Heavy Traffic.

They seldom crowd the roads in northern Minnesota, but on our last tour, when we headed into a tamarack swamp and had to take our top off because of the low-hanging trees, we did feel a trifle uncertain about the route.

"Do many cars travel this road?" we asked some children who happened along.

"Oh, yes," came the proud reply: "lots of 'em. One came last year and one this year, and now you're here, too?"

San Pedro, Coahuila, Mexico.—Under terms of his "unconditional" surrender Francisco Villa, Mexican band leader, will get a huge estate at Canutillo, Durango, where he will be guarded for the remainder of his life by 50 of his trusted followers, who will be paid by the government, it was learned here.

Villa's surrender will cost the Mexican government $2,000,000, according to estimates.

Tennessee Coal Profiteer Held in Bond to Federal Grand Jury.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Charged by the government with selling coal at prices ranging from $7.50 to $8.50 per ton, John L. Boyd was held to the federal grand jury in $2,000 bond by United States Commissioner J. Pike Powers. The government introduced evidence said to have been taken from the books of the Proctor Coal Company, showing that the cost of production was slightly in excess of $4 per ton at the time of the sale.

Earthquakes.

The origin of earthquakes has been traced to two principal causes, the first of which is tectonic, and the second volcanic. The former refers to movements in the earth's crust, known as faults, possibly caused by the shrinking of the interior of the earth by reason of cooling.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

France Acts Independently of Great Britain in the Russo-Polish Complication.

PROMISES AID TO WRANGLER

America to Use "All Available Means" to Preserve Poland's Independence—Resistance to Red Armies Increasing—Express Workers Get Wage Increases.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

The United States will employ "all available means" to safeguard the independence and territorial integrity of Poland, and will not recognize the soviet government of Russia.

The French government has recognized the Wrangel government of southern Russia and will give it military aid against the bolsheviks; and the French representatives in London have been instructed to break off all relations with Krassin and Kameneff, the soviet trade commissioners, there.

The British government, though somewhat dismayed by the American and French announcements and the apparent break with France, still hopes and believes a peace can be negotiated between Russia and Poland.

The Russians, persisting in their refusal to permit mediation by any third party, sent a delegation to Minsk to meet the Poles, and continued their creeping movement designed to capture Warsaw.

The Poles sent representatives to Minsk to talk armistice, and having withdrawn in good order from their advanced positions, established two lines of defense before Warsaw and prepared for an extensive counter attack.

In the lineup of the powers, Italy stands with Great Britain, and France counts on the support of the United States. Germany maintains an ostensible neutrality while hoping for the crushing of Poland, believing the Polish adventure was instigated and directed by France.

Such is the summary of conditions on the day of writing, in the biggest of the wars that are still going on.

President Wilson's statement of America's position was made to Italy. In it he suggested that the conflict might be ended by the withdrawal of all Russian forces from Poland and the withdrawal of all allied troops from ethnographic Russia, together with assurances by the allied and associated powers that Russia will not be dismembered. He urged that any dealings with the soviet regime be confined within "the most narrow boundaries to which the discussion of an armistice can be confined," and scored the soviet government as that of a tyrannical and dishonorable minority whose assurances and guarantees are practically worthless. In asking that the true boundaries of Russia be respected, the note specified that those boundaries should not include Finland, ethnic Poland or such territory as may be agreed form a part of the Armenian state. Just what the president meant by "all available means" in promising aid to Poland was not made clear, but it was assumed, both by government officials and by the representatives of Poland in Washington, that the phrase did not include the dispatch of troops, Prince Lubomirski, the Polish minister, did not ask for armed assistance, but said the need of his countrymen was for food, clothing, arms and other war munitions. These, he added, are needed immediately and imperatively.

A conference of the British and French premiers was held at Hythe and, returning to London, Lloyd George told the house of commons that he still believed in peace. He said Russia was entitled to strict guarantees against a repetition of the Polish attack but was not entitled to destroy Poland as a nation; if Russia acted within these conditions there would be no war by the entente. If the Minsk meeting failed of results, he declared, the allies had decided on these lines of action: (1) No action, except to support Poland in the struggle for existence; (2) only to give support to the nation which fights its own struggles; (3) no allied troops to be sent to Poland; (4) the allies will help to equip the Poles for their own defense; (5) to give military advice and guidance; (6) economic pressure to be brought to bear on Russia; (7) to help Wrangel and all other counter-revolutionaries; (8) end of trading negotiations.

Turning to the Russian representatives who sat in the gallery, the little Welshman said: "If you want peace, get it now. If you are out to challenge the liberties of Europe, we will meet you and fight to the end."

British labor leaders had already warned Lloyd George there would be a general strike if the nation went to war, but at the conclusion of the premier's speech Mr. Clyne, their chief, declared the laborites do not favor soviet ideas and methods, and that if they were convinced the soviet government was aggressive, they would be forced to consider supporting the British government.

