MASKED MEN BEAT AND ROB COUPLE

FASHIONABLE FIFTH AVENUE APARTMENT SCENE OF AN-OTHER ROBBERY.

New York.-Using methods which proved successful, albiet fatal, in the notorious "Dot" King and "Lou" Lawson robberies, htree armed and masked men in dinner garb invaded a sumptuous studió apartment in the Plaza section of Fifth Avenue and escaped with $25,000 worth of gems.

The victims, who were bludgenoed bound, gagged and left unconscious, were Mrs. Fay Perkins estranged wife of a restaurant owner, and Milton Ab bott, reputed wealthy cotton broker of this city.

Mrs. Perkins' apartment was the scene of the affair. With the excep-tion of a few dollars taken from Abbott's pockets, the $25,000 loot was Mrs. Perkins' loss.

She suffered such injuries that physicians reported her condition grave. The only clue to the identity of her assailants was furnished by Abbott, who saw the silk handkerchief mask slip from the eyes of one man, and got a glimpse of features which he said would recognize again.

Mrs. Perkins, 24, has been married seven years, but lives apart from her husband, Benjamin H. Perkins, According to police, she is well known among white lights cabarets.

Court Upholds Right of Press.

Nashville, Tenn.-In passing on the demurrers of The Nashville Banner to the damage suits of the E. I. Du-Pont De Nemours and company and the Dupont Engineering company, growing out of a publication on December 16, 1923, concerning the building and operation of the old Hickory powder plant, the information purport ing to have been made public by the United States district attorney. Federal Judge John J. Gore made the following observation regarding the right of a newspaper to publish maters of "It is the privilege, if not the duty, of the press, as a disseminator of news, to publish matters of public interest: still it is not immune from liability for defamatory publications. But, when a publication concerning matters of vital importance to every one is made in good faith, in the bona fide belief of its truth, and without malice, purporting to be an interview of so high an officer of the government as the district attorney and when same is free from comment by the publisher, (except the headlines) I am of the opinion that the occasion on and the circumstances under which same was published, classifies it as 'qualifiedly privileged,' which accord-ing to well established law, upon a will rebut the presumption of malice, and cast the burden of ing actual malice upon the plaintiff. But, if, upon the trial it should appear from the proof, that the publication was false and malicious, that it was not made in good faith and was made without probable cause, then the deense or privilege would be overcome and the plaintiff should recover the damages sustained."

SEIZE SHIPS OUTSIDE LIMIT

FEDERAL JUDGE ORDERS LIQUOR TAKEN FIFTEEN MILES OUT

New York-The Dutch schooner Zeehond and a $200,000 cargo of wines, seized 15 miles off shore in 1923, were ordered forfeited, under an unprecedented ruling by Federal Judge Garvin, of Brooklyn, authorizing the government to confiscate vessels landing or purposing to land liquor in the United States from any point on the high seas.

Judge Garvin held that the venture of the Zeehond constituted attempted raud as described in section 592 of the tariff act of 1922. This section says that if any person enters or atempts to enter merchandise into the country by means of false invoice, declaration or paper of any kind, or by neans of any fraudulent practice. such merchandise shall be subject to forfeiture.

The Zeehond decision is considered by federal authorities to be unique and far-reaching in that it unholds, for the first time, the government's claim to the right to capture and confiscate alien rum smugglers outside the 12 mile as well as outside the three mile limit.

The Zeehond was captured as she lay off Fire island on December 7, 1923. She carried 2,1$0 cases of champagne and wine taken aboard at Zeebruges and destined according to the ship's papers, for Cholera banks, in vicinity the craft was captured by revenue cutters.

COOLIDGE TAKES HIS OATH

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT IS CONDUCTED CALMLY AND WITHOUT INCIDENT.

Washington.-Calvin Coolidge calmhours finally disclosed their bodies in by and quietly assumed the duties of the back of an automobile in an old the presidency for four more years, and Charles G. Dawes swept into the vice presidency, with a velocity that shattered many precedents.

In a brief inaugural ceremony, which never deviated from the decorus program laid down by him long in advance, Mr. Coolidge renewed his oath of office on his grandmother's Bible and in a short inaugural address restated his policies of governmental frugality.

But General Dawes furnished a sucression of surprises and thrills that stirred senatorial ire. First, he read the riot act to the senate on the necessity of revising its rules to outlaw the one-man filiburster.

