LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Lynn B. Williamson gave a party this morning in honor of Mrs. L. Banks Williamson. The guests were requested to bring their knitting or some hand work.

County Superintendent Dr. P. H. Fleming is holding a teacher's examination this week. Examinations began Tuesday, as provided by law.

Rev. B. F. Black of Holland, Va., with Rev. F. C. Lester, Pastor, is conducting a revival service at Graham Christian church. The service commenced Monday evening. Mr. Black was pastor of New Providence church about 18 years ago while he was in school at Elon College.

Hail and Rain.

Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock a heavy dashing rain fell over the county. The hail was very large and did much damage to growing crops.

The cloud came from the West, and it is learned that at and in the vicinity of Gibsonville the fall of hail was very heavy and that vegetation was badly damaged.

Also a heavy hailstorm is reported to have passed over portions of Wayne county yesterday, doing great damage to growing crops.

German Helmet and Bayonet.

Tonight at the Mexican Theatre will be shown a real German helmet and a saw-toothed bayonet 19 inches long. The helmet was picked in Flanders by Sergt. Victor Hagaman, a Canadian soldier. The bayonet is a savage looking affair. On one side it has a double row of saw teeth that would make a vicious wound. It is said the Germans claim it is used for cutting wire entanglements, but it shows it is made to fasten on the muzzle of a gun. At the same time will also be shown pictures of the Kaiser and Crown Prince enlarged from photographs.

To Report to Local Board July 15th.

The men named below are ordered to report to the Local Board for Alamance county, at Graham, for entrainment to Clemson, S. C., July 15, 1918:

Harry Gordon McClure. Orbin C. Hopkins. LeVern T. Waddell. Reid McKinley Glosson. Daniel Worth Malone. Porter Graves Lea.

These men did not want to be drafted—all enlisted in this call. Mr. Glosson is a married man with deferred classification, but he gives this up in order to serve his country.

The old Alamance Fair Grounds will be sold at auction on Monday, August 5th, at Auction.

Mrs. Minnie Graham Aldridge, adm'r's of Levi H. Aldridge—Administratrix's Notice.

At The Mexican.

Billie Burke, the Paramount star, is appearing tomorrow at the Mexican Theatre in a screen adaptation of Alicia Ramsey's "Eve's Daughter" which recently was shown on Broadway with Grace George as star. The screen version was arranged by Margaret Turnbull, while the picture was directed by James Kirkwood. An excellent cast, including Thomas Meighan, William Riley Hatch, Florence Flynn, Lionel Atwill, and others as well known. The story is decidedly different, and the fact that Miss Burke wears frocks of the very latest design adds greatly to the attraction.

The Reformed Outlaw featuring Wm. S. Hart will be shown on Friday night also. Long years hence the "Spirit of '17" will be recalled with a thrill that cannot be expressed in words. Whether we cross "over there" or whether we remain at home, steadfastly and determinedly doing our bit, the spirit that has aroused this great nation and sent its men and its money to fight for the world's future, will win and the men and the women of the future will turn to us.

It is but natural that this spirit should be reflected in the literature, the drama, the screen and the life of today, and so it is in Judge Willis Brown's new photoplay in which clever Jack Pickford is starring at the Mexican Theatre Saturday.

Sunshine Comedy in 2-parts will be shown Saturday with the Spirit of '17.

CALL TO EDUCATE.

Board of Education Urges Giving Children Best Possible Advantages to Meet After-War Demands.

Conscious of the crisis times in which we live and realizing that we must take every precaution possible to prevent depletion of leadership in the coming days, we call upon the progressive people of Alamance, a people far famed for their interest in educational matters, to keep their children in school and to see to it that the schools run on full time.

We are part of the world war, and justly so. But let us not grind our seed-corn in this time. We know that there is a pronounced labor shortage, and consequently that the money reward for service rendered by children is large and ample. We caution our people against yielding to this financial temptation. We urge them to make greater sacrifices than ever to give their children the best possible school advantages, that when victory crowns our arms and the work of reconstruction begins, there may be capable leaders, broad visioned and great souled, to rebuild the world on enduring foundations of lasting stability.

Let our public schools, both of grammar and high school grade, and our colleges, be liberally supported by our people this year. Such a policy will guarantee in perpetuity the dear-bought freedom to be achieved for us by our gallant fighting forces in the world conflict.