Kameneff outlined the armistice terms the soviet was offering Poland, and in some respects they were reasonable. They included, however, demobilization of the Polish army within one month and the demobilization of all war industries. Another clause demanded that the families of all Polish citizens killed, wounded or incapacitated in the war shall be given land free. This was looked on as a part of the plan to establish soviet rule in Poland.

The encircling movement of the soviet armies carried them across the Warsaw-Danzig railway and down toward the Vistula from the north. But the other rail line to Danzig, through Thorn, seemed safe for the present. The Polish forces were being concentrated and regrouped, and a competent observer, formerly in the American army, declared that though the Polish position was serious it was not desperate. The stories of panic and complete loss of morale he said were false; and were the result of a propaganda by the enemies of Poland.

The spirit of the Polish people was still high, he asserted, and men and women in large numbers were volunteering in all classes of war service.

A correspondent who has just completed the trip from Vladivostok to Finland says that from one end of Russia to the other is heard the cry for food and clothing, and Nikolai Lenin himself is said to have admitted that the Russian people cannot pass through another winter like the last.

On Wednesday the soviet government signed a provisional peace treaty with Latvia and agreed with Finland upon armistice conditions. These arrangements will make more difficult the maintenance of a blockade of Russia by the allies if that course is found necessary.

In Persia the reds have withdrawn from Enzeli and some other places because of lack of supplies, but they have established headquarters of a Persian soviet republic at Ardebil, a little south of the Caspian. The old government remains at Teheran, though its flight has been rumored repeatedly.

Greece continues to increase her forces in Asia Minor and has captured some more strategic positions. Kemal Pasha, however, has not quit by any means and recent dispatches say 15,000 Tatars are on the way to join his national-list troops for a great offensive against the Greeks, probably on the Smyrna front. According to an agreement between Italy and Greece the Dodecanesus has been transferred to Greek sovereignty except Rhodes, where a plebiscite will be held some time in the future.

Technically the world war came to an end Tuesday, so far as the allied nations and their opponents are concerned. On that day the last of the peace treaties, that with Turkey, was signed in Sevres, near Paris. The Jugo-Slavs refused to sign because the treaty provides that the Ottoman debt be partitioned among former Turkish territories allocated to other states and because Jugo-Slavia did not receive Macedonia as she asked. The United States did not sign the treaty owing to President Wilson's objection to the presence of the sultan in Constantinople, the allocation of Thrace and Smyrna to Greece, and the Asia Minor mandates.

The British parliament has passed and the king has approved the new Irish coercion bill. The debate in the house of commons was bitter. Very optimistic persons think the law will restore order in Ireland.

Much interest and some excitement were caused by the British government's course in dealing with the visit of Archbishop Mannix of Australia, who spent some weeks in the United States. He intended to land in Ireland, but government agents removed him from the liner and put him ashore at Penzance under technical arrest. He proceeded to London, but his movements were restricted by orders. He received invitations to address meetings in many places in England, Scotland and Ireland. The treatment of the archbishop looks, at this distance, like a characteristic bit of British "muddling," but probably the government knew what it was about. To an interviewer the churchman said what he wanted was to see England get out of Ireland, intimating that the latter was an independent country would be no more the enemy of Great Britain that it is now.

Another big wage increase award was made last week by the United States railway labor board, the employees of the American Railway Express company being the beneficiaries this time. They were granted a flat increase of 16 cents an hour and the total will amount to $30,556,445 a year. The heads of the four unions affected appeared well satisfied with the award.

The railway rate increase ran against a snag in Illinois when the state public utilities commission ruled that the 2-cent passenger fare in the state was restored by the passing of the wartime transportation act; denied applications for increases to 3.6 cents per mile, for increased surcharges on Pullman and parlor car fares, for increased commutation rates and for increased mileage rates; and denied application for 40 per cent increase in freight rates, granting a temporary increase of 33 1-3 per cent.

Franklin Roosevelt was formally notified Monday of his nomination for the vice presidency by the Democrats, and two days later opened the Democratic campaign in Chicago with a speech in which he made a special plea for the support of the old Bull Moose element. Both in this address and in his speech of acceptance he exhibited a spirit of fair-mindedness that won commendation. Governor Cox began his speaking tour the latter part of the week.

The front porch campaign plans for Senator Harding have not been changed, but the Republican leaders will make extensive use of "publicity"—news stories, advertising and the movies. It was expected that Harding would soon declare himself as to just what kind of a League of Nations he thinks would be acceptable to the American people, for he does not wish the nation to believe that because he is against the Wilson league, he is against any league.

The prohibition nominees, Watkins and Colvin, both delivered their acceptance speeches at Germantown, O., and plans were made to carry on a vigorous campaign, largely by airplane.

