As a matter of fact, the marvelous success achieved by this medicine is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The first bottle of Tanlac to reach the public was sold just a little over six years ago. Restored to Health. Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Why Business Success Comes to the Absolutely Dependable Employee

By J. OGDEN ARMOUR, Chicago Packer

There is a type of man who is built for success. He may have genius or just ordinary talent—no matter. The point is that he always "arrives." While others plod a weary way, he gets ahead. Those who take note of his progress often cannot account for it. So they say he is "lucky." Or they whisper it about that he has a "pull with the boss." But the secret is deeper than that. He is a man who is absolutely dependable.

Make yourself dependable and you come as near being indispensable as any of us can hope to be. You will be the last one your employer will wish to part with and the first one he will want to promote to greater responsibilities.

But do not be deceived. Dependableness is a rare accomplishment—so rare that every executive is on the lookout for it wherever it may be found. It is not to be acquired by wishing for it. It is the prize that comes from self-mastery.

What is a dependable man? You can tell him by these earmarks: First, he is one you can rely upon to do his own thinking. Business requires thinking and someone must do it. The dependable man never sidesteps his share nor tries to pass it along to someone else.

Next, he is one whose judgment you can trust. He doesn't do foolish things. He knows his own abilities; and, not being conceited, he is equally aware of his own weaknesses. He has the happy faculty of understanding other people's viewpoints and of seeking their advice when he ought. Also he knows when to act on his own initiative.

Finally, he is a man you can listen to, taking stock in whatever he says. You are sure that he speaks only after due reflection. He does not talk to the galleries or for the purpose of grinding his own ax. He makes his own suggestions and pleads his cause solely in the interest of the business.

Such a man is safe. Important duties may be entrusted to him and he will handle them with diligence, good sense and earnestness. If you are looking for the quickest route to opportunity, learn to be this type of man.

"Trying to Save Children Lest Russia Go Completely to the Devil"

By REV. F. F. KOMLOSY, Russian Patriot

We have a school at Tuzla, Anatolia, near Constantinople, which is being enlarged as rapidly as circumstances will permit. The course of study is patterned as much as possible after the English school system, although the teaching is done by a number of highly educated Russians under English supervision.

Our pupils number at present about 200. They have been separated from their parents, and half of them have no idea where their parents are living at present.

This may seem harsh until you understand the conditions that are existing among the Russians. Morally, Russia is dead. Mentally, she has fallen into decay. The condition of the present adult generation is so appalling that parents are scarcely fit to have charge of their own children.

The gap in the children's lives is becoming wider every day and consequently harder to bridge over. The result is everywhere so apparent that it is a matter of urgency to save the coming generation, lest Russia go completely to the devil.

"Taxation Is Increasing Much More Rapidly Than Wealth Itself"

By FRANK O. LOWDEN, Former Governor of Illinois

Taxation, in the United States, is increasing much more rapidly than wealth itself is increasing.

One prolific cause of rapidly increasing cost of government is to be found in the number of public agencies that have authority to levy taxes.

We have the federal government, the state government, the municipal government, and the school districts all of which can levy taxes independently. And when the limit of the bonding power has been reached, the tendency is to create some other body with authority to levy taxes.

This means that the number of persons who are obtaining their livings from the public treasury is continually growing and if the proportion of public employees continue, to increase as rapidly as it has in late years we will, within a reasonable time witness this phenomenon: our population divided into two classes, those holding public office, still a minority, it is true, and all others working to support the minority in office.

"Young Man Who Settles on Homestead Claim 100 Per Cent American"

By WILLIAM SPRY, U. S. Land Commissioner

The young man who settles on a homestead claim with his family is 100 per cent American every time, and I'm for him to the last ditch. The general land office is eager to co-operate with the homesteader and to assist him in laying proper claim in accordance with the department regulations. The office is not a detective bureau, as some people think because they hear of special investigations in bringing criminals to terms. Rather, it is a bureau established to help those who would help themselves.

A large amount of choice public lands are available to homesteaders over the country, but persons filing claims should endeavor to locate under a reclamation project of the government, as an assurance of an ample water supply, unless climatic conditions afford sufficient moisture for crops.

