MR. ALFRED W. HAYWOOD DIES AT HAW RIVER.

Passed Away Sunday Evening After Brief Illness.

The many friends of Mr. Alfred W. Haywood were shocked to hear of his death at Haw River last Sunday evening a few minutes after 6 o'clock.

While he had not enjoyed his usual robust health for the past four or five years, still he was in fair health. He was in Graham Tuesday of last week attending to business in court and appeared to be as well as usual. He was taken ill the following day and continued to grow weaker. The immediate cause of his death was heart failure.

Mr. Haywood was born in Raleigh on July 15, 1853. He was a son of the late Dr. E. Burke Haywood, a distinguished physician. His mother was Mrs. Lucy Williams Haywood. He practiced law in Raleigh up to 1895, when he moved to Haw River, abandoning the practice of the law to engage in cotton manufacturing and was president of the Holt-Granite Mill Co.

In May, 1883, Mr. Haywood was united in marriage to Miss Louise M. Holt, second daughter of the late Gov. Thos. M. Holt. To them were born two sons—Alfred W. Haywood, Jr., partner in a leading New York City law firm, and Thos. Holt Haywood, who holds a highly responsible position with a big cotton goods commission house in New York City. His widow and two sons survive him. He is also survived by five brothers and one sister.

The remains were carried to Raleigh Tuesday and the funeral was conducted from Christ's church. A number attended from Burlington, Graham and Haw River.

Mr. Haywood was well known throughout the State. In appearance he was courtly and distinguished looking and his uniform courtesy and considerate attention to every one won him many friends. For a number of years he was a trustee of the University and he had held other positions of trust and honor. His death is deplored by a host of friends and acquaintances.

WAR VETERAN VISITS GRAHAM.

Artilleryman Says Belligerent Soldiers Don't Hate Each Other.

Graham received a flying visit Monday from Lieut. N. C. Salaman of the British Royal Field Artillery, who having received an honorable release from further military duty owing to severe internal injuries suffered on the Somme front in France, has come over to settle in America for good.

Lieut. Salaman, whose father-in-law is an United States consul holding an important diplomatic post, was accompanied by his charming wife who also did her "bit" in the great world war, having served as a Red Cross nurse. Asked if he would tell something about their experience in Europe, he replied, "of course I could talk for several hours about the war but you get such excellent accounts of the fighting and from your own correspondents that anything I would say there would be stale news, I'm afraid. However, there are certain aspects of the war which none other than a belligerent vitally concerned could really understand and appreciate. In the first place it will doubtless surprise many of your readers to learn that there is actually quite a feeling of good fellowship even among the enemies at times when we are not engaged in cutting one another to pieces. You see we men who do the actual fighting and know only too well what hardship and danger mean, and nothing of course makes more for mutual human sympathy than having to bear the same trials and privations. It is no uncommon thing during even a battle to hear some one say, 'Poor devils,' while we are pounding the enemy's infantry with a terrific bombardment, and I have heard that in turn take things in the same way. You will doubtless be interested to learn, too, that we all have a very great faith in the wise judgment of your President, and consider that he has done his best in very adverse circumstances to be fair to all in international matters."

Lieut. Salaman came to Graham to arrange for exhibition of Thos. H. Ince's protest against the mistreatment of women in war time, entitled, "War's Women," featuring Frank Keenan and Eini Dinarkey.

At a called meeting of Camp Ruffin United Confederate Veterans, Capt. Jas. A. Turrentine, presiding, and Lieut. W. A. Hall, Acting Adjutant, the following resolutions were introduced by W. A. Hall and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to swing wide the gates and beckon Comrade E. C. Murray into the arms of the redeemed, and to take from our fast thinning line one the most patient, quiet and unassuming, yet withal one of the bravest of our ranks, it is the sense of this Camp that the following resolution be spread upon our minutes, that copies of the same be given to that county papers for publication, and that a copy to be sent to the bereaved family.

Resolved, That in the taking away of our faithful and beloved Comrade E. C. Murray, we recognize the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That by his death the community has sustained a severe loss; the church has been deprived of a faithful, consecrated member, a most liberal supporter, a wise and just counsellor. There has gone from our midst a man of ripe judgment and wide experience in affairs, who resolutely devoted his every energy to whatever matter with which he might be engaged; cautious, he seldom committed a mistake; honest, he always looked to the advancement of the general welfare; diligent, his industry knew no limit; patriotic, he gave four of the best years of his life to his beloved Southland.

"As in many groups they were buried in diverse occupations, some in games and others in work, the Master opened the door and with a smile beckoned to the leader of the busiest group, who, laying down his tools, went within and the door was shut behind him. His comrades waited for him, and as he came not, realized that that was death."

J. A. TURRENTINE, Commander. W. A. HALL, Acting Adjutant.

Three persons were killed instantly and three others injured, two probably fatally, at Detroit, when an interurban car struck an automobile.

It is reported at Sylva, Jackson county, that Andrew Raby, a native of that county, who formerly practiced law at Robbinsville, Graham county, latterly a resident of Etowah, Tenn., was killed at the latter place a few days ago by a man against whom he appeared in a law suit.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the plant of the Waccamaw Lumber Company at Holcom, 20 miles south of Wilmington, entailing an estimated loss of $200,000, insured. An electric power plant operated in connection with the lumber mill was also destroyed.

The Transylvania Tanning Company, the new corporation with a capital stock of $250,000 for the erection and operation of a tannery and belt plant, affording a monthly payroll estimated at $25,000, proposes to break ground on the site in Brevard about December 1, says the News.

Men Really Not in It. Hub (with irritation)—"Why is it that you women insist upon having the last word?" Wife (calmly)—"We don't. The only reason we get it is because we always have a dozen arguments left when you stupid men are all run out."—Boston Transcript.

Retribution. There was a youth in our town who posed as quite a wit; and when a question he was asked, he always answered, "Sir." One day he met his Waterloo in a maiden dressed in pink; he asked if she would marry him—she answered, "I don't think."

Concerning the Venus of Milo. It is said that the base of the Venus of Milo, with the name of the sculptor upon it, was destroyed for the purpose of deceiving a king of France into the belief that it was more ancient than it really is.
