Frost made its first appearance here last Saturday morning, which was a week to ten days earlier than usual. Again on Sunday and Monday mornings there was some frost. Nothing was bit to hurt much. As a result there is a tinge of brown on tender vegetation. There would have been frost again this morning, but for the clouds which came during the night.

The frost extended a good deal farther South. In a section in Georgia the report was made that it came a month earlier than usual. In this latitude the tradition is that no killing frost usually appears before the 10th of October.

Boxing is an Anglo-Saxon sport, which explains why the Irish excel in it.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows no Favor

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the waning go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Graham resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. R. C. Phillips, Guthrie St., gave the following statement in December, 1907: "I suffered a great deal from kidney trouble for several years, says Mrs. Phillips. I was very nervous at times, felt weak and my sight seemed blurred. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and I was soon feeling better. I have gained steadily since taking this remedy."

On July 11, 1913, Mrs. Phillips added, "Doan's Kidney Pills have no equal and I can say they have done me a world of good in relieving the pains in my back and regulating my kidneys. I would not be without a box of this remedy on hand."

Price 40c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Phillips had. Foster-McBurr Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Court or The League?

The International Court as organized by Mr. Root and his conferees on the Commission and recently submitted to the Council of the League of Nations for their action, provides that when a dispute has arisen between nations which is found to be impossible to settle by diplomatic means or by an agreement to arbitrate, the complaining nation may bring the case before the International Court. The court shall decide first whether jurisdictional conditions have been complied with, and, if so, can hear and determine the dispute according to the next article in the draft.

The next article provides that the court shall have jurisdiction to try cases of a legal nature, concerning the interpretation of treaties, questions of international law, breaches of international obligations and reparation for such breaches.

The question arises, where is Senator Harding to insert his "teeth" into this court if we have not the League of Nations? Shall the court itself have power to force nations to submit their cases to it, and how is it going to enforce its decrees? Suppose one nation refuses to appear before the court, or, having appeared, refuses to abide by its judgment?

The League of Nations Convention, which provides by Article XIV of the treaty for an International Court, provides penalties against nations which refuse to arbitrate their disputes or which refuse to carry out the court's decision. As one of the instruments of the League of Nations, the International Court of Justice will be a benefaction to the world. As a substitute for the League of Nations, it would be an impotent and miserable failure.

Harding favors "a campaign of construction," with emphasis on the "con."

They say Harding never gets excited. Neither will he ever get ex-presidented.

Big Ben should be in every farmer's home

You men who live on the farm have got to be heavy workers. And if you are heavy workers you require heavy sleep and lots of it.

For heavy sleep is heavy work's reaction and it's not always easy for the heavy sleeper to get up without help.

That's where Big Ben comes in. He makes it easy every morning.

Big Ben is a truth-telling and reliable alarm clock.

He gets you up, he never fails.

You're always up on the dot if he's in the sleeping room.

See him in my window next time you come to town. Hear him greet you Good Morning. He is well worth meeting, indeed.

Thought He Needed Clothes.

A young fellow who was the crack sprinter of his town—somewhere in the South—was unfortunate enough to have a very dilatory landress. One evening when he was out for a practice run in his rather airy and abbreviated track costume, he chanced to dash past the house of that dusky lady, who at the time was a couple of weeks in arrears with his washing. He had scarcely reached home again when the bell rang furiously and an excited voice was wailed in from the porch: "Foh de Lawd's sake, won't you all tell Marse Bob please not to go out no more till I kin git his clothes round to him?"—Augusta Herald.

Apricots in Sheets.

On lower Washington street in New York are some shops frequented by the Arabs who happen to be located in that city and here is to be found something. This red-brown corklike sheeting looks as though it might be a new kind of roofing; but if you raise it cautiously to the nose, and sniff politely, you will detect the pungent fruity odor of dried apricots. That is just what it is—dried apricots pressed into this form. It is more quickly made than the regulation dried apricots, and can be used for exactly the same purposes.

