

THE GLEANER

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY.

J. D. KERNODLE, Editor. $1.00 A YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

Speaking of voting for Gov. Al Smith, a Democrat, who had voted the ticket straight for 50 years, said not a word about Smith's views on the Volstead act...

The thought has been expressed that there is a shadow of insincerity in the issue promulgated by some leading clergymen against the candidacy of Gov. Smith.

Isn't it rather strange that, until nominated for president and a few weeks preceding that event, the public had heard little or nothing of Gov. Smith's unsavory record?

Running for president is a big financial job for somebody. If the candidate had to pay all the expenses himself, he would have to be several times a millionaire.

From an investment of $53.50 for 9 ewes and one ram, G. F. Bateman of Pasquotank county sold $15 worth of lambs and $18 worth of wool this spring.

The Kraft Cheese company is opening a branch plant in Ashe county thus helping to stimulate greater interest in dairy cattle in that section.

Whale meal cannot compare with fish as a supplementary feed for hogs according to recent tests made at the North Carolina Experiment Station.

Seventy-five farm women attended the county camp for women in Columbus county during June. Thirty women also made a tour to Washington and other points at a cost of $30 per person.

According to reports received from most of the county agents of North Carolina, the state has an incubator capacity of over two million chicks each three weeks. Forsyth county leads with a capacity of 123,000 eggs.

In summer time give the refrigerator extra care, and wash it thoroughly with hot water and soda once or twice a week.

Annual Farm Meeting Was Great Success.

Five Women Honored as Master Farm Homemakers.

Despite a lower attendance than in previous years, the 26th annual State Farmers' and Farm Women's convention held at State College during the week of July 23 was a great success.

Total registration for rooms was about 300 below that for last summer due largely to delayed crops, the tobacco harvest and low prices for early truck crops in eastern Carolina.

In fact, some of the main features of the program were arranged for ladies. Five were honored with the title of Master Farm Homemaker. These were Mrs. J. E. Corriher of China Grove; Mrs. W. B. Lamb, Garland; Mrs. A. R. Poyner, Moyock; Mrs. W. T. Whitsett, Whitsett; and Mrs. W. D. Graham, Mt. Ulla.

Excellent programs were provided in each of the sectional meetings. The general meetings held each day at eleven o'clock carried the principal addresses of the convention.

Corn Sells High To Dairy Cows.

It is unusual for a farmer to get $4.46 a bushel for his corn in North Carolina but there is a way to do it and Tom Morrow of Iredele county has learned the method.

Mr. Arey states that these 11 cows were fed 2,269 pounds of a home-grown grain mixture made by mixing together 200 pounds of corn meal, 100 pounds of cottonseed meal and 100 pounds of crushed oats, which was valued at $46 a ton or $22.19 for the amount fed.

On this basis, states Mr. Arey, the cows paid $9.21 each for their pasture. The cows consumed 23.6 bushels of corn in the form of meal and allowing all charges for the feedstuffs, the animals paid $4.46 a bushel for the corn.

Therefore, states Mr. Arey, the man who has cows above the average, a good pasture and will grow his grain and hay mixtures at home can make money selling cream. The dairy cow, in his opinion, is one of the very best markets for the surplus feedstuffs produced on the average farm.

The ridge or hill method of cultivating tobacco is helping to overcome some of the bad effects of too much rain in Martin county.

The first club encampment for this season was the one held in late May at Camp Lesch near Washington by Four-H club members of Pitt county.

STATE FIREMEN MEET NEW BERN NEXT WEEK.

Convention Meets Monday—Valuable Prizes for Events—Large Attendance Expected—Extensive Preparation for Entertainment.

New Bern, July 30th.—New Bern firemen are making extensive plans for the forty-first annual state firemen's convention and tournament here during the week of August 6 to be the best in the history of the organization.

Prizes aggregating $1,500 will be offered to the winners in the annual truck and reel races to be held here Thursday, August 9. Prizes of $1,000 in cash, a gold cup and four silver cups will be given in the motor boat races August 10 and 11, as closing features of the convention.

