LIEUT.-GOV. GARDNER.

A good audience at the Graded ol auditorium heard Lieut.-Gov. Max O. Gardner last Saturday. All Educational Day which was held who could crowd into the room here in the Graded School Buildard him. The report of the day's exercises elsewhere in this paper tells some of the things he said.

If a, m. by prayer led by Rev. Dr. A. R. Shaw, pastor of the Many Alamance people have before heard him in political speeches and furnished by Elon Brass Band, exercises elsewhere in this paper role he is no finer than he is as an cational day speaker. His autened appreciatively. Many were glad to hear him also because he is just now being prominently mentioned in connection with the rnorship of the State for 1920. He left the impression that he is more schools and better schools able to do his part in any contest.

Said Mr. Simonds, one of the most interesting of war correspondents and critics, a few short weeks ago in starting one of his letters, "The League of Nations is dead." No doubt he was speakis dead." No doubt he was speaking his honest belief, but he made "ignorance set on fire." It first a mistake. It was at a critical manifests itself in vicious discontime in the Peace Conference de-liberations. He had not taken noble, discontent is a healthy the proper measurement of President Wilson, who stood by his program till it was carried out. Simonds was not alone in his estimate. The articles of the League have been adopted and Wilson has won out.

The Old Kaiser perhaps harbor ed the thought that he was safe in Holland and that he would not be molested. But his time is for the part he took in the world Imperial German Government will also be tried by a competent court. However severe the penalty that will be meted out to the fomenters of the unparalleled butchery it will fall immeasurably short of what the felons deserve.

Col. Don E. Scott Talks to His Hon Folks About the War.

COURT HOUSE PACKED TO HEAR

The big crowd that filled the court case last Thursday night and the say who could not get so much as adding room was a fine tribute id Col. Don E. Scott just back om the war. The presence of such throng of the home folks who had sown him from his babyhood was pre slooguent than spoken words. ore eloquent than spoken words. Ion College Band was present and we patriotic music. Mayor Heenan Hughes opened the meeting with an appropriate and thrilling speed...
Next Mr. E. S. Parker, Jr., gave Col. Scott an eloquent introduction. n Col. We will not attempt to follow up the account he gave of his men, and himself, all of which reflected the utmost credit upon them as valorous soldiers who shirked no duty. He was interesting, intensely so, and he withheld no credit from the brave boys, the heroes, who fought with him and achieved a big share of the glory of breaking the Hindenburg Line. At the close many pressed forward for a hearty handshake.

Happy soccasi activation and and say od dinner enjoyed.

At 2 p. m. exercises were reopened with music by the band and all joined in the community singing.

Reading, Declamation, and Recitation contests followed. The judges for the reading contest were: Miss Byrd Dailey, Miss Lola Cooper, and Miss Lorena Garrett, The contestants were, Naomi Howr, despite the fact that a gale of from 20 to 30 miles was blowing.