Then, instead of swearing in the brought up in a bunch to save time. honored custom, he ordered them brought up in a buch to save time. Then he cut short the ceremony of senators signing the book, and finally, without any senator having made motion to that effect, he announced that the deliberative body would proceed to attend the inauguration of President Coolidge outside.

The senate and its distinguished guest thereupon trooped to a vastly different scene on the east plaza, where thousands already were waiting to see the induction into office of Mr. Coolidge, while millions more all over the nation waited at tunedin radio sets to hear what he said. The calm, measured tones of his inaugural address were carried to the greatest audience ever addressed by any man And as his last words ended the brief simple inauguration, millions must have heard also the calling of the bugles to set in motion the short inaugural parade which would end up the day.

Back at the White House unde scort of trotting cavalry troopers the President and his guests took their places in a glass enclosed reviewing stand to see the passage of the score of governors who had places in the pageant, the marching foot troops sailors and marines, the rumbling colinto shreds clothing valued at $750 York, was captured by a throng of umns of artillery, and a whole herd because she reprimanded him before persons who witnessed the holdup. of squat battle tanks, who had grumbled and rumbled their way up Pennsylvania avenue in a steady thunder.

The service bands in their gay uniforms gave color to the procession as they marched with trumpets blaring flourishes for the commander-in-chief 6 per cent and the rate of itnerest on but the old familiar trappings of past inaugurations were almost all abent and the whole parade had gone by in little more than an hour.

But, despite the simplicity of the territory, imposed by the wish of the President himself, Mr. Coolidge took the overwhelming vote of his fellow countrymen, amid scenes strangly concommate hanging from the door of a 19 months ago in his father's home in Vermont.

Then there was need for haste; great tragedy had set its mark on said that he would rather die than to the nation. A hurried, simple reciting of the oath his father administered that night gave the country a new that the roung woman's parents had death of President Harding objected to his paying her attention. carried throughout the land. death of President Harding could be

TOWN MUST MOVE DUT IN 60 DAYS

DECISION BY JUDGE BLOTS OUT VILLAGE OF 1,500 INHABI-TANTS.

Cheyenne, Wyo .- The town of Lavoye, literally was wiped off the map of Wyoming and its 1,500 residents deprived of their homes by a ruling of Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy, who ordered that the entire village and its populace must be moved in order to make a clear path for a giant of industry-petroleum.

Public buildings, business houses nomes — everything — must go, for Judge Kennedy decreed that the Ohio Oil company, which leased the land on which the town is located from the government for oil development is entitled to full possession within 60 days. On April 21, 1924, he held that the town had been established without legal basis but did not provide for enforcement of a removal or

The decision means that if any sign of the town is left in 60 days, those responsible will be subject to citation for contempt of court.

Lavoye is a modern incarnation of the typical boom mining town of the old west. Prosperity has been gen eral since the town was established in 1920 and the hundreds of men em ployed in the breathless rush for oil spent as freely as they earned.

Lavoye is located in the heart of the Big Salt creek oil field. It puffed up between patches of alkali and sage brush almost overnight, 40 miles north of Casper when oil drilling called thousands of men in that vicinity. In 1922 it took an other spurt of growing which continued until 1923, and it still is the same hustling village, hav ing one large mercantile establishment, three weekly newspapers, numerous motion picture theaters, automobile agencies and other institutions of work and play which fortune seekers demand

Like the mushroom town it is, its ouildings are flimsy—hastily thrown together shacks for the most partand easily can be demolished. It is expected that the business interests of the town will be transferred most ly to Salt Creek, a nearby oil town.

Fail to Hit Targets Behind Planes. Fortress Monroe, Va.-Officers the anti-aircraft defenses here admit ted defeat in tests participated in by Langley field aviators to demonstrate the effectiveness of their weapons.

The demonstration was arranged by the war department as an outgrowth in the recent air power controversy at Washington, witnesses having told the house aircraft investigating committee that anti-aircraft guns have given aviators during the war little cause for apprehension.

The tests were witnessed by members of Congress and high army and navy officers, including Brig. Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, whose open and vigorous disagreement with aviation policles of the two departments gave rise to the recent controversy and found a in the announcement at Washington that Lieut. Co. James E. Fechel would succeed him in his present position April 27, when his term of office expires

In the night problem, five powerful searchlights were switched on at full power, sufficient to send a beam of light 19,000 feet into the air, but were unable to find the aircraft as they flew at ranges less than half that distance.
