BERRE Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardul, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. —— had us get Cardul. . . I began improving, and it cured me. 1 know, and my doctor knows, what Cardul did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

LAST DAYS OF KAISER AT SPA

Guard Tells of the Escape of German Ex-Ruler.

QUITS A TRAIN FOR BERLIN

It Stops in Open Country and th Amazed Body-Guard See War Lord Fice in Automobile—Erzberger and Scheidemann Treat William as a Grown-Up Child-Mad Scramble to Leave Spa When End Comes.

Some day the tragi-comedy of the ex-kaiser's flight will assuredly be known in all its details and will prove one of the most humanly interesting, if not one of the most edifying, epi-General Secretary John R. Mott, o sodes in history, writes Julian Grande in New York Times. In all proba-bility, however, many of those who would find this narrative most absorbtion granted Dr. Mott, whose home is in New York City. The telegram signed by Edouard deBilly, Deputy High Commissioner, was as follows: ing will no longer be here to read it when it appears. Any eyewitness' ac-count, therefore, of William's last hours as kaiser cannot but arouse at-tention, especially if it bear every "I take pleasure in notifying you that the French government has conferred upon you the title of Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur. Please accepi my heartlest congratulations."

The National War Work Council under Dr. Mott's supervision, in addi-tion to its labors among the American Expeditionary Forces, has maintained

This particular eyewitness was a German acting color sergeant, who, with his company, was on guard outside the Belgian castle at Spa where William Hohenzollern had his quarters when the ultimatum, concerning his abdicawas delivered by Erzberger, Scheiemann, and the rest.

One day this eyewitness noticed the kaiser walking with some one else in the grounds of his residence, and over-to him:

"Seems 1848 all over again, just the same political conjuncture! But that's not saving it'll end so tragically." To which the kaiser replied fre-quently, "Ja, ja."

This conversation took place on the morning after the famous six motor cars with Erzberger, Scheldemann and company had returned from the French front at 11 p. m., bearing the armis tice conditions, which apparently were not taken so very tragically, for these gentry were heard laughing and crack-ing jokes about them with the kaiser.

Treat Kaiser as Child. The interview of the kaiser with Scheidemann, Erzberger and company will perhaps one day be made known. one thing is certain. Even at that William Hohenzollern seemed to fail to realize the situation, and Erzberger and Scheidemann did not unde-ceive him. In other words, they treated him as a grown-up child.

On the day after the armistice terms were made known to the kaiser, a Thursday, the atmosphere in Spa must have been exceedingly electric, for our eyewitness tells us that his regiwas fully armed and always on picket duty, and that it was only cause they were well provided with hand grenades that any sort of order

Hindenburg thought it prudent to issue an order to form soldiers' councils.

Apparently the company to which this eyewitness belonged must gui have been considered the most fall ful of all, for he himself left with the same train that had Hindenburg or board and what was left of the ge eral staff. Hindenburg apparently kept his head, or rather tried to keep sued orders for the formation of solders councils, however, he would probably not have kept his head very . long-in the literal sense of the phrase. 65 Per Cent of Fires of Country Are Declared Due to Preventable Causes

The losses by fire in the United States and Canada during the year 1917, as compiled from the records 1917, as compiled from the record of the Journal of Commerce and Com mercial Bulletin, aggregate $267,273,-300, the heaviest of any year in the history of the country except 1906, when the great San Francisco conflagration swelled the total to $450,-710,009. The 1917 record is nearly $36,000,000 in excess of the previous year's figures and over $84,000,000 larger than the fire losses of 1915.

The world war was a contributing factor in 1917's unusual record. In some instances where the heaviest war munition losses occurred there was little or no insurance against fire carried, and the underwriters, there-fore, made a lucky escape. The notable munition plant losses included the Canadian Car and Foundry's plant at Kingsland, N. J., favolving a loss of $12,000,000; the DuPont Powder plant at Haskell, N. J., causing $1,500,000 loss; the munition plant of the Union Switch and Signal company at Pitts-burgh, causing a loss of $4,200,000, and the Washburn Wire works at New York city, with a loss of $1,100,000. The aggregate fire waste of the United States and Canada during the past 40 years, from 1878 to 1917, inclusive, reaches the appalling total of $6,480,267,560, showing an annual average property destruction of $162,006,698. It is generally conceded by those who make a study of fire loss causes that fully 65 per cent of the fires of this country are due to pre-ventable causes. On this basis of calculation the preventable fire losses of the country during the past 40 years reach the total of $4,212,173,900
