Crowson a few months ago.

Lieut. John D. Kernad, Jr., having received his discharge from the army, reached home Monday night. He left for Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C., on Sept. 5th, 1917, with seven other Alamance boys, the eight comprising the first five percent of the draftees from the county. After winning his commission he was sent to Camp Sevier, then to Camp Pike, Ark., next to A. & M. College, Texas, and from there to San Antonio, Texas, where he received his discharge on 21st inst.

Lieut. F. B. Fowler spoke at the Alamance Theatre last Friday night. He saw real service on the firing line in France. He is not an orator, but a good talker, and his narration of the events he saw and experienced in service was told in a way that his audience gave him the closest attention. He escaped being wounded, but was so severely shell shocked that he has not completely recovered. Many others about him who were shell-shocked died from the effects of the violent concussion of bursting shells.

New Corporations at Mebane.
Two new corporations have recently been formed at Mebane. They are:
Leader Printing Co., the newspaper and job printing plant of Mebane, with authorized capital of $25,000, the incorporators being J. B. Johnston, W. W. Corbett and T. C. Carter.
Dillard Hardware Co., authorized capital $50,000, and C. A. Dillard, W. T. Dillard and W. W. Corbett, incorporators.

Those budding 1920 presidential possibilities that have been "mentioned" thus far, have been mentioned in mere whispers.

That peppery attack by the Poles on Germany adds somewhat to the flavor of Europe's international hash.

SOLDIER LETTER

U. S. Navy Base Hospital No. 1, Station 2, Leith Scotland, December 18, 1918.

Written to Lon. G. Turner, Graham, N. C.

Just a few lines from Bonnie Scotland, the land of fog and rain, toothless girls and bum wine, to let you know that I am still in the land of the living, in the best of health and O. K.

Landed in Portsmouth, England, November 8, and was transferred to Southampton to await transportation to France to join a Marine Regiment. Was in that city when the glad news that the Kaiser had jumped ship came, and let me say right here that when it comes to celebrating, that these people win  We were the only Americans in the city at the time and you can just bet we were given a good time and shown all the courtesies due to the Yankee fleet. Boy, it was great!

Arrived in London just at the time that the celebrating was at its height. I know that you people over there were glad when the news came, and did some celebrating, but there are no words that can describe the joy these people showed. Everywhere the streets were crowded and it seemed to me that all of Europe had gone mad and that every "Blithering Limy" would have to be put in a straight jacket until the Kaiser took carbolic and finished hisself.

Speaking of London, that is some town. Of course, on account of the war, there are some things in London as well as Paris that they are shy of just now, but there is one necessity that has failed to become exhausted as yet that is—Girls! I thought that there were more in Paris than there is water in the Atlantic, but London's got Paris tied to the flagpole when it comes to dames. The English queens are king out too; none of them would have to go hungry on account of not knowing book keeping. They've all got complexion like the lady on a massage cream can and more curves than a scenic railway. They have taken all the jobs that the men did while the men were away assassinating the Hun, and do everything from flunting bar to running munition plants. The only thing that they lack to make them as good looking as our girls is "teeth" I haven't seen but three teeth in England (and they were in a show window).

We stopped at the Savoy Hotel while we were there but as there was so much doing in the town, I didn't even go to my room. We went through the Piccadilly Circus on our way to the hotel, and I have never seen so much traffic without any one regulating it. Instead of turning to the right as we do in the states, they turn to the left. The cars are funny little things and look as if they might have come from the toy department of some big store. The bodies are about the size of one of those three shilling dinners, and wheels like the washers on a sink. I could write a volume about the peculiarities of the city, so won't undertake it here.

Our next move was to Edinburgh, the finest city in the British Isles; and found the same thing that we had seen every where else. The people all raving mania. The King and Queen, prince of Wales and the rest of the royal family, including the Ace, Jack, and ten visited the city the same day that we arrived and you can imagine how he was received, as this was his first visit to the city since 1914.

Have been on duty here a month now and have already had a seven day leave. There has not been enough work to do to even consider, as all the men that were sick or wounded "got well" just as soon as the glad news was received.

