The Graded School Board of Trustees is working on a proposition to remodel the present building by the addition of eight more rooms and other improvements. A competent architect is working out the details. It is also proposed to erect an ample building for the colored school.

Architect Linthicum of Durham was here the first of the week to look over with a committee the proposition of buying and converting the opera house building into a modern hotel. This is a splendidly constructed building, but the architect did not give much encouragement to the plan of conversion on account of the expense that the conversion would entail. The location is ideal.

A big delegation of Newlin township land owners was before the revaluation board Tuesday. Some of them thought their farms valued too high as compared with the valuation placed on near-by farms. The board is not going to have an easy job to satisfy everyone. But the appointment of a day specially to hear complaints about valuations in a certain or given community or section will have its benefits. It will enable the officers charged with the task of fixing land valuations to ascertain at first hand something like the real value, or what it would sell for, of lands. From this information the board can proceed to work the matter out on a fairly equitable basis.

Christian Church Conference. The North Carolina Conference of the Christian Church will convene with the First Christian Church in Burlington on Nov. 11th and will be in session four days. The Christian congregation of Burlington is about completing a very handsome church and expect to have it ready for occupancy by the time the Conference convenes.

Board of Education Wins. A few months ago the County Board of Education instituted a mandamus proceeding to compel the County Commissioners to levy a sufficient tax to run the county schools for a term of six months as provided for by the constitution and act of the legislature. The budget of the School Board estimated it would require a levy of 40 cts. on the $100 value of property. The County Commissioners levied 35 cts. The proceeding was started before Judge Devin, who decided in favor of the School Board and the Commissioners appealed to the Supreme Court. The case was heard before the Supreme Court last week. Mess. Long & Long representing the School Board and Mess. Parker & Long the County Commissioners.

Graham Baptists Doing Things. The home occupied by the Pastor of Graham Baptist church, Rev. L. U. Weston, has been sold and the new owner will shortly want it for himself and family, which will necessitate Mr. Weston's moving. Like most other towns in the State, homes to rent are scarce in Graham—few or none are available. The situation put the Baptist people here to thinking and on last Sunday at a business session of the church it was determined to build a parsonage in order that the church might have a home for its pastor. That's a move in the right direction.

The Baptist people now have a big drive on to raise $75,000,000 for missions. That's lots of money, but they expect to reach the goal. Graham Baptist congregation is going to have a part in the great task and they have agreed to raise $5,000 of the amount. That is a splendid and liberal contribution.

Passes in Her 94th Year. At ten minutes to seven Monday evening, Oct. 20, 1919, Mrs. Elizabeth Perry Clark passed away at the home of James O. Clark, her youngest son, with whom she lived, in Newlin township, aged 93 years, 4 months and one day. She was the widow of Oliver Clark who died in the year 1829. She was born June 19th, 1826. Mrs. Clark is survived by seven children—four sons and three daughters, namely, Wm. T. A. J. (of Chatham county), John G., and James O. Clark, Nancy, wife of James M. McPherson, Mary, wife of A. C. Thomas, and Emeline, wife of W. Marshall, the last two living in Chatham county. While some live in Alamance and some in Chatham, all live near the Alamance-Chatham line and are near the old home. The burial took place Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Vernon M. E. church, Chatham county, of which she had been a faithful member for many years. Deceased had a large family, among her descendants being some great-grand-children. Her oldest son is 71 years old and her youngest 46. She had a slight stroke of paralysis two weeks ago when she took her bed, and another stroke came last Sunday. Her mind was perfectly clear up to within two hours of the end. She was remarkably well preserved and her children had hoped she would reach the century mark.

Who's Who From Graham, at U. N. C.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 18.—If you desire to know the fundamentals of all scientific research—leave it to 'Doc,' he's after the degree of M. D.

If you care for the essential elements that remedy the High Cost of Living—leave it to 'Coop'—diligently seeking out the facts on Economics.

And as to who defeated Wake Forest on the Emerson Field this A. M.—see 'Col,' Harden, because, I think he has the 'Pig-skin.'

However, if there be any constituent part of some fatal argument, yet undecided—it's up to (Blackstone, Bouvier,) or 'Brad'—hoping and arguing for the degree of L. L. B.

The plans were discussed by a number of those in attendance and the organization of such an association was well received. A partial organization was effected. The Gleaner was promised a full report of the proceedings, but up to the hour of going to press the report has not been received, hence we shall have to wait for it and print it in our next issue.

JUDGE CLENDENIN PASSES AWAY.

Prominent in Public Affairs, Patriotic and Church Worker.

From Rains County Leader, Emory, Texas, Oct. 3, 1919.

In the death of William H. Clendenin, which occurred at the family home in Emory Tuesday night at 11:55 o'clock, this neighborhood has suffered a loss, and not only this neighborhood, but the county and the district as well.

You did not have to hunt for the evidence of his standing among his friends and neighbors, for 'the town will miss him' and like expressions were common among the large crowd which gathered to pay tribute to his memory.

The editor has known Judge Clendenin about twenty-three years. He has been our friend during the whole time. In looking back over those years and our close association it makes us feel glad that we knew him and that his strong character and counsel were helpful to those with whom he came in contact.

He never tired of advising people to stay out of court, though the counsel was against his own financial interests. It seems to us that the words, 'He was honest, he was capable,' fits his life exactly.

Judge Clendenin was born in North Carolina forty-nine years ago the past Monday. After finishing his literary education he was graduated from a law school. He came to Texas twenty-four years ago and east his lot in Rains county, taking up the practice of law, his chosen profession. He soon entered politics, being elected county attorney first, then serving six years as county judge, and at the present time was holding the county attorney's office. He has held the position of local school trustee a number of times, served during the war as county food administrator and probably done more patriotic work than any other citizen in the county. He also at one time served as a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee from the Fifth Senatorial district and at present was county chairman of the great American Red Cross. He was a pillar in the Baptist church. At the time of his death he was holding three official positions in his church, that of deacon, treasurer and Sunday school Superintendent. He served his country and his church well in whatever capacity it was his privilege and honor to be placed by his countrymen.

He was married in 1898 to Miss Emma Settle of this city. To them was born one son, who, with his companion, survive him. Also, he is survived by an aged mother and a brother, both in the old North Carolina home.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Wednesday evening by his pastor, Rev. M. T. Tucker. The church was artistically decorated and a very large floral offering from the Sunday school, other friends here and from the Burleson College of Greenville.

The remains were buried in the City Cemetery about 7 o'clock with ceremonies by the Odd Fellows, of which order he was a member.

The Leader joins with friends in extending the bereaved companion and son our most sincere sympathy.

Try One Brunswick Then Decide The best way to know for yourself the superiority of the Brunswick Tire is to buy one and compare it. That is, if the very name of Brunswick isn't sufficient proof to you, as it is to most men, that here is an extraordinary tire. Thousands of men who have known the name of Brunswick for years, realize that a Brunswick Tire has to be the best—for a mediocre product could never bear this historic name. Long before the Overland Trail became famous, the House of Brunswick was established. It was one of the chief users of rubber for fifty years before automobiles came into use. No concern with such a history could afford to offer anything but the best. For reputations are built slowly, but can be quickly destroyed. This is a practical guarantee that Brunswick Tires offer more than the usual, yet at no added cost. Get your first one now. You'll not be satisfied until you have ALL Brunswicks.
