In use for over 40 years! Thousands of voluntary letters from women, telling of the good Cardui has done them. This is the best proof of the value of Cardui. It proves that Cardui is a good medicine for women.

There are no harmful or habit-forming drugs in Cardui. It is composed only of mild, medicinal ingredients, with no bad after-effects.

TAKE CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help.

"I was taken sick, seemed to be..." writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk... just staggered around... I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

What You Can Grow In a Garden Planted Now.

By F. F. Hockwell, Author of "Around the Year in the Garden," "Home Vegetable Gardening," etc., etc. Copyright 1917, by W. A. Lee, Burpee & Co., Seed Growers, Philadelphia.

It is not yet too late to grow a good supply of vegetables, even if you have not had a garden so far this year.

There is among amateur gardeners an unwritten tradition that gardens must be planted in the spring. As a matter of fact a fairly complete garden may be planted successfully as late as the middle of July. There are approximately 100 days of growing weather after that date, while the majority of vegetables require less than 90 days to be ready for use. It is a fact that Nature does most of her seed-sowing, not in the spring, but during the summer and early fall. One of the chief reasons why summer planting is not carried on more extensively is that, in many sections of the country, we usually have at that time a dry condition of the soil that delays or interferes with germination.

—This year fortunately, we have had abundant rains throughout June, so that the soil is in just the right condition to assure the prompt germination of seeds planted now.

Wide-awake gardeners are taking advantage of this condition to make their late plantings as large as possible. An unusual opportunity exists for the late beginner, who still wants to make a garden this year.

What You Can Plant Now.

The list of vegetables which can still be grown this year is big enough to satisfy any beginner. It includes:

Beans, beets, cabbage, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, kale, celery, Swiss chard, sweet corn, endive, kohlrabi, lettuce, mustard, peas, radish, ruta-bagas, spinach, squash (summer), turnips.

Of the above vegetables, cabbage, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, kale, and celery, may be obtained locally in plants already started. If you can get the plants, there is still plenty of time for tomatoes. They will be in their prime during September and early October, when the local crop is pretty well gone by, and both ripe and green tomatoes for making pickles and preserves, are hard to get.

The other vegetables in the list above should be started now from seed. There is one point about which care should be taken, however; that is, for late planting use early varieties.

This advice may seem paradoxical at first, but will appear commonsense on a moment's reflection. The following are all good sorts:

Beans: Stringless Green-Pod, Valentine, Beets: Early Mold, Crosby's Egyptian, Detroit Dark Red, Cabbage: Danish Ballhead, Glory of Enkhuisen, Volga, Cauliflower: Best Earley, Snowball, Dry Weather, Brussels Sprouts: Danish Prize, L. I. Improved Kale: Dwarf Curled Scotch, Celery: Golden Self-Blanching, Fordhook Emperor, Winter Queen, Chard: Giant Lucullus, Corn: Golden Bantam, Howling Mob, Endive: White Fringed, Giant Fringed, Kohl-Rabi: Early White Vienna, Lettuce: Big Boston, All Seasons (heading), Grand Rapids (loos-leaf), Dwarf White Heart (Cos), Mustard: Fordhook Fancy, Elephant Ear, Fens: Little Marvel, Burpee's Extra Early, Radish: Scarlet Globe, White Icicle, Chinese Rose, Ruta-Bagas: Breadstone, Golden Neckless, Spinach: Victoria, Thick-Leaved Round, Squash: Early White Bush, Burpee's Bush Fordhook, Delicata, Turnips: White Milan, Golden Ball, Amber Globe.

Exequatur in Diplomatic Use.

Exequatur is a Latin word, third person singular, present tense, subjunctive mood of the verb exequi, to execute or perform. It means "he may act," and is the technical term applied to the permit which a government grants a foreign consul to act within its borders. A consul owes his appointment to his own government, but he cannot act until he has received an exequatur, or permit to act, from the government to which he is accredited, and if he is an unaccredited person or for any reason offensive to the government where he is sent it may refuse to grant him an exequatur and he cannot act. Not only may the government of the country to which a consul is sent refuse to grant him an exequatur, but, after it has been granted, that government may at any time revoke it for reasons of its own, thus depriving the consul of the right to act.