As for myself, I have just returned from a seven day leave in the Highlands, where I visited the most historical places in Scotland, including Sterling Castle, and Sterling, Holly Rood and the famous old Edinburgh Castle in Larberl, John Knox's old home, the reformer. Also visited Glasgow, Perth, Dumferline, Pirrig and several smaller places including Robt. Burns' home at Alloway Ayr, and the birth place of Harry Lauder near Loch Lomond, where Scott found the Lady of the Lake. Have had the pleasure of visiting several of the German battle ships and submarines that are laying in this port. Was aboard the U-Boats U-70 and UB-92. Their history and all their inside Hunish deeds are put up just as so that all who go aboard may see what they have done.

MODERN STRATEGY

All life-time is a school of strategy—a game of war upon germs and tendencies which, unless thwarted, weaken the system and invite disease.

Modern health-strategy dictates the use of

as a reliable means of thwarting the enemies of strength.

Scott's is Nature's ally and its rich tonic and strength supporting properties are known with satisfaction, to millions.

THE U-70 IS THE MOST FAMOUS OF ALL SHE HAS SUNK THIRTY-ONE MERCHANTS, FOUR DESTROYERS, AND ONE BATTLESHIP, IT BEING NOT OTHER THAN OUR OWN, THE SAN DEIGO THAT WAS SUNK OFF NEW YORK LAST SUMMER WHILE SHE WAS TERRORIZING THE PEOPLE ON OUR SIDE OF THE ATLANTIC. SHE IS 225 FEET LONG AND A BEAUTY.

Guess I have said enough tonight, and besides I can't begin to say all I want to in a letter, so will close for this time. Guess we will be back within a few weeks as the British are preparing to take over the hospital about the first of the year. There is some rumor or our unit going to Archangel, Russia, to take care of the boys (sailors) that are fighting the Bolsheviks, but it is not official as yet.

Kindest regards to all the boys and the old home town— Say, you know that I have seen lots of this old world, and the more I see of it, especially Europe, the more I realize what a wonderful place we live in, and also how lucky we all are to be Americans and "GRAHAM" is by far the best town in all America. Get that! She has no equal.

Must close now and do my little "two hours duty."

Here's wishing you a very Merry Xmas and Happy New Year and that I may see you soon.

Your friend, EARL W. MOORE, Pharm. Mate.

CHURCHES REPORT BY SOVIET PAPER

"THE DEVIL" IS TITLE OF NEW PUBLICATION BEGUN BY PETROGRAD SOVIETS.

BOLSHEVIST DEFEAT A ROUT

Estonian Advance Guards Will Not Attack Petrograd Until Outside Help Can Reach Them.

Helsingfors—Under title of "The Devil," a new paper is being published in Petrograd by the Soviets for the sole purpose of attacking churches and religion in general. The first number contains an article by Lunacharsky, commissioner of education, announcing a plan to close 60 churches in Petrograd.

Other articles show the authorities intend to impose a special tax on churchgoers. Religious teaching in schools is forbidden.

Recent speeches by Lenin and Trotsky to the central Moscow soviet are regarded as preliminary to a complete surrender by the bolsheviks. Both leaders confessed the economic system of bolshevism communism was bankrupt, especially in relation to industrial production, finance and the food question.

They said the time has come to invite exports of the middle class to cooperate with the Soviets on an acceptable basis. A similar invitation was addressed to the intellectuals, who declared they stood outside the civil war. On the question of foreign policy, Trotsky declared the soviet government would, under certain conditions, give up its internationalist aims for the time being and raise the banner "Russia for Russians."

The bolshevist defeat at Narva has become a rout. The Estonian advance guards are only 70 miles from Petrograd. They intend to push on to Luga and Plesna rivers, thus encircling Pskoff, but have not intended to attack Petrograd without outside help.

HAMBURG AND BREMEN PEOPLE ARE ANXIOUS AND INDIGNANT

Amsterdam—The acceptance by the German armistice commission of the demand by the allies for the delivery of the German merchant fleet is causing both indignation and anxiety in Hamburg and Bremen. A meeting of protest was held at Hamburg, according to The Berlin Vossische Zeitung. All the trade interests and representatives of the sailors took part in the meeting, which was very largely attended.

The meeting adopted a resolution against the action which has been taken. The resolution declared that the government would not ratify the agreement and that it would make preparation for the reopening of the discussion of the question by the joint commission of German experts and representatives of the entente.