Outboard motor races will be held Friday and free-for-all boat races will be staged Saturday on Trent River at the Country Club. They will be held under the auspices of the American Power Boat Association and promise to be outstanding racing events of the south for the year.

A state beauty queen, "Miss North Carolina," will be chosen during the convention from competitors selected by the different towns in the state. A coronation ball will be held Wednesday night, August 8. The annual firemen's ball will take place Thursday night at the Banner Warehouse here.

With an expected attendance of between 800 and 1,000 farm boys and girls, the annual state 4-H club short course held at State College during the week of July 30 to August 4 will likely be one of the principal farm events in North Carolina this year.

Our four-H clubs are better organized in all parts of North Carolina than ever before," says L. R. Harrill, club agent. "The program for our annual state encampment has been in the course of preparation for some weeks and we have a balanced meeting in which play and recreation will take an important place along with the courses of instruction.

Miss Maude E. Wallace, in charge of the girls club work, has arranged courses in food and health, clothing, room improvement, recreation, poultry and culture. House mothers who will have charge of the girls during the week are Misses Mattie Lee Cooley, Ethel Nice and Daisy Caldwell and Mrs. Sabrie Williams Reid.

The young folks will need little spending money during the week. The actual cost of the camp is $7.50 per person, this to include all charges for room and board, laboratory fees and other incidentals.

Miles Brite of Pasquotank county has recently purchased 14 pure bred Hampshire ewes and 1 pure bred Hampshire pig for $220. He intends to produce breeding stock for the sheep growers of his community.

Farmers of Chowan county will ship 20 cars of fat hogs cooperatively this fall.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On When Women Come into Money.

As Aunt Emmy sipped her tea she heard the conversation drift to the Slade sisters. The fact that they had inherited a large fortune and would have to administer it themselves created considerable comment.

"My husband says old man Slade made a big mistake not putting it in trust for them," said Mrs. Burt. "He says women never should handle large sums of money because they are financially uneducated—he really means 'dumb.'"

"All women aren't dumb about money matters, are they, Aunt Emmy?" exclaimed Miss Pringle.

"Of course not," Aunt Emmy agreed. "There are all sorts and kinds of women all the way from very prudent to very foolish."

"Well, anyway, an awful lot of women have been victimized in financial things—just look at all the widows that have been robbed," insisted Mrs. Burt.

"There won't be so much of that in the future as in the past," Aunt Emmy said. "Women have been easy to victimize because they knew so little about money affairs, but now they are realizing this danger more and more and are taking advantage of the financial advice departments their bankers have set up for them."

"But if women didn't buy things, there wouldn't be any business," spoke up Molly. "Women are the natural spenders of the family, Dad says."

"Yes, but they would have more to spend if they'd go a little slower," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every time I see a woman falling for some silly get-rich-quick scheme I think of the nice things she could buy with the money she is going to lose."

"From what I know of the Slade girls," Molly began—but just then the Slade girls themselves came in.

"We're so sorry to be late," they apologized, "but we have been having our first lesson in finance down at the Trust Company. They are going to give us quite a lot of time and explain all the things we ought to know about money to keep us out of financial trouble."

"Well, my dears, you are going to the right school," said Aunt Emmy. "If every woman would do that there'd be less trouble and more pretty things for all of them."

Saves Soil Fertility By Terracing Fields.

Spending $3,000 a year for stable manure alone is a heavy expense, on a nursery farm, especially when much of the purchased fertility is lost through soil erosion.

"So the Howard-Hickory Nursery of Catawba county began to build a complete system of terraces and is now controlling erosion through the use of the Mangum terrace," says A. T. Holman, agricultural engineer at State College. "This nursery farm is located on rolling land which makes the erosion problem more serious. In the past, the company has attempted to maintain the fertility of its farm by using commercial fertilizers, growing green manure crops and applying stable compost.

Mr. Holman states that O. Joe Howard, secretary and treasurer of the nursery company, makes the statement that his results with the use of the Mangum terrace are so encouraging that the