Charles Ponzl of Boston, whose sensational operations in international postal coupons attracted the attention of the authorities, came to grief, at least temporarily, when a state bank examiner closed the Hanover Trust company, through which he carried on much of his business, and he was arrested on a state larceny charge. The same day the "ward" admitted he had been an inmate of prisons at Atlanta and in Canada. Ponzl has not revealed the exact method by which he made so much money for his clients and himself in a few weeks. He asserts he can take care of all his financial obligations.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

BOY SCOUTS' LONGEST HIKE

The five luckiest Boy Scouts of America that ever shook the dust of Greater New York and hit the dusty trails of the Far West are now visiting all of the great national parks as guests of the Far Western Travelers' association. They were chosen by contest, one from each of the five boroughs of Greater New York, to represent the scout councils of those boroughs.

They are: John Preat, Brooklyn council. He is seventeen years old and an Eagle scout with 24 merit badges for special achievements in scouting.

Cyril McDermott, Manhattan council. He is sixteen years old and is an Eagle scout with 26 merit badges.

Herbert Jacob, Queens council. He is twelve years old and is the youngest First Class scout in the borough.

Walter Perry, Richmond council. He is fifteen years old and a Second Class scout.

John Breitler, Bronx council. He is fourteen years old and a First Class scout.

None of these boys ever before traveled any considerable distance from New York, and the experiences they have had on this trip are all new and wonderful to them.

The Far Western Travelers' association has been active for years in the "See America First" movement. Its president, John B. Patton, in seeking concrete ways to show faith by works, followed the suggestion of Huston Thompson, federal trade commissioner, to send city boys to the national parks. Naturally they were to be boy scouts, and from the biggest city. But President Patton says: "The Far Western Travelers' association claims no monopoly of this plan and hopes other organizations will follow our lead until thousands of boys from many cities will each year be given opportunity to get the spirit of bigness of our country as are these five scouts from the East. We believe this to be practical Americanization."

The parks being visited by the five New York boy scouts are: Rocky Mountain National park; the Grand Canyon, Yosemite Valley National park, Crater Lake, Mt. Rainier, Glacier and Yellowstone National parks. They started from New York July 7 and are scheduled to return September 4.

BRAVE BUT MODEST SCOUT.

Star Scout Harold Strohmeier of Troop No. 3, Kansas City, has been cited for bravery by the city council for his courageous fight with four bandits who recently attempted to hold up the bank where Strohmeier works. His deed received considerable publicity at the time of the attempted robbery, but the fact that he was a boy scout did not come out until later, when, through efforts of members of the local scout council, the city council passed a resolution commending him for his bravery and authorizing the mayor to present him with a gold medal.

MANSION FOR BOY SCOUTS.

The beautiful mansion and spacious grounds of Ambassador David R. Francis, in St. Louis, Mo., have been leased for ten years at a nominal sum to the St. Louis council of boy scouts, the national junior chamber of commerce, and the local council of the junior chamber. The residence, which was built 25 years ago, is the headquarters of the three organizations. During the war the spacious grounds were given over to the war camp community service to entertain soldiers.

English Women in Wit.

One of the best-known women in London's newspaper world, returning from Birmingham by train and endeavoring to make shorthand notes en route, was hopelessly interrupted by a man on the opposite seat who persisted in shouting his political opinions to an acquaintance in the farthest corner, says a writer in the London Evening News. At last he used a phrase containing the word "damn" and turned to apologize to the lady for using such a word.

"Don't mention it," she replied, sweetly. "I have been mentally using the word for the last hour."

And the newspapers of the other passengers rustled through the laughter of their owners.

Puts I Will In You Easy to Get Strong

Everyone wants more pep and surety needs it this hot weather. Hot weather takes away the appetite and makes one feel listless, lifeless, miserable, even when you have a strong stomach, but for those who have weak stomachs, it is really a dangerous, trying time.

Be on the safe side this kind of weather and help nature all you can, by taking an eatonic tablet about half an hour before you eat and one or two an hour after you eat; it will be of wonderful benefit. Eatonic simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. With the cause of the trouble removed, of course you will feel fit and fine—full of pep all the time. Eatonic will cool feverish mouth and stomach and give you a good appetite, even in hot weather.

Get a big box at your druggist for a trifling cost and let eatonic help you for a few days; then you will never be without it. Adv.

And Yet It Was Tough!

A woman famous locally for her ducks sold one to Brown, her neighbor. But it proved particularly tough, and as Brown had paid a big price for the bird he called on the vender without delay.

"What do you mean by imposing such a duck upon me, one of your neighbors?" he inquired.

"Why, was there anything wrong with it?"

"Wrong! It wasn't good at all!"

"Well, it ought to have been," replied the dame. "It won the first prize at all the poultry shows for 11 years in succession!"