MANY DIVISIONS AMERICAN TROOPS CHANGE LOCATIONS

Washington—Locations of the divisions of the American expeditionary forces on January 2 with the names of the present division commanders was made public by the war department. The new list shows that Major General Charles B. Rhodes, Peter E. Traud, Leroy S. Lyon and Charles E. Martin have been relieved of their commands.

The 57th is now under Brigadier General William E. Martin, the 90th under Brigadier General John P. O'Neill and the 93d under Brigadier General James B. Erwin. The 34th and 5th are temporarily without regular detailed general officers.

No changes are indicated in the composition of the army of occupation, which still numbers tentatively 12 divisions, the 1st, 2d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 23d, 32d, 42d, 79th, 89th and 90th.

HUN TROOPS FROM RUSSIA DENOUNCE BOLSHEVISM

Warsaw—The majority of the German soldiers returning from Russia, although they quarrel among themselves, denounce bolshevism. Many of them declare that as soon as they spend a few weeks at home, they will be willing to return and fight the bolsheviks on the eastern frontier of Germany. They declare, however, that they are not willing to fight the invaders for the benefit of the Poles.

BOLSHEVIKI CONTINUE TO SHELL THE AMERICAN FORCES.

Archangel—The bolsheviks are continuing their shelling of the American positions at Ust Padengia, 30 miles south of Shenskoyk, and the American artillery is replying to the enemy fire. The infantry attack which the bolsheviks were expected to make failed to materialize.

Peasants say that the bolsheviks suffered 500 casualties in the infantry attack of January 19, leaving many wounded who froze to death.

It is announced that 83 detachments have finally set the peace table and it will probably take some time to serve all of them to their satisfaction.

Thirty-one thousand Bolsheviki captives says a headline that would be cruel and unusual punishment to set them all to work; but let us hope that will be their fate anyway.

Farmers of the South are advised, in a statement issued by the department of agriculture, that it will be wise to adjust cotton acreage this year so as to have available sufficient land to produce enough food and feed for their families and livestock.

The department of agriculture says that the 1919 yield of cotton will be increased by two million bales on the same acreage, because labor will be easier to employ.

To solve the problem of unemployed discharged soldiers, the war department has ordered that no man be discharged from the army against his desire until such time as he can obtain profitable employment in civil life.

The annual agricultural appropriation bill, carrying $1,491,500,000, is being considered by the senate and providing for continuation of government cooperation with states in employing more than two thousand county farm extension agents, has been favorably reported to the house.

Joseph B. Eastman of Massachusetts has been appointed to be a member of the interstate commerce commission, which appointment has been confirmed by the senate.

A dispatch from Bordeaux, France, says that Misses Gladys and Dorothy Cromwell, sisters of New York, leaped from the rail of the French steamer La Lorraine as the steamer was in the Gironde river, bound for New York, and that both were drowned. Their bodies have not been recovered.

After a week of spirited debate, the senate, by a vote of 82 to 18, passed the administration bill appropriating one hundred million dollars for food relief in Europe and the near east. The measure now goes to conference for adjustment of minor senate amendments, but leaders believe final enactment will be accomplished before the first of February.

During the course of an address by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood before the Kansas legislature for a system of universal training for national defense, he frequently quoted the sayings of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and as calmly referred to "the next war" and the necessity of getting ready for it as if he were talking to friends at the dinner table. The general said his plan was to train the youth not more than six months.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston made an address to the American National Live Stock Association in session at Denver, Colo. He said: "I go beyond the point of arguing about regulation of stock yards. We do not want the distribution of meat from the time production is planned on the range until the finished product is delivered to the consumer left in the hands of a few men." Referring to the charge that he is a "paternalist," he said: "For my part I want less paternalism and more freedom."

The land-grab game got a black-eye in the meeting of the council of the great powers and military commanders on all the fronts. The council issues a solemn warning to the world that the possession of territory gained by force will seriously prejudice the claims of those who use such means and set up sovereignty by coercion. This declaration was framed by President Wilson.

The strength of the forces to be maintained during the length of the armistice will be determined shortly by the council of the great powers and military commanders on all fronts.
