LEGIONAIRES OF DIVIDED OPINION

TWO EXPRESSIONS OF CONVICTION ON BONUS MAKE INTERESTING READING

ONE WANTS ACTION RATIFIED

Another Thinks Conditions Just Now Do Not Justify Enormous Expense Bonus Plan Entails.

Officers of the American legion in North Carolina are far from being united in their position on the proposed bonus or extra pay plan for soldiers, now being considered by a congressional committee.

Of four men who have replied to a letter of inquiry from Dan W. Terry, state publicity officer, one is in favor of relief legislation along the lines suggested by National Commander D'Ottone, one regards the bonus as an appreciation of service, but not as pay, two are opposed with reservations in favor of the disabled soldiers.

Allen Adams, of Greensboro, member of the executive committee from the Fifth district, is of the opinion that the state commander should assemble the executive committee to discuss the bonus plan.

Of very different tone is the communication of A. R. Parsley, of Clinton, another member of the executive committee of the Third district. He said:

"I am very glad of an opportunity to raise my voice against any bonus plan for ex-service men. I should, however, like to make an exception with regard to disabled men. I do not believe that the amount received under the War Risk Insurance is ample, and it is quite possible that much injustice has been done. As for the ordinary man, like myself, there are jobs aplenty, and I do not begrudge at all the time I spend in service. Nor do I think that conditions would justify the enormous expense which any bonus plan would necessitate."

Dissection in the Ranks. - The McGirt-Kirkpatrick plan for a bond issue of $50,000,000 to build roads in North Carolina has developed dissension in the ranks of the North Carolina Good Roads association.

The Governor on Suffrage. "I have a profound conviction that the special session of the North Carolina legislature will ratify the suffrage amendment regardless of what other states may do," declared Gov. T. W. Bickett, after declining, on the grounds of propriety and courtesy, to accept of a delegation to Delaware urging the ratification of the amendment by that state.

The state printing commission met recently in the governor's office and allowed an increase of 26 per cent to the five contracts who do the state's printing. This increase dates back to January 1 this year, but does not apply to work which was given them prior to that time and which has not yet been completed.

Teachers Properly Graded. For the first time in the history of the teaching profession in North Carolina the large majority of teachers in city and state schools are in possession of either first or second grade certificates. Of the more than 16,000 teachers in North Carolina only 300 or 400 have not been certified by the state board of examiners, although the teachers themselves claim that they have qualified for certificates. That they have not been furnished with certificates is very likely due to delay of superintendents in forwarding the reports to the offices here.

More than 12,000 teachers have qualified and are in possession of first grade certificates, the second grade certificates going to less than 4,000.

With the teachers of the state on a substantial professional basis the big problem which the schools are confronted with, or will be at the opening of the fall session, is to persuade the teachers to continue in the school work instead of entering other employment. This has been the history of North Carolina's teachers for many years, and there is every reason to believe that the same thing will happen again.

Hundreds of the state's best teachers are early lured from the school rooms into other work by salaries far above that paid them for teaching.

The only way that North Carolina can maintain its present teaching force and persuade others who are badly needed to enter the profession, is to increase the pay.

Fire Prevention Day. October 9th is designated by law, "Fire Prevention Day" the governor having required "to issue a proclamation to the people of the state to observe the day, and the insurance commissioner is commanded to bring the day and its observance to the attention of all municipal officials and especially the firemen, and where possible, arrange suitable programs.

The week beginning March 28 and ending April 3 was selected as fire prevention, or clean-up week.

Setting the Governor Straight. Governor Bickett, three days after so had made public his intention of advising the democratic party to get on the suffrage bandwagon and that he would urge the special session of the general assembly to ratify the Susan B. Anthony amendment, received a telegram from J. H. Gaines, representing the anti-suffrage league of West Virginia, stating that West Virginia had not legally ratified the amendment. His purpose of setting the Governor straight was in the interest of letting the public know the facts.

Examination for Postmasters. Washington, (Special).—Civil service examination will be held on April 14 for presidential postmaster at the following places in North Carolina: Rosemary, salary $1,400; Lakesville, salary $1,400; Robersonville, salary $1,400. Members of the North Carolina delegation in the house voted for a small army before the army reorganization bill passed. They supported a motion to limit the size to 185,000 men.

Appeal by Power Company Dismissed. Washington.—The supreme court dismissed for lack of jurisdiction appeals from North Carolina supreme court decisions perpetually enjoining the Hiwassee River Power Company, upon the application of the Carolina-Tennessee Power Company from constructing and operating power plants on the Hiwassee river in Cherokee county.

Senator Simmons went to West Raleigh again to stop the sale of ships needed in the south and elsewhere in this country. Constituents have wired him that the government is making sales despite the protest here.

"Senators will recall that recently there was a strong protest against the sale of government-owned ships," said Senator Simmons, "arising out of the proposal then to sell certain German ships. The senator from Washington, Mr. Jones, introduced a bill to the general effect that the shipping board should not proceed with sales until Congress had announced its policy and provided for continued government operation."

State Has Had Ten Capitals. The first complete report in connection with the Raleigh and Wake county community study shows that the state of North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, New Bern, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayetteville and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the temporary place of assembly.

In 1791 one square mile of land was bought for the foundation of Raleigh as a permanent seat of government.

The Truth About Revaluation. "The Truth About Revaluation" is the title of a pamphlet that is being printed, containing the series of Monday morning "sermons on Taxation" written by T. W. Bickett.

Governor Bickett has received scores of letters from over the state and from other states commending his stand for an equalization of taxation in North Carolina. One was received from Dr. E. W. Guder, member of the faculty of the North Carolina College for Women, now doing special work in New York.

German Regular Army Troops Are Reported Being in Ruhr District. Paris.—Absolute confirmation of the entrance of regular German army troops into the Ruhr district, on the edge of the allied zone of occupation, without any permission from the allies, has been received by the French foreign office, it was declared.