SUGAR REGULATION.

County Food Administrator Gives Late Ruling as to Purchases.

Mr. Lynn B. Williamson, County Food Administrator, has furnished for publication late rulings in regard to sugar, which requires all Retailers, Hotels, Restaurants, Boarding-houses, Hospitals, County Homes, and other institutions to apply to the Sugar Division of the Food Administration at Raleigh, for certificates that will enable them to buy.

Without this certificate none of the above users or handlers of sugar will be able to buy. Any applications for the certificates must be made on or before July 15th, and failure to do so will prevent purchase of sugar as certificates will not be issued if application is not made before that date.

The County Administrator would regret any one being out of the use of sugar on account of the failure to make application, but the order cannot be changed, and any one not applying on or before July 15th will not be able to purchase.

Retailers are required to continue to keep an accurate account of every sale made. This record to show the date of sale, name of customer, pounds sold and price.

A NORTH CAROLINA ROAD CONFERENCE.

At Wrightsville Beach, August 7, 8 and 9, 1918.

EVERY PROGRESSIVE NORTH CAROLINIAN HAS A VITAL INTEREST IN THIS CONFERENCE.

There is perhaps no more difficult or vital problem facing our people today than that of transportation. For years the inability of the railroads to handle the business consigned to the Atlantic ports has been recognized. The result of this has been frequent embargoes. To relieve the situation, and, in general, to prevent waste in transportation, the Railroad War Board was established shortly after we entered the war. The results have been excellent and we are now handling great volumes of freight with a measure of success.

We have not yet reached the maximum point in freight transportation however. With the ever growing number of troops sent abroad, there must be a tremendous increase in amount of supplies transferred, first to the Atlantic Seaboard and then to Europe. One of the chief concerns of those in local authority in the States is to solve the question of local transportation of the vast quantities of food and other products to the railroads. In this situation, it is the part of wisdom to take stock of all our transportation resources in order that we may know what alternative facilities are available; how they may be used in case of emergency; and what steps should be taken now to put them in condition for maximum use.

Obviously, the waterways and highways are the two remaining agencies of transportation now available. Sub-committees of the Council of National Defense are also working on the waterway problem. To a limited extent, this committee is looking into the use of highways, particularly as they serve as feeders to the waterway system. The highway problem, however, is so large that it requires special study and should be regarded at the present as an emergency war measure.

Already many of the great trunk highways of the North are helping to solve the transportation problem for hundreds of industries which would have been crippled by rail congestion. In the transportation of farm products the public highways play a vital part. If our systems of highways are not kept up to a maximum efficiency, it is entirely possible that food stuffs, which should go to Europe, may rot on the farm for lack of adequate transportation, and that our fighting strength overseas may be seriously affected because of the difficulty of getting munitions from the inland factories to the seaboard.

North Carolina, as one of the seaboard States, has an especial duty in respect to the highway situation. She may be called upon to furnish highways of such strength as can transport troops and supplies. In any event, the highways of North Carolina will play a most vital part in our State's progress; and it is the prominent duty of the men of this generation to see to it that our State will be in a position to take her place among the most progressive and prosperous of our sister States in the wonderful era which will undoubtedly follow the war. Keen competition is ahead of all peoples, and we want to start in this race with a solid foundation of honest and efficient achievement.

The North Carolina Good Roads Convention which will be held at Wrightsville Beach, August 7, 8 and 9, will offer an opportunity for our most progressive citizens to get together and discuss the problems of road construction and maintenance, and arrive at some general policy through which our State can perform her duty not only in the present crisis, but also fulfill her obligations to the future.

A Georgia woman offers 100 acres of black walnut timber to the Government, for manufacture into gun stocks, "at any price the Government sees fit to pay." Here is a patriot for you.

ANNUAL DELIVERY BILL A MILLION.

Elimination of Useless Delivery Being Promoted by Food Administration—Col. Bob Reinhardt.

Raleigh, July 9.—The annual expense of delivering groceries and other merchandise in the cities and towns in North Carolina is well over a million dollars, according to officials of the food administration who have been investigating the problem and who declare that more than half this expense is unnecessary. Scores of stores operating two and three and four delivery wagons or trucks could dispose of all except one, fixing absolute rigid routes and hours of delivery for their territory.