Appreciation of faithful services of 400 of his employees by dividing $1,000,000 among them with further provisions giving them 60 per cent. of the income on $2,500,000, this principal also ultimately to be distributed among them, with certain limitations, was expressed in the will of John Bartlett Pierce of Peabody, Mass., vice-president of the American Radiator Company, who died June 23.

Itch relieved in 20 minutes by Woodford's Sanitary Lotion. Neve's Falls, by Graham Drug Co.

H. B. Varner was re-elected president and Dr. Jos. Hyde Pratt secretary and treasurer at a meeting of the North Carolina Good Roads Association in Asheville last week. Resolutions were adopted urging the use of all able-bodied convicts on the roads and pledging the efforts of the association for legislation to this end. The resolutions also call on the Legislature to provide adequate funds for the State highway commission.

is worked over, the weed seeds in it near the surface begin to sprout. If your vegetable seeds are not planted until some days later, they are therefore badly handicapped in the race for life with the weeds. If, however, the soil is raked over thoroughly immediately before planting such weed seedlings as may have started—and there will be likely thousands of them, even if they do not all show above the surface—will be destroyed giving the vegetables an even chance.

Firm the Seed Well in the Soil.

A frequent cause of failure, or of poor results with late plantings, when the soil is usually not as moist as it is in the spring, is neglect to pack the soil about the newly planted seed firmly enough.

After opening the drill or furrow, and distributing the seed, go over the row with the back of the hoe or rake—or, in case of large seeds, such as peas, beans, or corn, with the ball of the foot—and press the seed down into the soil. Then cover immediately while the dirt is still fresh and moist, to the depth required for the kind of seed being sown.

Cover small seeds—such as carrots, lettuce, kohlrabi, onions, leek, and turnips—about one-fourth inch deep. Celery and parsley cover barely from sight, soaking seed a day or two first to hasten germination.

Cover medium-sized seeds—such as beets, parsnips, cucumbers, salsify, spinach and Swiss chard—about one-half inch deep.

Cover large seeds—such as beans, corn, squash, and pumpkin—one to two inches deep. In light soil or very dry weather, plant deeper than usual. In heavy soil, or wet weather, shallower.

After covering the seed, again press the soil down lightly on the surface, to prevent air spaces and to mark where the row or hill has been planted. On heavy clay soil or very wet weather, of course, little or no compacting of the soil over the seeds will be required.

The details of planting root crops for winter use will be given in the next article, which will appear in our issue of July 26. In the meantime, if you plan to have a late garden or grow winter vegetables, procure the seeds you may want. A full description of the varieties mentioned above with many others, and a great deal of other helpful garden information, may be had by sending to W. A. Lee Burpee & Co., of Philadelphia, for their Mid-Summer Garden Book, which will be supplied free of charge to readers if they mention the name of this paper when requesting it.

GOOD ROADS

PROPER WORKING OF A DRAG

Rules From Highway Magazine Tell How to Get Best Results—Drag Whenever Possible.

If a dirt road is properly built, the road drag will keep it in good condition. Like any other work there is a best way to do it. These rules from the Highway Magazine, tell how to get the right results.

"Use a light drag.

"Haul it over the road at an angle so that a small amount of earth is pushed toward the center of the road.

"Drive a team at a walk.

"Ride on the drag; do not walk.

"Begin at one side of the road, returning the road as soon after every rain as possible, but not when the mud is in such condition as to stick to the drag.

"Do not drag a dry road.

"Drag whenever possible at all seasons of the year.

"The width of the traveled way to be maintained by the drag should be from 18 to 20 feet; first drag a little more than the width of a single wheel track, then gradually increase until desired width is obtained.

"Always drag a little earth towards the center of the road until it is raised from 10 to 12 inches above the edges of the traveled way.

"If the drag cuts too much, shorten the hitch.

"The best results for dragging are obtained only by repeated application."

DISPOSING OF DEAD ANIMALS

Common Practice of Feeding Carcasses to Swine is Dangerous and Should Be Stopped.

By DR. J. T. DUNWOODIE, South Dakota State College.

The common practice of feeding carcasses to hogs is dangerous and should be discontinued. Although hogs fortunately are not susceptible to the many diseases that kill other classes of domestic animals, yet feeding to swine the carcasses of animals dead from infectious and contagious diseases does not remove the danger to other animals. In many cases such a practice is only a means of spreading disease.

