GRAHAM, N. C., NOV. 8, 1928.

The Chapter Ended.

The operation is over. It was a major affair. It will take some time for the laceration to heal, but the scar will remain.

It was almost as near a complete rout as the enemy could have wished.

Reasons and reasons will be given for the changing, but few will come to the same conclusion.

Returns are not complete, but some indications will be given:

In Alamance it is a turnover from more than a 1,000 Democratic in the election two years ago to an average of 1200 or more Republican.

Only four Democrats on the county ticket, Judge D. J. Walker, County Solicitor John S. Thomas, Lewis H. Holt, surveyor, and W. Ernest Thompson, coroner, were elected, and these had no opposition. The Republicans elected their candidates for Sheriff, Register of Deeds, County Commissioners, and Representative in the Legislature.

Hon. Robt. W. Scott was elected to the State Senate. He had no opposition.

The Democratic Congressmen in the 8th and 10th districts lose their seats. In this district (the 5th) Maj. Stedman wins by a small majority, less than 500, over Junius H. Harden, Republican opponent.

Max Gardner leads for Governor by more than 65,000, and the Democratic State ticket is safe.

Gov. Al Smith is defeated in the State by more than 40,000, and the electoral vote goes to Hoover.

In Congress, in both the Senate and House, the Republicans will have it all their way.

The State Legislature is Democratic so far as can be learned, but the margin will be greatly reduced.

Thus has ended the bitterest campaign in the country's history. The prohibition and religious issues went hand in hand.

Hoover Elected.

The voters have rendered their verdict and Mr. Hoover is overwhelmingly elected president for the next four years.

We hand the victor the palm. That the people have expressed their confidence in Mr. Hoover, it is hoped that every expectation for the glory of the country, and more, may be the outcome.

Let us all hope, regardless of political affiliation, that the administration of Mr. Hoover may bring happiness and prosperity to the country at large.

Hotchpotch.

The grand old North State Democratic ship that weathered many a fierce gale in the last half century still floats, but is hardly sea-worthy. Thirty-two years ago she was stripped of sails, rigging and spars by a Republico-Populist typhoon. She had her splendid hull and rudder and well-trained seamen left. Thus she hove in port and was refitted, and four years later the political pirates were driven to sea. Since, another generation has come into being which knows little of those turbulent days that tugged at the foundations of society and good government. With little or no concern for the safety of the commonwealth and ignorant of the travail of the Mother State in the 90's, they joined the assailants and the tragedy of a score and a half years ago is practically repeated. But Democracy, Phoenix-like will lift herself from the slough.

"Backfire."

Senator Simmons' own precinct and county (Craven) did not follow his lead—irony that cuts.

As a day of great disappointment and shattered hopes, election day is preeminent.

When it comes to guessing, most of us shoot wide of the mark. For instance, the election.

Gov. Al Smith says he received next to the biggest vote ever cast for a candidate for President. Hoover is the exception.

"Normalcy" is what the late President Harding looked for—kinder predicted. Something of that sort would suit the great minority now.

Mr. Hoover said he proposed to carry on the Harding and Coolidge policies. The way the voters stuck 'em in, it seems that Mr. Hoover's program is endorsed.

Too many bonds, too much tax; too many berths, too much "overhead,"—these helped to gorge the stomach of the electorate of Alamance County and it revolted.

With the big odds rolled up Tuesday for U. S. Senators, who are under no obligations to North Carolina's Senior Senator for their support, to whom shall Mr. Simmons look for succor and comfort?

Senator Simmons, after all is said, appears to be something of a political seer. His last pronouncement just a day or two before the election said Al Smith would be defeated 30,000 in this State, but it is more.

Tuesday was a fit day to take to the "dugouts," with debris falling on all sides and no certainty as to where it would fall. A regular tropical tornado tearing political craft from their seemingly safe moorings.

At the 1924 election Craven County, Senator Simmons' home County, went Democratic 14 to 1. At Tuesday's election Mr. Simmons' voting precinct went against him, also his county, by a small margin. It was a big turn-over, nevertheless.

M. Coolidge was moved to send a telegram of congratulations to Mr. Hoover on his speech at St. Louis, as the latter was speeding toward his California home to vote, and that is about the only thing that Coolidge said during the campaign, of which there is any record. Hoover is classed as a Q. taker, but he ought to pass the mantle over to Coolidge.

Poultry Program.

Grow Better Poultry Free From Disease—Keep Records of Costs and Income.

The program for the North Carolina poultry producer to follow the coming year is to produce better breeding stock and to keep it free from disease.

"Once this better producing stock free from disease is secured, every effort should be made to keep it free," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department at State College. Doing this will help to reduce the mortality of our birds; will make it unnecessary to cull so frequently and will help to maintain high egg production during the season of high prices. It is also good business for the poultry grower to keep an accurate record of his expenses and receipts. Only in this way can he tell whether or not his birds are paying for their keep.

So as to get the best prices for eggs, Dr. Kaupp advises hatching at least one-half of the pullets so as to come into lay during August and the other half to begin laying in October. Lights should be used to prevent a slump in production and neck moult.

In his tests at the college, Dr. Kaupp has found that nothing so impairs the health of the average flock as a wet floor caused by a leaky roof. Even a concrete floor laid upon the dirt without a layer of cinders or river gravel will be wet and make the hens sick. A sick hen will not lay.

Drafts on the birds caused by cracks in the house also cause sickness and so does an unclean house. Dr. Kaupp says that it is imperative to keep the house clean. The nests especially should be clean if quality eggs are to be sold. If hens try to roost in the nests, go out at night, he advises, and lift the birds onto the perch poles.

The poultry department is offering a special short course for poultrymen of North Carolina during the period of November 19 to 24 when these and other questions will be discussed by practical growers and scientists.

"inside" Information.

Do you think about how you are sitting or standing when doing your housework? Much fatigue that is blamed on hard work is really due to faulty posture. Keep the back straight, bend from the hips rather than the shoulders, sit well back in chairs with feet squarely on the floor, and do not allow the abdomen to sag forward.

Some of the hard varieties of pears are delicious baked. Wash them, cut in half, and core. Place in a baking dish. Sprinkle with brown sugar and a little salt, dot with butter, and a very little water. Place in a moderate oven. Cover at first until the pears become soft. Baste occasionally while they are cooking. Add more water if necessary to keep them from burning.

Lemon and olive oil may be used to season spinach. Pass sections of the lemon as you would with fish, and a cruse of oil.

In some parts of piedmont North Carolina the acreage to sweet clover will be increased 400 to 500 per cent next spring.

In 14 demonstrations with tobacco in Martin County, the 8-4 fertilizer recommended by E. Y. Floyd, tobacco specialist, has apparently given better yields and higher quality of leaf.

A milling company of Jackson County has installed a power driven machine to treat seed wheat with copper carbonate dust for growers of the county. This mill will clean and treat the wheat for 5 cents a bushel.

Charles McCall of McDowell County has begun a regular four-year rotation of crops on a field of 80 acres on his farm. This is his first time to adopt a definite plan.
