WONDERFUL STEPPING STONES

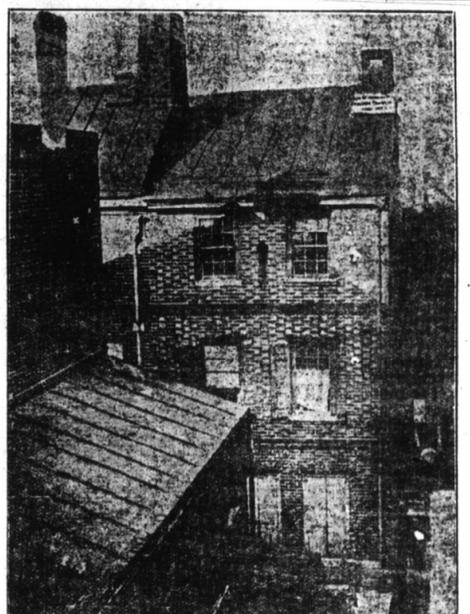

MISER SAVER BIG SUM BUT ONLY TO LOSE IT

Man Did Not Follow Principles of Thrift—Sole Idea Was to Hoard His Money, Spending Nothing. A modern Midas of Chicago, who had accumulated $300,000 by never spending anything, recently was declared incapable of handling his affairs. He became incapable not because he amassed $300,000 but because of the way he accumulated it. He estranged his family, went to bed with the chickens to avoid spending money on lights and lived on $55 a year. Then he ran afoul of the puzzling income tax law and now his children are to handle his beloved savings. This modern Midas was not a thrifty man. He was a miser. True thrift enhances and increases the wealth of the world. Hoarding money benefits neither the miser nor his fellows. Wise spending is as essential as wise saving, and wise investment is as important as either; wise spending for the comforts and pleasures of life as well as the necessities makes for the thriffter life and stimulates production. Wise investment makes possible the creation of new wealth. The miser saves but spends nothing. He secures only the meager satisfaction of watching his pile of money grow. The wise exponent of thrift spends wisely he would have had years of comfort and happiness instead of years of quiet and want. If he had saved wisely he would have had the love and respect of his family and associates. If he had invested wisely he would have been competent to handle his own affairs. "Waste not—want not" is still the modern axiom of thrift but "want not" must not be interpreted to mean not wanting the things that make life worth the living. Don't be a modern Midas.

FIVE DEPARTMENTS ARE AIDING THRIFT

Government Bureaus Are Co-operating to Promote Widespread Savings Among All Classes of People. Co-operation and co-ordination of government departments in aid of the national movement to promote regular saving, wise buying, sound investment and reinvestment are shown in a recent report to the Treasury Department. Five departments—Treasury, Labor, Commerce, Agriculture and the Interior—are always carrying out plans characteristic of their special domains of work designed to accomplish the general aim—thrift. Not only are the same principles held in common, but ideas and material are interchanged and employed to further the particular lines of each department's work. In the Treasury Department the Savings Division is endeavoring to bring home the value of sensible economy as a principle of living; to interpret thrift, not as miserliness, but as the wise management of one's affairs, taking heed of present and future needs and steadily saving for worthwhile purchases, to take advantage of an opportunity or against a rainy day. The Savings Division offers the Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps a practical inducement to acquiring the power of a financial reserve. Realizing that saving is greatly stimulated by having a definite object in view, the Department of Labor has launched an OWN YOUR HOME movement. The Department of Commerce, in conjunction with the Council of National Defense, is engaged in a BUY NOW, BUT ONLY WHAT YOU NEED, campaign. The Department of Agriculture has undertaken to have its county agents and home demonstration agents, numbering several thousand men and women, include the message of thrift in all their work. In the Department of the Interior the Bureau of Education is making thrifft an important part of its school organization program and of its schools and library work. The Indian Bureau has issued material and called on all agents to assist in bringing home the value of intelligent saving and safe investment to the Indian service.

Franklin's Spring Street Home in Philadelphia

Within a few blocks of the Friends' Burying Ground in which lies the body of Benjamin Franklin, whose picture adorns the 1919 issue of War Savings Stamps, is a quaint three-story brick dwelling, one of the places where the inventor-philosopher lived while in Philadelphia. The house is in Spring Street, in the center of Colonial life in the Quaker City. It is in excellent state of preservation. The 125th anniversary of Franklin's death will be commemorated April 17. Franklin's thrifty sayings did much to stimulate among the American people the habits of wise buying, sane saving, secure investment and avoidance of waste.