The Food Administration from the very first has encouraged the "cash and carry" method of doing business and with the labor shortage becoming more and more acute all the time it is promoting in every way possible the elimination of all the man power, horse power, gasoline and other expense of delivery.

State Food Administrator Henry A. Page's attitude with regard to the conservation of labor is well known. No able-bodied man, in Mr. Page's opinion, has any business working at a job which can be filled, and would be gladly filled, by patriotic women and girls.

The elimination of one-half the delivery service in North Carolina could be easily accomplished in the opinion of Mr. Page, and this would add several hundred able-bodied men and boys to the available supply of labor which is needed in essential industries. This has already been accomplished in a large measure by the hotels and restaurants through the substitution of girls and women for men waiters and by a similar process in other industries. This is a very noticeable trend in this direction.

Col. R. S. Reinhardt, not only fathered a resolution in the recent conference of County Food Administrators at Raleigh, declaring that not only the sense of the conference that all delivery service should be curtailed to the greatest possible extent, but he has taken the matter up with the merchants of his own town and the stores of Lincoln as a whole are putting into practical operation the Colonel's ideas. The result will be a material addition to the labor supply available to the farms and industries of Lincoln county and Lincoln town.

Similar movements are in progress in other cities and counties of the State and there is little doubt that the propaganda and influence of the Food Administration, the determined fight upon the part of Gov. Bickett and State officials, and the recent "Work or Fight" order of General Crowder will have a wholesome effect.

Negro Worked Whites to Help the Red Cross.

Moorestown Enterprise. Calvin Ramsey, a well known negro character of the Mazepa neighborhood, has made quite a reputation as a Red Cross fund raiser. Several weeks ago he was at one of the stores at Mount Ulla and a number of white men there knew of Cal's love of "cutting the pigeon's wing," and doing other stunts in the way of fancy dancing. They induced him to cut a few figures and gave him a nickel in price. After his dancing, the white men began teasing Cal about matching for coca-cola. The darkey objected to that but proposed that every man there put something in the Red Cross box, and insisted that every time he put in a nickel the white folks drop in a dime. Cal's banter was accepted and the nickels and dimes began to jingle in the little mite box. Soon Cal raised the limit to 10 cents and then 25 cents, in all raising about $30 before his white friends were "broke."

In a few days Cal returned to Mt. Ulla and began to tease his white friends and chafe them because they had "let the old nigger break them." He pulled his proposition the second time and raised practically $30 again. At any rate, the Red Cross is better off by $60 on account of Cal's liberal hearted perseverance.

UNIVERSITY FOURTH JULY.

Military Training—Choral Concert—Special Institutes.

Cor. of The Gleaner. Chapel Hill, N. C., July 8.—The Fourth of July celebration at the University of North Carolina at summer school was attended by approximately 2,500 visitors who witnessed the patriotic exercises in the morning and the historical pageant in the afternoon. The day's activities were charged with the spirit of patriotism and was brought to a fitting close by the Summer School Dramatic Club presenting the play "The Man Without a Country," showing the duty of a citizen to his country.

Members of the coming junior and senior classes and members of the faculty of the University are, by the new ruling of the war department, eligible to be sent to Plattsburg for 60 days intensive training, beginning July 18th. The object of the act is to prepare them for assistants to the military instructors at the approaching school year. Students who go to the camp will be under temporary enlistment, receiving pay as privates during the time at camp, with allowance of three and a half cents per mile for transportation expenses. This is a part of the War Department's plan for military training in schools and colleges during next year.

The annual choral concert will be given under the direction of Prof. Gustav Lagerdorn, July 10 and 11. Assisted by Miss Marie Torrence, soprano, of New York, and Mr. Charles Hart, tenor, also of New York, the summer school chorus will give Gail's cantata Joan of Arc. The interest in this feature of the summer school activities is great.

Dr. Edwin Greenlaw, Kenan Professor of English at the University, delivered a series of lectures last week on "Five Inter-preters of the Modern Spirit." Dean Thomas M. Ballist of N. Y. University closed a series of lectures on the "Principles of Education." Dr. Edwin Mims of Vanderbilt University is to deliver lectures this week on "Literature as a National Asset" and "American Ideals in American Literature."

The last of the special institutes start the 16th and extend through the 26th. This will be the third institute for the elementary teachers. At the same time the institute for High School Teachers, Principals, Superintendents, and Supervisors will be in session.
