LOCAL NEWS.

The trees are budding out rapidly and straw hats will follow suit.

It's time for April showers, but so far they've been a little scarce.

Business was almost entirely suspended here Monday for the Easter holiday.

Graham Graded School suspended for the Easter holiday from Friday till Monday, inclusive.

Firemen Will Play Ball.

On Saturday afternoon, April 25th, at 3:30, at Travora Park, Graham Fireman will pull off an exhibition game of baseball. The town should "turn out" and fill the grand stand and bleachers. In other words, give the Firemen a full house. No doubt it will be a funny game, and most people like funny things. But the Firemen are not doing this stunt for fun alone. It takes a little coin to maintain a fire department, so each spectator will be requested to contribute a quarter. Folks, turn out just like the Firemen do when the alarm is turned in and your house is on fire.

National Bank Returns Its Handsomely Remodeled Home.

On last Tuesday the National Bank of Alamance moved back to its own home. For about six months its own building had been undergoing a remodeling process. On the first floor of the building there were two rooms originally—one the banking room and the other a store.

These have been converted and the entire first floor is now used for the banking operations. Outside the enclosure where the employees work is a large lobby with desks, tables, and seats for the convenience and comfort of customers. In the rear are three rooms—directors' room, storage room, and work room. There is plenty of room for all the activities of the bank without crowding.

The floors are tiled and the walls and ceiling beautifully decorated. In appearance the interior will not suffer by comparison with similar quarters of a like institution anywhere in this state.

The outside has also undergone a complete change. The plate glass front is replaced by small panes in steel sash which make a pleasing appearance.

The front is handsomely trimmed in gray terra cotta. In fact it is now a very attractive and convenient banking home. Mr. Sam T. Johnston was the contractor and the work was done under his supervision and he did a good job.

Last, but not least, is the vault where money and safety deposit boxes are kept. The vault is divided into two apartments—one for cash, doing away with a safe, and the other for safety deposit boxes and valuables. Both these are roomy. A 19-ton door, so perfectly balanced that a child can move it, closes the vault entrance. Above, beneath and the sides, the construction of the vault is of thick walls of concrete and steel, making entrance practically impossible. So safe and secure do insurance companies consider the vault that they charge the minimum burglar insurance rate.

The officials and all connected with the bank as shareholders or patrons should feel proud of its home. And the surroundings are peculiarly satisfying to Mr. Chas. A. Scott, who has been cashier and guided its destinies from its beginning nearly 26 years ago, when it started with a capital of $5,000.00.

Save the forests by keeping out fires. This is the main purpose of Forest Week Apr. 27 to May 3.

Tarheel dairymen are finding that it pays to test their cows. One Guilford County dairyman told county agent J. I. Wagoner that he could afford to build a new barn now that he knew what his cows were doing.

Don't abuse the hen because she wants to set. Instead, put her in a slatted coop, feed her well and give plenty of water. Generally she will be ready to get back to laying in two or three weeks.

Tarheel folks are getting the health habit of drinking milk. Each person in the U. S. drank one and three-fourths gallons more of milk last year than the year previous and some of this increase was in N. C., say home demonstration workers.

Corn Fed Hogs Bring Better Price.

The failure to understand that hogs fresh from the soybeans and peanut fields will sell for better prices when they have been fed further with corn and fish meal is costing farmers of N. C. many thousands of dollars per year.

W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at State College, cites the case of T. W. Griffin of Woodville in Bertie county who had 54 hogs fresh from soybean and peanut fields on February 5. The hogs weighed 9,295 pounds and he was offered 8 cents per pound for them. This would have brought him $743.60. Mr. Griffin took up the matter with county agent B. E. Grant who wired Mr. Shay for advice.

Mr. Shay wired back to add sixty pound to the hogs by feeding corn and fish meal. He then explained by letter that oily hogs were selling at that time for $7.50 to $9.00 per hundred pounds and that while the price trend was upwards, the hogs weighing 172 pounds each were then too heavy to be made hard. If 60 pounds were added to each hog, they might be made to grade soft instead of oily and better prices would be received.

Mr. Griffin followed this advice. He added 3,493 pounds to the total weight, an average of 65.7 pounds each, at a feed cost of $14.12 per hundred pounds gain and sold the animals i. o. b. Woodville on March 21. This was just 44 days later and he received a price of $12 per hundred making a profit of $297.76.

Mr. Griffin stated that corn was selling locally for $1.06 per bushel. He sold 279.5 bushels of corn and corn meal for $2.68 per bushel.

"Other farmers following our recommendations as to feeding hogs are finding that it pays to sell their corn in this way," says Mr. Shay.

Proper spraying of the early Irish potato crop has increased the yield 74 bushels per acre according to tests made by Dr. R. W. Leiby of the North Carolina Experiment Station.