Your Village And Mine

It is just a typical American village—perhaps yours or the one in the next county. It has two churches and a hotel and there is the "corner" where the men gather after supper to consider politics and "the state of the Union." Its population is about 2,000. When war was declared it gave its sons with a glad heart, and they marched away bravely—many with a sob in the throat, perhaps, but with a splendid vision guiding their feet. From the training camp these boys went to France and were moved up to the battle line. The Hun was making a desperate effort to destroy civilization in a bloody drive on Paris. Then— The richest man in the village met the hotel barber and they gripped hands in silence. Their two sons lay dead in the Argonne. The village butcher boy—red-headed and Irish—smiled for the last time. He died fighting that freedom might not perish. The town's Beau Brummel—he had never amounted to much—won the Croix de Guerre—but lost both eyes. Gas claimed the son of the widow who lived in the little green cottage. At first she could not speak when she received the brief telegram. Then—"John was all I had. I hoped he would come back. If I had two sons I would give them too." That was all. But— America as a whole never felt the real hand of war—not as France felt it—nor as England—nor even as Canada. Why? Because our dollars stopped the war. They made possible those tremendous preparations for a long war that resulted in a short war. Never was such a stupendous assemblage of munitions. Germany wilted. Thousands of millions of dollars were saved. But best of all, tens of thousands of American boys were saved. America prepared on faith. America holds its dollars cheaper than it valued its sons. The war is over. Victory is ours. America escaped the frightful burden of debt which would have been ours if the war had lasted two years longer. We still have those dollars in our pockets. And the boys are coming home. But the debts the government did contract—the debts that won the war—must be paid. They will be paid. America has pledged its faith, and the faith of America has never been questioned. We are now asked to lend the government some of those unpaid dollars. We still have in our pockets, and to secure the loan, Victory Liberty Bonds will be issued—the safest in the world. Then let our hearts—and our purses—say how thankful we are that, perhaps, half a million American boys were saved.

POULTRY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Boys and Girls Who Take an Interest in Chickens Should Be Given Chance to Raise Them. Poultry raising appeals to the young people in many instances. The boys and girls who like poultry and would like to take an interest in fowls should have a chance to raise poultry and use the income as they please. Parents often may help their children to become successful in this way.

HE HAD THE GRIT THAT WON THE WAR

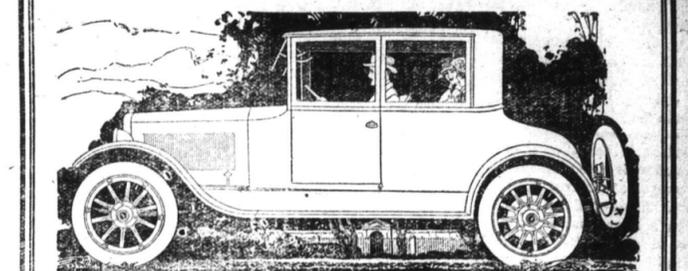

Cartier Glass, secretary of the treasury, copied the following note, among others, from the note book of a Red Cross nurse when he was in France: "One boy I shall always remember. His right shoulder was practically shot off and he had a gun wound in his back and one in his left eye. But he sat straight up and wouldn't let anybody help him. He didn't say a word while they pulled off the tight clinging gauze from the raw, wet flesh that quivered in spite of him. When the first wound was patched all he said was: "Do you think I could rest a minute, Doc, before you do the second one?" "Red, raw, wet flesh," American flesh. It was not yellow. Think of that when you are asked to buy Victory Liberty bonds, you who think you have done enough."

PICKING UP THAT PIN

A story of E. H. Harriman, who died leaving an estate of $75,000,000, credits him with one day picking up a small steel letter clip dropped on the floor by a careless employee. "I'd like to have as my annual income," said Mr. Harriman, "the value of material thrown away every year by indifferent workers in the offices and factories of America. In a few years I'd be the richest man in the world."

"LIKE UM" and "LICK UM"

From faraway Tulsa, Okla., comes the story that War Savings Stamps are tremendously popular among the Indians who have grown rich from oil wells discovered on their properties.

"Stick-em-on" competitions are popular among the Indian Rockwellers, who buy the $5 stamps in sheets, arrange their cards neatly and start licking and sticking at a prearranged signal. After all the stamps had been stuck on during a recent contest the Indians capped the "field meet" by lining up and racing to the postoffice to get the stamps registered. Blue Nose Smith, who had won the race and had his stamps registered first. He had posted on $485 worth of War Savings Stamps in six minutes and fourteen seconds. His time to the postoffice was 56 seconds flat.

Put your money where it will do double duty for you—in War Savings Stamps.

Money saved is what counts. Invested in War Savings Stamps it grows day and night.

Perfume Their Dead. Natives of Torres Strait Islands, to the north of Queensland, have some peculiar burial customs. One is the anointing the bodies with cheap perfume, the remainder being corked in the bottle and left on the grave. In some cases a cheap stone is set on the grave and this ceremony is usually marked by a three-days' gorge on the part of the relatives of the departed. pig, yams and turtle being shaken down to make room for more by vigorous dancing and singing.

INTEREST

Here is what one man did. If you don't know him you know some one just like him in your community. Twenty years ago he owned the clothes he stood in and that was about all. He saved fifty dollars the first year, the next year, with a little better wages, seventy-five. One thing with another—a wife and family included—he has saved an average of five dollars a week for twenty years.

What he saved in twenty years was about five thousand dollars. What he has is twice five thousand—like the man in the parable. His dollars working for him now bring him more than his yearly saving.

Make Thrift a happy habit through War Savings Stamps.

Money spent is money gone; invested in War Savings Stamps it stays with you.

Dominoes for the Blind. Dominoes for the blind are rather ingenious. Recognizing the need of something that would not easily be displaced as the fingers of the blind passed back and forth reading the numbers on the face of the dominoes, the inventor has given us a set of interlocking pieces. The mortise joint makes them hold together no matter how much they are brushed around. The number on each piece is indicated by the raised heads of brass tacks, easily read by the touch.

Calomel Dynamites A Sluggish Liver

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you loose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury, Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes in contact with sour bile it crashes into it causing griping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel, and without making you sick, you just go and get your money back.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.