The meat of an animal whose death was due to disease is not fit food for any other animal. Such meat is full of the poisonous material produced and liberated by the action of disease germs. Undoubtedly in many cases hogs suffer from digestive troubles from this very cause. This condition may be only temporary and pass unnoticed by the average hog owner.

Burning is the only sure method of destroying a carcass. Burying does not destroy, it only removes. Feeding to hogs does neither.

IS DEADLY FOE OF HUMANITY

One Thing That is More Powerful Than All the Armies of the World Combined.

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the world.

I am more deadly than bullets and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of sieges guns.

I steal in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one and I find my victims among rich and poor alike; the young and old; the strong and weak; widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless, I am everywhere; in the home, on the street, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush or maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I am Carelessness.—Baltimore Sun.

Despondency is often caused by indigestion and constipation, and quickly disappears when Chamberlain's Tablets are taken. These tablets strengthen the digestion and move the bowels.

Are You One of Them?

There are a good many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a week or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. B. Seal, Baldwinsville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.

J. D. Prevatt, aged 46, died suddenly at Mullins, S. G., from blood-poison and his sister, Miss Emma Prevatt, 32 years old, in feeble health, died 36 hours later at her home in Robeson county, as a result of the shock from the news of her brother's death.

VOLUNTEER FOR GOOD ROADS

We Can Have Anything Good If We Will Get Together and Work Hard for Desired End.

Why, bad roads, even, is a moral question. Why should men waste it and punish their beasts when they have the power to prevent it? It is moral in that we fail to use to advantage the powers and possibilities that God has given us, writes R. F. Beasley in Progressive Farmer.

We can have good roads if we will—we communities acting together. Half a dozen men could volunteer to delegate themselves as leaders in a good roads movement and the people soon would follow them.

A million volunteers will rush to arms to shoot down a million others who have done them no harm; why should not some volunteer to be leaders in the romances of peace and progress?

That was the creed of old Hilary Kingston, chief of the cunning band that robbed the rich to give to the poor, to incite seditions and to arm the rebellious.

Hilary was, seemingly, a respectable member of society, living in a handsome home on the hill with his servants and his beautiful daughter who was reared in lawlessness and taught from childhood the righteousness of her father's tenets.

But when old Kingston was accidentally killed and Elinor succeeded as chief of the band, changes came into the life of the girl.

A False Idea.

"Some people say that motives do not matter so long as we get results," says a local minister. "It is this mistaken notion that furnishes most of the business to our divorce courts." Yes, and it is this false idea that causes nearly all of our embarrassments. The worst failure, however, is the foolish idea that good results can come from mistaken and unguided motives. What men think and feel determines what they are to become and unless motives are grounded in pure reason they are dangerous guides to conduct and to life's greater joys.—Los Angeles Times.

EXCESS OF SALT INJURIOUS

When Too Much Is Fed to Live Stock It Becomes Poisonous—Keep Supply in Handy Place.

The fact that too large an excess of salt when fed to live stock may be poisonous may seem incredible, but it is a fact. It is quite a common thing to see chickens die from an overdose of salt. Do not allow your cows and horses to become salt hungry, as they may eat an overdose when they finally get it. When they have not had access to it for some time it is safer to salt them sparingly at first.

Keep some salt where they may get it at will and they will not then overeat when salted.

DIETARY RULES FOR THE AGED

Total Amount of Food Consumed Must Be Diminished and Vegetables Should Be Used Freely.

Owing to the diversity in extent and character of the senile changes in different individuals, it is impossible to arrange for aged persons a general dietary based upon calories, proteins, etc., but it is possible to make some broad generalizations, and this is what Dr. L. L. Nascher did at a meeting of the Medical Association of the Greater City of New York. The Medical Journal gives the following synopsis of Doctor Nascher's advice:

"The total amount of food must be diminished. With the falling out of the teeth, the amount of meat must be diminished, and it must be thoroughly cooked and finely chopped. Vegetables containing much cellulose should be used freely. Foods should be prepared in a liquid, semi-liquid or mush form, and dry foods, especially smoked foods and nuts, should be avoided.

"Food should not be given at shorter intervals than four or five hours. Mild alcoholics with meals and at bedtime were not objectionable. Old people were apt to overeat when they got some exceptional delicacy, and care must be exercised in this respect."
