

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royce City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last much longer... I had a chance for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The zalsury in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

CODE BOOK PLANTED TO FOOL GERMANS

British "Naval Secrets" Fall Into Hands of Enemy at Zeebrugge.

Another good spy story has just been revealed on Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, chief of the British naval spy system, who recently resigned. It is the story of the "code book bluff," and is even better than the other anecdotes concerning him.

It was before the Zeebrugge operations began that Admiral Hall gave instructions for the printing of a new and elaborate code book. The book was duly compiled. It was neatly bound, and so that should not look too new was carefully thumbed in many places. Of course all the codes in the book were wrong and very misleading to any German who might get hold of it. But that is what the admiral wanted.

When the Zeebrugge raid was settled upon and the vindictive went over with the blockships this "valuable" code book was carefully placed in one of the blockships where it was likely to be quickly discovered.

The day after the raid the book was found by the Hun. No doubt they were delighted with such an important find and thought that our men had had no time to remove it before the ship's bottom was blown out.

A few days later, having given the Germans time to digest the code, a carefully compiled message was flashed across the channel and duly picked up by the enemy. But it is feared that it must have badly misled them as to the intentions of the British.

MAN RESIGNS OFFICE

He has been a Deputy Sheriff for thirty-nine years.

Henry Husk, a pioneer resident of Shabbona, Ill., that just resigned as deputy sheriff, a position that he has filled since 1880.

The resignation was one of the incidents of his celebration of the sixty-third anniversary of his wedding and closed a continuous career of public service which began in 1860, when he was appointed bailiff and collector of taxes.

He is eighty-four years old and as vigorous as the average man of fifty.

He prides himself, among other things, on his record as a reader of the Chicago Daily Journal, for which he has been a subscriber since 1870, considering it fitting that the oldest inhabitant of Shabbona should be a reader of the oldest newspaper, not only of Illinois but of the Northwest.

Mr. Husk arrived here in June, 1948, four years after the Journal had been established. At that time the Indian chief, Shabbona, for whom the village was named, and his tribe were in possession.

The chief and Mr. Husk were great friends and many times smoked the pipe of peace together.

SOIL FROM FRANCE

Earth for Filling Purposes About Statue of Liberty

Here is a striking instance of thrift manifesting itself in poetical justice. The tiny island in New York harbor on which stands Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty is being enlarged. The soil used for filling-in purposes comes from France. It is the debris from the trenches, military railway lines, warehouses and wharves. It was brought to America as ballast for the transports that carried our mighty legions of liberty to France.

Thus is mingled the soil of the two republics as a setting for the world's most typical symbol of liberty, just as the bodies of thousands of American sons are today mingled with the soil of France under the crosses where they lie. In this humble yet beautiful demonstration of the kindred ideals of the two nations, American thrift, which did so much to make victory possible, was the underlying impulse.

Purpose to Make Tientsin New York of China, Says Commissioner Yang I-tch

Tientsin is to become China's New York, according to General Yang I-tch, commissioner of the Native City. "I am trying to eliminate beggary by Tientsin by education and industry," said the general recently.

"We are starting on the new San Tiao Shih cutting, which is part of the general plan for the conservation of the river systems of Chihli," continued General Yang. "This cutting will include several streets. We are already tearing down the houses and building the tracks for the miniature railway. About 800 rooms in all will be reserved for the new cutting. But this does not matter. When the river is moved from its present bed and is forced to flow through the cuttings we shall have reclaimed much valuable land. It will then be possible for us to build new and clean houses there. We shall lay the reclaimed-land out in the most modern fashion, to hope to make Tientsin the New York of China."

Ohio Shakers Producers of First Poland-China Hogs

The Poland-China hog originated in Butler and Warren counties, Ohio. In 1810 the Society of Shakers, in Warren county, brought some breeding hogs from Philadelphia. Some of them were pure white and others white, with black spots. They were sold to the Shakers as of pure Chinese blood and were called Big Chinas. In 1872 a committee of the National Swine Breeders' congress reported against the theory that Chinas had been crossed with Poland, but as the name Poland-China was in general use advised that it be retained.