Relaxation.

All outdoor sports are beneficial, particularly to the tired business girl, but if she is unable to indulge in exercise during the day she should not neglect to relax and rest for a few moments in the open air before retiring. It is not the sleep that one gets at night that is sufficient for good health and beauty—for one is impossible without the other—but it is the little moments of rest and deep breathing in the fresh air that any one can find time to enjoy that produces that animated expression.

The Dean and the Duck.

The late William Dean Howells while living in Boston, once entertained Mark Twain, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Bret Harte and other literary celebrities of the past at a sumptuous dinner in his Beacon street residence. While Mr. Howells was carving a duck his knife slipped and the succulent bird rolled out of the platter and fell to the floor. "Look out! Here comes the cat!" said Mark Twain. "It's all right," said Mr. Howells. "I've got my foot on the duck."

Alcohol for Neuralgia.

In stubborn cases of neuralgia when several branches of trigeminal nerve are affected, and all the ordinary methods of treatment have failed, Dr. E. Picler of Vienna injects alcohol into the Gasserian ganglion and effects a cure in almost every case.

SIGN OF THE TIMES.

"The king of Spain is a democratic monarch," observed Mr. Garspur.

"All kings are democratic nowadays," replied Mr. Dubwaite. "I dare say the crowned heads of Europe have shaken hands with more common people in the past five years than all their predecessors put together."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Admiral Grayson reports that President Wilson's weight is "back to normal." Wouldn't "back to normalcy" be more brightly and up-to-date?

How to Control Hog Parasites.

To keep swine healthy and thrifty, provide them with sanitary quarters and a clean wallow, in addition to proper feed. But when external parasites affect hogs an effective remedy must be used if losses are to be avoided. Lice and mange mites are the two principal kinds of external parasites occurring among swine. The mites are particularly injurious to pigs and poorly nourished hogs. "Hog Lice and Hog Mange" is the title of a new farmers' bulletin recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, telling specifically how to identify the parasites and describing effective and economical remedies. Plans of hog wallows and dipping vats, together with directions for building them, are given. For information on this important subject, ask the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin No. 1085.

Hi and Hughes.

From the Philadelphia Record.

When Senator Harding recalls to mind the very sharp knife which "Hi" Johnson, then Governor of California, thrust into the vitals of Charles Evans Hughes in 1916, the prospect of the Pacific coast demagogue repeating the performance this year upon the smug Republican candidate is likely to give him pause in the making of his wearisome platitudes. So far as the public knows, "Hi" had no personal grievance against Mr. Hughes four years ago, and only slaughtered him at the polls in order to insure his own election as Senator. He now has a very distinct grievance against Mr. Harding because the latter has been playing fast and loose with him on the issue of the League of Nations. Gamaliel has given him reason to suppose that he has "scrapped" the League—in his own mind, of course, for in reality it is now in effective operation—while at the same time he has been giving encouragement to Elihu Root and other advocates of the League. This is an affront that is not likely to be forgotten. The California election returns may be as interesting this year as they were in 1916.

Repair The Wear

Hard Work Often Breaks Down a Person's Health and Creates a Need for Ziron Iron Tonic.

Men and women who do hard labor, such as building, farming or housekeeping, and those who do exhaustive brain work of various kinds, often feel the need of something to help renew faded forces and tone up the system.

To help repair the wear caused by over-work, to gain renewed strength and energy, many have obtained good results from taking Ziron Iron Tonic. Ziron is a perfected preparation of pure medicinal iron salts, combined with other valuable strength-giving tonic ingredients, which are recommended by leading physicians.

Mr. H. B. Converse, of McEwen, Tenn., writes: "I had been working very hard, and was getting weak and run-down from hard work. When I commenced taking Ziron, in a few days I felt stronger, and now I have taken two bottles I feel as strong as ever, although I have kept at work all the time."

You cannot lose anything by giving Ziron a trial, but very likely will gain much.

Your druggist will sell you the first bottle on a money-back guarantee.