Many returned soldiers have taken up homesteads because of the advantageous offers made by the government. The number of applicants has increased remarkably in the past few months.

Most Persistent Disciples Are Among the Most Mild-Mannered and Most Hospitable People in the World

—Ceremony of Reconciliation.

New York.—Vendetta still flourishes in many parts of the old world, but in no place is it more firmly established than in the island of Sardinia. Why it flourishes there is a mystery still unsolved, for the Sardinians themselves are probably among the mildest mannered men in the world. Travel all over their island and you will be received with the greatest hospitality.

There are few inns, except in the two or three chief towns, but inns are not needed, for every door is open to the stranger, the best of fare is offered—nay, lavished with open hands—the fatted calf is instantly slain, the cellars are ransacked for the oldest wine.

I take great pleasure in expressing to you the gratitude I feel for the good your Remedy did for me after I was convalescing from diphtheria and neuritis. My condition was serious and nothing seemed to relieve me until I was advised to try the Remedy, which I am thankful to say has been a great benefit to me, and I feel that I could not do without it. I am using it, and feel that it is benefiting me in many ways.

Agreed to Attend Mass Together. Then some one having authority suddenly listened to reason. All the hostile families—the Leporis, the Pes, the Sezzus, the Spezzigas and the Vasas—far more hostile than the Montagues and Capulets, agreed to attend a service of reconciliation together.

Their famous feud has been responsible for no fewer than 75 homicides during the last 15 years. It all began with the murder of Prof. Pier Felice Stangoni, a widower who lectured at the technical institute of Sassari. What he had done is not quite clear. Some say he had flirted with a Miss Pes and then refused to marry her.

Another story is that he was unintentionally killed by a mischievous boy from an unfriendly village. Anyhow, the professor was taking a country walk with his three boys, Albert, Mario and Arnold, when some one lurking in the thickets suddenly hit him on the forehead with a bullet from a catapult and killed him instantly.

There was a sensational trial and the suspects were acquitted. A few months later, however, one of them, Martin Pes, was killed. Thereupon the authorities arrested Professor Stangoni's father-in-law, Paul Lepori.

ANYWAY, SCHEME WORKED

Experimenter Secured Sleep, but Hardly Knows Just Where to Award the Credit.

He couldn't sleep. He had read that if one would put the tips of the fingers of one hand against the tips of the fingers of the other, one could go to sleep immediately and the next thing would be daylight.

He decided not to tell his wife. With the lights out he placed the tips of his fingers together and lay still for several minutes. Then he moved slightly and was quiet again for several minutes. Naturally after a time he began to squirm, but he kept the finger tips together.

The wife, noticing the restlessness and the finger tip performance, inquired irritably: "Edward, what in the world are you doing?"

"Nothing," he sheepishly replied, and soon was asleep from the fatigue of holding the finger tips together.

Now he doesn't know whether to give credit to the finger tip ordeal or thanks to his wife for breaking the "spell."

Then there were Mario and Arnold Stangoni, sons of the first victim, well able to remember the horror of their father's murder. Arnold in the uniform of an arditio (storm trooper), with two silver medals earned by prowess in the war.

After the benediction, old Paul Lepori and Salvatore Pes solemnly embraced and wept on each other's shoulders, amid the intense emotion and loud applause of the crowd. The kissing became general and there were solemn vows of mutual love and respect.

The Last Combat.

This is the story of the latest reconciliation. Two families carried on a feud until they were both nearly destroyed. They fought like wild beasts, concentrating every nerve, every emotion, in the business of killing the traditional foe. Year after year, in ambush and open fight, members of both families fell victims of the implacable rancor.

Oddly enough, however, the two heads of the respective clans, sturdy old men, remained unmolested. Youths and even children were laid low, but the chiefs remained, like stalwart oaks, undisturbed by the raging tempest of crime.

At last they remained almost alone. A few more murders and they would have been the solitary representatives of their slaughtered lines. They took no special precautions to guard against attack. In fact, one afternoon, one of them was riding quietly back to Sassari, accompanied by a servant. A few miles from home a shot re-
