Tobacco Paid Well For Seed Treatment.

It pays to treat tobacco seed before planting so that plant disease spores may be killed. Plant disease specialists, experjenced tobacco workers and county agents of State College have said this in the past but now comes the proof.

"Last year, sixty-six farmers of Columbus County treated enough of their tobacco seed to plant 1,000 acres. The seed were also cleaned so that only the best were planted. I have heard from 20 of these men this winter and they all say that they had no disease in their tobacco this year and a good grade of weed was producgood grade of weed was produc-ed," writes J. P. Quinerly, county agent in Columbus County, "The men further stated that they cer-tainly wanted their seed cleaned and treated again this season. This we are preparing to do."

After the tobacco seed are cleaned, a treatment with a formaldehyde solution using one tablespoonful of the material to solution is placed in a glass jar and the seed in a cloth sack which is dipped into the solution for exactly ten minutes-no more. When removed the seed are washed until the odor of formaldehyde is gone and then spread out to dry.

But this is only one disease preventable recommended by G. W. Faut, plant disease specialist. He states that a new location should be found for the seed bed especially if there was disease in the tobacco last year and it is impossible to sterilize the old bed. The old plant bed canvasses o boiled or new ones Only the best plants should be drawn out for planting field showing signs of disease should be pulled up and burned.

By using these simple preventatives, tobacco diseases may be kept in control and a better quality of weed produced this

New Bulletin Contains

Business Farming Plans.

Carolina may adopt better balanced systems of handling his farming business is discussed in a new bulletin, Extension Circular 163, recently issued by the Agricultural Extension Service of State

The publication contains 19 ed to be less than in any year pages of realing matter. It gives since 1920 21." the present situation in regard to for growers over North Carolina sult of research work at State College and on the practices of successful farmers.

Fifty thousand copies of the bulletin have been printed in the first edition and these will largely needed for work stock; how to bushel. have the year around garden; how to handle and grow a farm poultry flock; the importance of the family cow; the family pork sup-ply; the farm flock of sheep and a safe cropping program for North Carolina this season. Under each of these main headings there is a discussion giving facts about the particular problem.

According to Dean I. O. Schaub, this bulletin is one of the most valuable publications issued by the college in recent years. Each cotton farmer in the State should have a copy and they may be obtained free of charge as long as the supply lasts by addressing the Agricultural Editor at State

The greater the percent of total income from cotton, the less the total savings through a period of years, say agricultural economists.

Follow directions and handle he incubator correctly if the best hatch of livable chicks is to be ecured, say poultry workers.

Club Work Pays In Cash Returns

An accurate record kept of Four-H club work in Catawba county during the past six years shows that the few well organized clubs of this county have paid a net profit of $74,474.60.

"Club work was started in Catawba under my direction in 1920 with an enrollment of 38 members," says County Agent J. W. Hendricks. "Last year, 1926, I had 162 members. During the period since 1920 there were a total of 338 members in our clubs. Twelve of the original 38 mem bers have made a report each year since they joined. Nineteen of the members have married and 30 are in college or have finished. A large percent of the old club members are now in the county doing some kind of agricultural work. Some are in the dairy business with as many as 50 head of cattle while others are in poultry work with flocks of from 500 to 2,000 birds."

Mr. Hendricks and his club members have been showing their poultry, in car shipments, for seven years. They have exhibited at 34 different fairs and shows. The first exhibit consisted of 73 birds and the last of 578 birds. More than 300 first prizes have been won in that time. Since the fall of 1920, the club members have had their birds exhibited at a pint of water is then given. The the Madison Square Garden poultry Show and no bird has ever placed lower than fifth. For the past few years, blue ribbons have been won at this show. This year, Mr. Hendricks sent 12 entries to

In keeping in touch with his elub work, Mr. Hendricks has an individual record of each club member. This record is filed and contains the profit made by each member each year. It shows the year the member married or enjered college and what he is doing at present. Club work has been conducted in the corn, cotton, sheep, calf and poultry projects during the past six years, Poul-try is the major project with calf club work second, The first Jer-sey Calf Club in the Southern and these should be free of all sey Calf Club in the Southern leafspots. The first plants in the States was organized in this county in 1922 with 22 members.

A Good Time To Grow Hogs

This will be another good year for hogs. W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at State College, is authority for this statement and Mr. Shay is credited with knowing more about raising How the cotton farmer of North and fattening these animals than any other man in North Carolina. Here is what he says, "Advance information from the Government pig survey indicates that high prices for hogs will continue for another year. In fact the number of hogs slaughtered is expect-

This means, according to Mr. cotton and points out the need Shay, that there is less pork in storage and the man who grows to practice a better balanced system of the pigs well and fattens them of agriculture. The bulletin properly will make a profit on does not preach nor try to point the feed given them. ## Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an ex-cess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Reten-tion of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and and, sometimes, tone backets the headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys h times by the use of Doan's —a stimulant diuretic.
