

DR. THACHER'S LIVER AND BLOOD SYRUP

You're as Sick or as Well as Your LIVER. How's your liver? Are you constipated, bilious, grouchy? Have you dizzy spells, dull headaches, bad taste in your mouth, foul breath? If so, you need Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup...

You're as Old or as Young as Your BLOOD. If you would stay young in health as you grow older in years, have a care for your blood. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup puts life into your blood; purifies and enriches it; makes it tone up the whole system...

Andy Anton, Thompsonville, Ill., wrote Aug. 21, 1918: "I feel that should send in my testimonial for Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, which I have used for twelve years. Before I used it I could not do a whole day's work; because I was so weak in my kidneys, but I am now strong and healthy."

TO MEET THE EMERGENCY. Youngster Had Little Difficulty Making Up His Mind as to What He Would Do.

As the old lady strolled on the cliffs near a seaside town she came across a lad dressed in the well-known scout's rig.

"What do they teach you in the scouts?" she asked him, with a beaming smile.

"To be many citizens, and true to king and country," replied the lad promptly.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up, my little man?" went on his self-appointed examiner.

"A soldier, to fight for the king," was the patriotic reply.

"Very brave," applauded the old dame. "Now, suppose you saw the king's coach dashing along, with runaway horses, straight toward the edge of this cliff, what would you do?"

The youngster eyed her in disgust. Evidently she was one of those people who never imagine a boy has any sense. He determined to settle her once and for all, so he replied:

"I'd shut my eyes, and sing, 'God Save the King!'"—London Answers.

Expensive Melody. "Ah! Life with you would be one grand, sweet song?"

"But I'm a practical girl. To me there's music in the purr of an expensive motor. In the soothing tones of a French maid, the suave replies a well-trained butler makes, the honeyed words of tradesmen eager for my patronage, the—"

A Feeling of Security. You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs. Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs. It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything. It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

MERELY MAKING IT WORSE. Tommy Was Naturally Fearful as to the Consequences of Any More Interruptions.

A very junior officer was trying his first case.

"Seven days confinement to camp," he snapped.

"Beg pardon, sir," whispered the company sergeant-major. "You mustn't give a sentence like that. You—"

"All right, then, fourteen days," retorted the sub.

"But, sir," pleaded the sergeant-major, "it's not—"

"Arf a mo', major," interposed the Tommy. "Don't check 'im again or 'e'll give me twenty-one. 'E ain't a horriker—'e's a hauctioneer!"—London Tit-Bits.

Her Make-Believe Dog. A little girl stood at the bottom of the stairs calling:

"Here, Fido! Here, Fido!"

A man who likes puppies stopped a moment to see what kind of a pet the little girl had.

When the pet made its appearance he exclaimed in surprise:

"Didn't I hear you call it Fido?"

"Yes," the little girl replied complacently. "I know it's a cat, but I am having it for a dog."—Youngstown Telegram.

Emphasis of Taxation Laid Rather on Expenditures Than on Incomes.

By OTTO H. KAHN, in "Our Economic and Other Problems."

The social and moral arguments for an unsparring war profits tax are to my mind unanswerable. To permit individuals and corporations to enrich themselves out of the dreadful calamity of war is repugnant to one's sense of right and justice and gravely detrimental to the war morale of the people.

The objection to a very heavy excess profits tax in peace time rests not so much on equitable grounds as on the ground that on the one hand it does not and cannot accomplish the social purpose aimed at, and on the other hand it tends to hurt trade, discourage enterprise and burden the public. Our excess profits tax certainly has not stopped, but rather has intensified what is commonly termed "profiteering."

For a country as immensely rich and intrinsically as little burdened, relatively, as ours, it is really not a problem of great difficulty to raise by taxation the sum which the needs of the occasion require.

A small committee of well-informed men of different callings, approaching their task free from political, social and sectional bias might recommend a radical revision of income taxation on the theory that the emphasis of taxation be laid rather on expenditures than on incomes and that a sharply marked distinction be made between such portion of a person's income as is used constructively in savings, investments or enterprise, and such portion as is spent on his scale of living.

Much can be said for such a tax from both the economic and moral points of view. Among other desirable effects, it would reach those who, by holding tax-exempt securities, now escape the burden of income taxation.

The committee might also, I should think, reach the conclusion, quite irrespective of the theory suggested in the foregoing paragraphs, to recommend the imposition of a small percentage tax, say 1 per cent, on all sales of commodities and products and presumably of real estate. Such a measure would be productive of an immense amount of revenue and would not be harmful to anyone.

How Departments Are Able to Force Congress to Appropriate Money.

By J. N. TINCHER of Kansas, Speech in House.

You ask how can the departments make congress appropriate money, and I want to explain that. Let us take an example in the department of agriculture. First, say we give the bureau of animal industry one and one-half million dollars to fight tuberculosis in cattle; providing one-half million for administration and one million to be used to pay for cattle destroyed. That looks as if congress had guarded that appropriation fairly well.

Now, under the law any man in any department can be punished for creating a deficiency. So they will not create any, but here is what they will do: They will hire enough men to spend this one-half million dollars in eight months. Then, at the end of seven months they will serve notice that all work in that department will stop at the end of the eighth month unless congress gives them additional money.

It is important to human life that this work be continued; and congress is practically forced to give this executive officer of the department more money. We can not even remove him for abuse or indiscretion. He has his office by appointment of the president.

We will have to acquiesce in the deficiency appropriation. We cannot waste all that former congresses have spent in the work, so his demands must be met; all we do is to pare them down as low as we can and go ahead.

Where Millionaires and Working Men Rub Elbows With Nonchalance.

