr. Hartly left the premises in double quick time, and that hereafter the dwellers of Sampson county will take a back seat on the snake question.

A DETROIT FINANCIAL ARGUMENT.—"Well, Bub," replied Bijah, as he finished hanging up the broom "this currency question bothers many besides you, though it's clear enough to me. You see that twenty-five-cent scrip, don't you?"

The boy remarked that he did and Bijah placed it on the window-sill, weighed it down with a peach-stone, and continued: "That bit of paper is marked 25 cents, but is it twenty-five cents? Is it anything more than a piece of paper?" "I dunno," solemnly replied the boy.

"Has that bit of paper any real value beyond its being a promise to pay?" demanded Bijah.

"What paper?"

"That 'ere twenty-five—"

He stopped there. Some one had sneaked up the alley and slyly stolen both scrip and peach-stone.

"Never mind," consoled the boy; "it hand't, any intrinsic value."

"It hand't, eh?" growled the old janitor: "I just want to catch the wolf who absorbed it."—Free Press.

THE CLINTON MISSISSIPPI DISTURBANCE

An extra edition of the Vicksburg Herald, of the 6th inst., gives the following account of a disturbance at Clinton: "The origin and particulars of the riot at Clinton on Saturday evening, have been variously stated. After hearing all the statements, we think the following is about correct: There is a law prohibiting the sale of liquor in Clinton. Some young men from Raymond brought a bottle with them, and while the speaking was going on Martin Sively and some of his friends went off a short distance to take a drink. The colored Marshal for the occasion approached them and forbade their drinking. This order was not regarded, and when the Marshal attempted to take the bottle out of Sively's hands, Sively struck him over the head with it. Senator Caldwell, colored, started to settle the difficulty, and was followed by some 20 negroes, whom he ordered back, but about 100 more came rushing on. Some one fired a shot which was followed by a general firing, and stamped. Sively fired all the barrels of his pistol and the negroes then demanded his surrender. He surrendered and gave up his pistol, after which he was shot and his brains knocked out. He was then robbed of his clothing and a finger was cut off in order to get his ring. The infuriated mob found Charles Childress in his yard and shot and killed him in the presence of his family. Frank Thomas, a promising young lawyer was shot from his horse a mile and a half from the scene of the conflict, and after falling the savages drove their knives into his body in many places. Jno. Neal was fatally shot in the left lung in the town, and Waddy Rice seriously in the hand. Four negroes were found on the field and two mortally wounded; 6 additional negroes have been found dead about Clinton since. The white men of Clinton were organized at once for self protection under Col. Harding, and telegrams sent here for assistance; 15 minutes after the receipt of the first despatch 150 men were ready to march and took special train which reached Clinton at 7 o'clock. About 10 o'clock more reinforcements came from Jackson. The roads were picketed during the night, but all danger being apparently over most of the citizens returned to their homes at Vicksburg, leaving 40 men on guard under Capt. W. C. Andrews. Capt. Andrews returned with the men his m., and reports all now quiet at Clinton.

"The train from Jackson Saturday night with reinforcements for Clinton was fired into from the side of the road and obstruction, were also placed on the track."

MEMORIAL MEETING.

SUPERIOR COURT ROOM. Greensboro, N. C., Fall Term, Sept. 6, 1875.

The Hon. James T. Morehead, Hon. William A. Graham and Ralph Gorrell, Esq., having died since the last term of the Court, in pursuance of the request of the Guilford Bar, contained in a resolution of a meeting of the 14th of Aug. last, and made known to the Court by Col. J. H. Dillard, His Honor Judge Kerr, at 12 M., adjourned Court until Wednesday morning; that the Bar and the citizens might have an opportunity of paying appropriate tributes of respect to their distinguished virtues and talents, and of testifying their sense of the irreplaceable loss sustained by the country in their deaths.

Judge Kerr having vacated the bench, on motion of Col. Dillard, was called to the chair, and Messrs. W. G. Sapp and J. I. Scales were made secretaries. When on motion the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft resolutions for the action of the meeting: Hon. Robert P. Dick, General J. M. Leach, Col. John H. Dillard, John N. Staples and Jas. R. Bulla, Esqrs., Dr. Jas. K. Hall and Isaac Thacker, Esqrs. The meeting then adjourned to 2 o'clock, P. M., to await the action of the Committee. At the re-assembling of a large body of citizens, with the Bar, Mr. Staples by request of Judge Dick, the Chairman of Committee appropriately presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, We are deeply impressed with the solemn, imposing and remarkable coincidence, caused by the inscrutable will of an all-wise Providence, in calling from our midst at such short intervals of time, three highly esteemed citizens, learned, able and upright lawyers, and distinguished public men, therefore,

Resolved, That by the death of J. T. Morehead, W. A. Graham and Ralph Gorrell, the State of North Carolina has lost three of her most distinguished sons, distinguished for eminent ability for pure patriotism and incorruptable public virtues of character which constitute the noblest type of the Citizen, the Lawyer and the Statesman.

Resolved, That in their death the Bar, the community, and society, have lost three of their most aged, learned, worthy and respected members.

Resolved, That while we recognize the fact that these three men differed in ability, learning and some elements of character, even as one star differs from another in glory, still we regard them as together forming a bright constellation illuminating with hallowing influences the paths of virtue, truth and usefulness.

Resolved, That we most sincerely tender our warmest sympathies to the families of our deceased friends and brethren, with the assurance that the names of Morehead, Graham, and Gorrell will be a precious legacy to the Bar, and honor to their country, and a rich inheritance to their posterity.

These resolutions after unusually earnest, impressive and eloquent addresses by Judge Dick, Gen. Leach and Judge Kerr were unanimously adopted. On motion of Gen. Leach, F. N. Strudwick, Solicitor, was requested to present the proceedings of this meeting to His Honor, on to-morrow morning with the request that they be spread upon the minutes of the Court.

On motion of L. M. Scott, Esq., the secretaries were requested to furnish copies also to the different editors of the city for publication, and to transmit to the respective families of the deceased, copies of the resolutions. The meeting then adjourned.

JOHN KERR, Clerk W. G. SAPP, J. I. SCALES, Secretaries.

AT THE VAY STATION.—On the ferry boat Geisse, crossing the river yesterday, were an old couple from Louisiana coming to visit friends in the city. The old gentleman was walking around despite his wife's predictions that something would happen to him and he suddenly found himself in the river. She heard him yell, and caught sight of him, and leaning over the rail she shouted, "There, Samuel, didn't I tell you so? Now, then, work you legs, flap your arms, hold your breath, and repeat the Lord's prayer; for it's mighty onsaftin, Samuel, whether you'll land in Vicksburg or eternity." Thanks to a ready rope and a strong arm, he landed at this way station.—Vicksburg Herald.

THE LOUISVILLE BANK ROBBERY.—THE CASHIER THE ROBBER.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 3.—The Planters' national Bank resumed. The money taken by Rehn is all recovered. He took the money and concealed the story of three robbers. The money was found buried near Rehn's house.

The colored "friend, and brother," frequently rises to the great occasion. Recently, one of these applied to an amiable gentleman for a certificate of character by which he might be able to get a situation. The testimonial was so unexpectedly complimentary, and set forth Samba's qualifications in such glowing terms, that, turning to the gentleman, he said, "Look here Mr. Wilson, can't you gib me something to do yourself on dat recommendation?"

A newly-married couple, have precipitately fled from Saffin Rock where they had gone a summering, because the fact leaked out that the husband took a portion of his wife's hair oil mistake for cough medicine one night.
