$1.00 A YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

Entered at the Postoffice at Graham, N. C., as second-class matter.

Bruno Hauptmann continues to write his auto-biography in his death cell. He may hope it will secure clemency for him and that he will escape the death penalty.

Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh and family sailed for Europe Monday to make their home for some time, how long is not known. Nearly four years ago their son, Chas. A., Jr., was kidnapped and murdered.

From Washington, when Congress convenes in January, the sentiment for paying the soldier bonus seems to be growing. It must be paid eventually. At this time, or next, it perhaps would be just as well to get rid of the bonus.

Mussolini continues to push his conquest program. No action taken by the League of Nations seems to have any effect on his plans or activities. He hoots at sanctions. All Italy appears to be backing him.

Plans are being made for the President's Birthday Ball on January 30th to create funds with which to combat the disease and to provide local treatment and rehabilitation of infantile Paralysis sufferers. There are 5,000 towns and communities in the United States, which the control committee is seeking to interest.

There have been tragedies and tragedies all over the United States during the holidays. Many anticipated happy reunions have been turned into scenes of grief and sorrow. It would be a long list to recount all of them, and none that did not bring some measure of grief to someone.

Twelve Duplin farmers recently made a cooperative purchase of 225 fruit and nut trees.

Termites Are Builders; Queen Big Egg Producer

The African termite builds a conical hill 10 feet high with a circumference of anything up to 36 feet, but these are dwarfed by some Australian species, which build mounds 24 feet high. Each of these mounds, writes a correspondent in Tit-Bits Magazine, is constructed by the worker termites and built of minute particles of matter.

Somewhere in a well-guarded place in the heart of the termites' home we find the royal compartment of the queen. She is a remarkable creature, for after mating with the king her body swells to an enormous size, and for the remainder of her life she is an egg machine, attaining a length of 3 inches and laying 60,000 eggs a day.

With such a prolific mother the colony increases to such an extent that there may be millions of workers and soldiers, yet all their operations are carried out in darkness, and hundreds of human beings have lived all their lives within a few yards of a colony without seeing a single termite.

If a queen should die, the colony is thrown into confusion, but the workers take some of the eggs and treat them in some mysterious manner to produce queens. So far as we can tell all eggs laid by the queen are similar, but the workers can produce queens, kings, soldiers or workers.

Difference Between the Scotch, English Collies

Modern dog breeders recognize three main types of collies, of which only two are really collies, says the Montreal Herald. The Old English sheep dog, which has no real tail, is a big, rough-coated mastiff type of dog which has not been used to herd sheep for at least a century.

Giant Jungle Flower

There are freaks in the plant kingdom such as giants, dwarfs, etc., just the same as in other forms of life. One of the curious freaks among plants is the rafflesia, giant flower found in the Sumatran jungles. It has neither stem nor leaves but boasts a great blossom that measures a good three feet across, usually, with five petals each a foot long and about an inch thick.

U. S. Slang in Oxford Lexicon

However rude or crude are American terms they are so expressive and impudently near the truth that it is very hard to resist them a place in any honest lexicon. Such terms are "graft," "once-over," "foolproof" and "step on the gas." This was the explanation given by the president of Magdalen college, Oxford, England, for their inclusion in the supplementary volume of the Oxford Dictionary.

Female Larger Than Male Fish

There is considerable difference in size between the male and female of the deep-sea fish species known to scientists as Idiacanthus fasciola. Although the females of the species may range in length from 2 1/2 to 10 1/2 inches, the males grow to be only from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches long.

A flock of 235 Rhode Island Red hens returned J. L. Houk of Morgantown, Route 2, Burke County, a net profit of $580.00 above feed costs during the past season.

Lincoln County farmers have killed and cured an unusual amount of pork this season and report ample supplies of meat stored for future use.

A decrease from seven to two percent in Bangs disease has been secured in McDowell County in recent weeks due to testing done under the direction of the farm agent.

Despite a poor corn year in Union County, 4-H club members report an average yield of 44.6 bushels per acre on their club projects.

P. A. Erwin of Route 1, Matthews, Mecklenburg County, has 25 acres in pasture which he says is one of the most profitable fields on his farm.

Trench silos recently opened in Transylvania County show that the silage is in perfect condition as a feed for cows.

Only 87 persons out of 3,670 who have tobacco adjustment contracts in Columbus County have so far failed to sign for the new program. This is a sign-up of 97 1/2 percent.

OPIUM TRAFFIC IN CHINA.

Stamping out the dreaded opium traffic in the Orient and methods used in catching smugglers is explained in an interesting illustrated article in the December 29th issue of the American Weekly, the magazine which comes regularly with the BALTIMORE SUNDAY AMERICAN. On sale by newsdealers or mailed regularly for 50 cents a month, $5.00 a year.