Move to Bar German-Made Goods

Over seven hundred stores in New York are displaying the signs of the American Defense society, which read, "No German Made Goods Sold Here," and an active campaign is being conducted by the women's national committee of the society to extend the work.

Toasted Potatoes Regarded Good Substitute for Bread

The United States this year, it appears, will have to feed practically all of Europe. Every suggestion for conservation of food and variation in preparation is welcome and an article in Good Housekeeping has special value in this connection. To quote: "It is plainly a patriotic duty to use potatoes as a bread substitute. The nearest approach to conventional methods of cooking potatoes for a bread substitute is, of course, a perfectly baked potato, but a perfectly baked potato is rare as a day in June.

"Even a perfectly baked potato served at the psychological moment does not give that subtle sense of bread function that the piece of bread or toast, held in hand affords.

"Prepare good-sized potatoes as if to bake, being more scrupulously careful than usual to scrub and cleanse the skin carefully and remove all blemishes and spots. Cut the perfectly cleaned potato lengthwise into slices one-fourth of an inch thick. Put the slices loosely into a wire basket or steamer and steam until they are properly 'tender'—that is, until they are in part but not completely cooked. If they are completely cooked by the steam, they are of no particular value as a bread substitute. As a rule, about ten minutes' steaming is adequate. After this initial steaming, dry the slices well between clean towels and toast as you would slices of bread, or put them in a wire basket or perforated pan and bake in a very hot oven until the slices are delicately browned on both sides. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Serve as you would toast. The skins can be removed before serving or while eating, but if one is a connoisseur, a real test of his palate is to eat them all.

"The value of salads in the diet. Salads are invaluable in the diet as they supply water, mineral salts, acids, cellulose and flavor when prepared from vegetables and fruits. Meat, fish, eggs and cheese supply protein and fat while starchy vegetables furnish fuel food. The salad dressings are an important part of the salad as regards nutrition, for they are valuable fuel foods.

The materials used in making salad are: Raw vegetables, cooked vegetables, eggs, meat, fish, cheese, nuts and fruit. With such a variety from which to choose, there is no need of monotony.

Chinese Also Have "Kicks" On the Telephone Service

China is learning fast. Where a few years ago the telephone would be considered an invention of the devil now listen to this wall from a native business man to a Tientsin paper: "Can we hope for any improvement in the long-distance telephone situation? A few days ago I called up Peking about 3 p. m. and was informed that there were 60 calls ahead of me, and that there were only three

This picture shows the fine spirit and morale of our boys which had so much to do with the quick termination of the war. From left to right, Sergeants Charles L. Blair, Walter E. Ringer, Guy Wilson and Harold Sancier, veterans returning on the Leviathan, which recently departed at her pier at Hoboken, each wounded in the left arm. They formed a quartette which did much toward keeping up the spirit of everyone returning from battle-scarred France aboard the Leviathan.

Live Stock Should Be Well Treated

Prices Are High, and It Will Pay to Feed Generously and Protect All Animals From the Weather

Farm animals that are shabbily wintered—the idea being to fatten them and sell them early the next summer or in the fall—do not thrive or give a profitable account of themselves, writes DeWitt C. Wing in Breeder's Gazette. Poorly sheltered, stung and compelled to drink ice-cold water, they become stunted. The severe weather of the winter months in the corn belt and elsewhere is hard on live stock, even when comfortable housing, generous feeding and an abundance of clean, temperate water are provided.

Animals kept to do farm work, to breed, to make meat or to produce milk are worth more than they have been in a long time. They will be worth still more when grass comes.

Shelter is essential; it is a form of feed. It saves body heat by keeping animals warm and dry. Body heat is made with feed. Shelter, therefore, conserves feed. Inexpensive sheds, in the absence of well-equipped, modern barns and stables, will serve the purpose fairly well. Straw and corn stover can be used in walling up and sealing the ends and north sides of such improvised structures, which usually open to the south.

