Notice in this discourse Peter's referchoices to the resurrection of Christ in verses 24, 30, 32, 36—that by the resurrection God made that same Jesus whom they had crucified both Lord and Christ and that He had raised up whom they had crucified both Lord and Christ and that He had raised up Christ to sit on the throne of David. In I Pet. 1, 21, we read that God raised Him from the dead and gave Him giory. We seem to come nearest to the Father's heart when we, too, give Him glory' or seek in all things to giorify Him (I Pet. iv. 11). When the prophet Micab predicted His birth in Bethlehem he spoke of Him as "tuler" even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could strongest men that ever lived could the Jews on the throne of David, but He will also be the King of kings and (Luke I, 32, 33; Rev. xvii, 14; xix, 16;

Peter quoted from Joel II, 28-32, to show that this manifestation of the Spirit was a fulfillment of that prediction, and not any wild ravings of drunken men. The complete fulfillment of Joel's words will be at the second coming of Christ to judge the nations and open the eyes of Israel (Joel III, 1, 3). Peter then told them that Je-sus of Nazareth, whom GG had so manifestly approved among them, but whom they had by wicked hands crucicording to His assurance to David in Ps. xvi and II Sam. vii, and had given Him a place at His own right hand until the time should come for Him to urged them to repent and be Peter urged them to repent and be baptized and receive remission of sins and the girt of the Holy Spirit. This they gladly did, and that day about 8,000 Jews were added to the number of the saved in Christ (verses 38-41). This is one fulfillment of the words of the Lord Jesus, "Greater works than these shall he do because I go unto the Father" (John xiv, 12). We must not think that if we are Spirit filled we shall always see souls saved, for Stephen was filled with the Spirit and se applie that he received stones enough poke that he received stones enough b kill him (vi. 5, 10: vii, 55-00), but probably Saul never forgot it, and it may have been one of the links in the chain leading to his conversion. One of the daintiest favors for the Christmas dinner table is the snowball made of glistening white and surmounted by a sprig of holly. When these are augmented by the huge ball for the center, which is also made of paper and has a rich red ribbon draped across it and is trimmed with holly, the whole Christmas atmosphere is complete. Another appropriate placement is the funny snow man with his black stovepipe hat and beady eyes. He, too, can be made in a large size and used for the center piece. BIG FIRE IN HAGERSTOWN

Store Suilding Collapses and Flames Follow.

Following the collapse of one section of the large wholesale grocery establishment of J. W., Myers & Company, in Hagerstown, Md., fire started and completely destroyed the section which caved in, and damaged adjoining buildings, entailing a loss estimated at $150,000.

Seemingly without cause, the southern section of the big brick building crashed to the pavement. Tons of brick and timbers were piled up.

The building was of three stories, and each was stocked with goods in preparation for Christmas trade.

Various theories are advanced as to the cause of the fire. One is that two carloads of matches on the second floor were ignited when the crash came. The other theory is that an interior explosion caused the collapse.
