

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me to a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

HORSES PIGS and CATTLE

RAISING STEERS FOR MARKET
Feeder of Seventeen Years' Experience Says Best Grades Are Always in Good Demand.

Does it pay to raise purebred steers for the market? Some say yes, while others answer in the negative. But an Iowa man says it pays to get a good start if a feeder intends to make a good finish of the feeding experiment.

This feeder, who was successful on the market with stock, went on record in boosting purebred cattle for feeding purposes, as his 17 years of experience that the good grades are always wanted, and are the largest money-makers in the end. The affirmative side of the question has a strong booster in this gentleman, who has been predicting what he preaches for many years past. Each year he has been in the habit of feeding a bunch of purebred baby beefs for the summer market, and each time has been successful in getting out on the venture. At his farm he maintains a drove of Hereford cattle and aside from the regular breeding business, he raises a drove of steers for the killers each year.

Many feeders think that purebreds are for breeding and most anything will do for the killers, but cases of this sort argue well for cattle of good blood to be finished for the market. The feeder who recently made these remarks is emphatic in saying that it pays to raise purebreds for feeding purposes, and his advice to young men just getting into the live-stock business is to get a start on a purebred herd as soon as possible. A good start shortens the road to a successful ending in a business of this sort.

FLEECED LAMBS MAKE GAINS

Old Idea Regarding Recouperation Sustained by Test at Nebraska State Experiment Station.

The old idea that a shorn lamb will regain in a week or ten days the weight of the wool removed from it at shearing time was vindicated recently in an experiment at the Nebraska state experiment station. Five lots of 12 lambs each were used in the experiment, each lot fed a little differently. As the lambs were too heavy to hold for the experiment, there was an average loss of five cents per animal, but the fact that the lambs did especially well after the fleece was removed proved the old theory. The daily gain was .51 of a pound.

PROPER SHELTER FOR LAMBS

Animals Fed in Well-Ventilated Barn Make Same Gains as Those Kept in Open Sheds.

In a series of tests in feeding western lambs, the Indiana experiment station found that lambs fed in a well-ventilated barn at the same amount of feed made the same gain in weight as those fed in an open shed. The profit per lamb was 94 cents per head in a barn, as compared with $1.04 per head in an open shed. Although feed was high in price, the margin in value of feeding and fat lambs was sufficient to insure a satisfactory profit on the operation.

ELECTION DAY

BRINGS TEN MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF DYES, DRUGS, JEWELS, ETC

Was a "Quiet," But Thrilling Voyage.—Defies Allies' Blockade That Does Not Block.—Hopes to Make Another Trip During Year.

New London, Conn.—Ten million dollars' worth of dyes and drugs and it was said "possibly" stocks, bonds and precious stones" comprised the cargo of the German submarine merchantman Deutschland, according to a statement by Capt. Paul Koenig, commander of the craft.

The Deutschland is in this port after having succeeded in making a second voyage from a German port to the American coast, despite the gasblockades of British and French war vessels.

"I must keep up this traffic alone for the present, that is, the Deutschland must be gone, I hope, to return before the end of the year."

It was possible, the navigator stated, that other merchant submarines would be built by that time.

In a summary of his voyage, just completed, Captain Koenig, who returned with decorations from the German government, said this was a "quiet trip." Recital of its incidents, however, developed matters of lively interest.

The Deutschland did not lie on the ocean floor this time, as in the voyage which started at Baltimore last July. The submarine instead varied the monotony of its sailing under water or on the surface with occasional dodges beneath vessels identified as warships of belligerent nationality or thought to be such.

Seven times, Captain Koenig said, he was hindered in this way. The last time was off Nantucket when he sighted a "four-funnelled steamer" and dived beneath her.

"The storms gave us more trouble than this so-called blockade," he continued. "We were beset by heavy southwest gales for days, and they were with us most of the way across. Fog also hindered us. We might as well have been submerged, the weather was so thick at times."

During the trip of 4,500 miles the Deutschland traveled under water less than 100 miles, 95 I should think, Captain Koenig said.

"They call it blockade. You can judge how much it blocks," the skipper exclaimed.

CONFLICTING ELEMENTS IN MARINA LOSS ARISE
Issue Threatens to Fall Into Technical Discussion of Whether Germany Has Violated Pledges to U. S.

Washington.—So many conflicting elements have appeared in the destruction of the British steamer Marina by a German submarine, with the incident threatens to fall into a technical discussion rather than a clean-cut issue of whether Germany has violated her pledges to the United States.

It appeared certain, however, that no move will be made by the United States until the German version of the affair, as well as that of the destruction of the British steamer Rowanmore, by shellfire with endangering of Americans, has been secured.

OFFICIALS SURPRISED AT REVOKING DECISION.
Washington.—Administration officials were surprised when informed that the Mexican-American Commission had revoked its decision to make Washington its meeting place.

BRITISH CAPTURED DUTCH STEAMER, GERMAN SEIZED.
Amsterdam, via London.—A German submarine placed a prize crew aboard the Dutch steamer Oldambt, which left the Hook of Holland.

GOOD ROADS

VALUE OF IMPROVED ROADS
Public Highway Is More Generally Used Than Any Other Means of Intercommunication.

It has been stated, and correctly so, that only 10 per cent of the public roads in the United States are improved; in many states, only 5 per cent have been made good. Therefore, with from 90 to 95 per cent of our highways mere trails across country, Americans are living in a land of mud or dust, according to the season.

Rarely are poor roads easily traveled; improved roads, if improved according to modern methods, are always available in the most inclement weather, barring a blizzard and snowdrifts. The force of this observation may be more readily understood when it is stated that the public road is more generally used than any other means of intercommunication. It is free and open to all of the people. It is of benefit to one class more than another only to the extent one class uses it more than another.

Many sections of the country are opposed to improvement, just like the cattle barons of the unstocked western plains—the llama estacado—not many years ago opposed the coming of the homesteader and the railroad.

A little thought along these lines must convince anyone that the United States need good roads about as bad as anything.—New York Commercial.

About the Planets.
The albedo or reflecting power of the planets is believed to give a hint as to their physical condition. In a table prepared by Prof. H. N. Russell, the albedo of the moon is given as 0.07; Mercury, 0.06; Venus, 0.59; Mars, 0.15; Jupiter, 0.56; Saturn, 0.63; Uranus, 0.63, and Neptune, 0.73. The earth's albedo, measured from the earth's surface on the moon, has been placed as high as 0.80, though a new calculation indicates 0.49. The four large planets have high albedo on account of their cloud-laden atmosphere; that of Mercury, with practically no atmosphere, is low.

They Saw the Cow.
A woman with a family of children recently moved from the heart of a city to one of the suburbs, where they found various new educational opportunities. One day a neighbor met them all walking back from the edge of town and asked whether they had been out in the country. "Yes," said the woman, "the man who brings our butter said he had a cow out there and I took the children out to see it."

Gentle Hint.
My little sister sometimes accompanied me when I called on my friends. She made a practice of asking for something to eat, and I asked her not to do so again. The next time she moved unobtrusively in her chair, and finally said: "Well, I think we had better start for home. I'm getting so hungry I'm afraid you'll have to carry me home."—Chicago Tribune.