By ALBERT BRITT, Editor Outing Magazine.

The thing about your Colorado mountain parks that impressed me—an Easterner—most is the democracy that prevails everywhere. Up in Rocky Mountain National park I particularly observed it. In the hotels and on the camping grounds up there, the millionaire and the working man rubbed elbows with the nonchalance that only the western atmosphere can impart.

We do not find this spirit in the East, for the resorts we have there each cater to a certain class. Class distinction is omnipresent from the high-priced hostelry at Newport to the cheap boarding house at Asbury Park. But in the Rocky Mountains all class distinction is erased and it matters not whether I am a social leader or a shoe clerk.

The people of the middle West know the possibilities of a vacation spent here; witness the 200,000 that have visited Rocky Mountain this year. But the people of the Allegheny mountains will have to be educated.

Place for Every German of Education and Character Today Is Germany.

By PROF. FRANZ BOAS, Columbia University.

The place for every German today who has education and character is in Germany. The intellectual life of mankind demands that you do not leave your country in the lurch in her hour of need. At home you can work for and with people of like mind with yourself. Here you would meet at present, and in all probability for years to come, with a hostility which makes intellectual work impossible.

There was a time when every university student in Germany was quite willing to devote a year or so of his life to the army. Let him be just as willing at present to devote an equal amount of his time to industry. And in truth you should somehow introduce into your educational system a plan by which productive work such as farming and the trades could be given a place not merely in theory but in practice.

No, don't think of coming to America and don't advise your students to come! Stay in Germany.

CALOMEL HORROR TOLD BY DODSON

You Don't Need to Sicken, Grip or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—Adv.

Too Early. Friend wife was coming in on the 4 a. m. train and, of course, my alarm clock failed to register. It was exactly four when I woke up and, dashing out to the garage, started the engine. Still half asleep, I threw the clutch into reverse instead of first speed and whirled through the back door and part of my neighbor's yard, bringing up with a bang almost in the middle of the sleeping tent where my neighbor's family spent their nights. My wife certainly found a warm reception when she reached home. The whole neighborhood was out to welcome her following the riot.—Chicago Tribune.

Getting His Bearings. One day as I was driving along I heard a crack in the vicinity of the rear wheel. Upon investigation I discovered all the bearings gone.

Not being able to continue, I sat down on the running board waiting for help. Before long a seedy-looking man came along in a car making so much noise that he had difficulty in hearing me.

I called out: "Hey, mister, do you know any place near here where I can get some bearings?"

The man looked around quickly, gave me a sly wink and said: "Sure, if you know enough to keep your mouth shut."—Exchange.

Problem to Come. Little Harry, the pride of a Brooklyn household, was one morning engaged in a wriggling and twisting series of maneuvers to get his arms through the sleeves of an undershirt and then get it over his head. After a number of vain attempts he called upon his mother for assistance, remarking:

"Mother, when I get to be an angel and have wings how in the world am I ever to get my shirt on?"

"STRANGE HOW WOMEN SUFFER"

Says Tennessee Lady, and Will Just Go Suffering, She Says, When Cardui is Right at Hand.

Caryville, Tenn.—Hoping her experience may benefit others who suffer from disorders common among women, Mrs. Charles Rains, of this (Campbell) county, says: "I had womanly troubles till I couldn't rest, couldn't sleep, and was nervous and suffered a great deal of pain in my head, limbs and back. I would get to the place where I couldn't move without a great effort."

"For years I had known of Cardui, and it is strange how a woman will just go on suffering when the best remedy in the world is right at hand—but we do!"

"But finally the pain was worse, my suffering so great, I knew I must do something. A friend mentioned Cardui and we sent for it. One bottle helped me."

"I took a course of Cardui, regained my strength, built myself up and felt like a new woman."

"Can I recommend Cardui? Yes, and gladly, for it is a God-send to suffering women. I hope when they suffer with troubles common to women they don't wait, but get this sure remedy at once."

Any druggist can supply Cardui promptly. Call on yours today.—Adv.

Not as She Expected. A home town society matron of thirty-five underwent an operation this spring. On her recovery she was assured by her friends that the operation had taken ten years away from her looks. Laughingly one day she complained to the doctor: "If three hours on the operating table made me look ten years younger, why didn't you keep me there five hours and make me into a girl again?"

"Five hours there, my dear madam," soberly retorted the surgeon, "would have made you into an angel."—Indianapolis News.

"Eatonic, in Four Days Did Me $20 Worth of Good"

So writes Mr. Edward W. Bragg of Mecca, Ind., who suffered from stomach troubles for a long time but could not find anything to help him, but at last had faith enough to give Eatonic a test. It quickly removed the excess acids and poisonous gases from the body and the misery disappeared. Of course, when the cause of the trouble is removed, the sufferer must get well. Eatonic is quick, sure and safe, and the lasting benefits come in new strength, life and pep. Your druggist will supply you with Eatonic at a trifling cost and every ailment person should get it today. Adv.

Gleomy Prospect. "I hope," said the newly-made widow, wiping away a tear, "that poor, dear Thomas won't be ranged with the goats instead of the sheep."

"Of course not," replied the consolatory friend. "Thomas was a truly good man."

"Yes," sighed the widow, "but he would keep butting in."

If a woman would always write the postscript first it would save her the trouble of writing the letter.

Still Unsubdued. Marian had formed the bad habit of sucking her thumb. Her parents had wasted considerable time and energy trying to cure her of this.

The day that a little sister arrived in the home her father said: "Now, Marian, you must never suck your thumb again; as the baby might see you, and do it, too."

Marian coolly replied: "When I want to suck my thumb I'll turn my back on her, and she will never know anything about it."