A beast worth wintering is worth wintering well, even on high-priced feed. All young stock should be fed more liberally, pound for pound, than mature animals. Both classes require a lot of roughage. Clover, alfalfa and cowpea hay, which are rich in protein, should be generously dealt out to young stock. Adult animals may be wintered largely on other hays, silage, corn fodder and corn stover (cut and hauled to them, or standing in fields).

Pigs, in order to thrive and make the best returns, must have plenty of protein feeds, like skim milk, bran, tankage and cowpea or soy-bean meal, which make muscle (lean meat) and bone; they must also have corn to make body heat.

Water from holes in the ice on a pond, creek or tank requires a lot of feed (fuel) to warm it when drunk by an animal. The best water for stock in the winter is pumped daily from depths at which its temperature is comparatively high. With practically nothing green or succulent to eat in winter, all classes of stock require much more water than they will drink if they are compelled to take it ice cold.

FOR POULTRY GROWERS

The farmers of the United States lose each year large sums because of improper methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third of this loss is easily preventable. It is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs, according to the United States department of agriculture.

The late hatch of a hen may be either fertile or infertile, depending on whether or not the male bird has been allowed to run with the female. A fertile egg is one in which the germ has been fertilized by the male bird. Except for this process of fertilization the male bird has no influence upon the eggs which the hen lays. Egg production is equally great in flocks from which roosters are excluded.

A fertile egg does not keep as well as an infertile one because the fertilized germ responds more readily to high temperatures than the unfertilized one. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or to cause a blood ring to form in one. Such eggs are much more likely to reach the table in good condition and there is less spoilage in shipments composed entirely of them than in mixed shipments of fertile and infertile eggs.

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Poultry growers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought, and will add dollars to the poultry-yard returns:

1. Keep the nests clean, provide one for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

PITH AND POINT

What Folks Might Say.

"I'm not in the least disappointed about you, Mrs. Naylor. Everybody told me that you were a regular busy-body."

"Go on you old hippopotamus! Can't you see you are blocking the entrance for 1,000,000 people besides me?"

"I like your story first rate, Scribner. The plot is rotten and the style would shame a high-school pupil, but otherwise it's all right."

"Tommy, you may go home and tell your mother I shopped you because you are a regular little nuisance whose parents don't know how to bring up a child!"

Try it.

First Mother—How do you get Harold to wash his wrists?

Second Mother—Oh, I bought him a wrist watch and he can't afford to look to see what time it is and then show his dirty wrists.

An Inspiration Recognized.

"What is your opinion of government ownership?"

"Its possibilities are brilliant," replied Senator Sorghum; "I think that in the near future it is going to prove one of our most brilliant topics of conversation."

Done on Purpose.

"That man always manages to say the wrong thing."

"I have noticed it," replied Miss Cayenne. "He seems to realize that it is the only way for him to be suspected of having an original thought."

Venom.

Edith—Are you going to return Jack's ring?

Marie (who has just broken her engagement)—I haven't decided. I suppose he'll propose to you now, and I thought Ed just had to offer you to you to save both.

Snappy.

She—I haven't been able to get a copy of your book.

He—Perhaps you didn't try the right places.

She—I went to a book store. Where should I have tried, at a junk shop?

Canned and Dried Fruits to Endow Hospital Beds

From proceeds derived chiefly from the sale of canned and dried fruits, farm women's clubs in West Virginia contributed $2,100 for the endowment of hospital beds for wounded soldiers in France. During the past summer they canned for this purpose 20,000 quarts from materials formerly allowed to waste. Nineteen of the thirty-one counties put away for winter use 1,500,000 quarts. Farm women's clubs in this state took the lead in the use of substitutes, thereby releasing a very considerable amount of food.

HERE AND THERE

In counting the cost it never seems necessary to allow for shrinkage.

Some people couldn't even drive a nail without getting crooked work.

The game laws provide no closed season for those who are hunting trouble.

The only use some people have for pleasant weather is to put something by for a rainy day.

It's one thing to take things as they come, but quite another matter to grab them on the go.
