

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., MAY 13, 1937

Local News

—It's feeling almost like "good old summertime."

—Memorial services will be held at Mt. Hermon, Albright township, Sunday.

—It's an old saying that a cool May forebodes a good wheat crop. So note it be.

—County grown strawberries have made their appearance on the Graham market. They are fine and luscious.

—Mrs. Perchie Key of Galax, Va., arrived last Saturday for conducting the revival service at the Friends church, beginning last Sunday evening.

—The regular third Sunday services at Graham Christian church will be conducted by Rev. L. L. Wyrick of Elon College next Sunday morning.

—Graham's town officers elected on Tuesday, last week, were sworn in last Thursday night. Only one change in the board, and perhaps no change in the appointive officials.

—Superior Court is progressing slowly with the disposition of a big criminal docket. There is an accumulation of mean cases that take up more time than those of greater moment.

—A large attendance is reported at memorial and home-coming services at the Union Christian church, North Alameda, on last Sunday. The second Sunday in May is the regular day for the services at that church.

—Congratulations, city guardians, on removing the "dimers" from the street lights north side W. Harden, between Main and Maple, and fixing the light on the most northern lamp on Maple so that it shines again.

—An old time fiddlers' convention will be held at the court house Friday evening, opening at 7 o'clock, sponsored by the Woman's club of Bethany church. The program will comprise instrumental and vocal music. A number of prizes will be awarded.

—According to a statement in the Burlington Times-News, the compromise settlement of the City of Burlington against Alameda County in which the county assumed $49,000 of the bonded indebtedness incurred on account of schools, recently disposed of, the costs amounted to more than $8,000 in fees allowed and court costs. There is an intimation that the cost tended to be excessive.

—News comes from Greensboro of the sudden death of Richard C. Kelley, prominent lawyer, at his office there about 10:30 this morning. The burial will be here in Linwood cemetery at 10:30 Saturday morning. He is survived by his wife, who is the daughter of Mrs. Williamson and the late Geo. T. Williamson and a sister of Mrs. Graham Harden, and two daughters of a former marriage. He was 50 years of age.

Two Marriages in the Offing of Interest Here.

Sunday morning's Greensboro Daily News contained two engagement announcements of special interest here:

That of Miss Elizabeth Sue Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Byrd of Hamlet, to John H. Vernon, Jr., prominent young attorney of Burlington.

And Miss Margaret Rogina Plonk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Plonk of King's Mountain, to Sessler Carlyle Isley, young business man of Burlington.

The weddings will take place in June, and both of the brides-to-be are popular and highly esteemed members of the Graham School faculty. And, by the way, Mr. Isley has two brothers, Coman and Randolph Isley, who married Graham girls and make their homes here.

Randolph county farmers seem to be taking a greater interest in their TVA farm record books, and, as a result, better records are expected to be turned in this year, according to L. L. Ray, assistant farm agent.

A larger number of Wayne county farmers are treating their cotton seed with Ceresan this year. Good results obtained by others have convinced them of the value of this practice.

Raindrops sometime require an hour to reach the earth.

The Construction of New Buildings Goes on in Graham

Graham is not on a boom, but building is going on at a steady pace. It is learned from Dr. Will S. Long, Chief of the Fire department, that during the month of April permits were given amounting to $19,500, namely:

Will Ed Thompson, cottage, Guthrie street, $500.

E. P. Caruthers, two bungalows, Walker Ave., for both, $2,000.

C. M. Euliss, garage, W. Harden street, $10,000.

H. W. Scott and others, improving and remodeling stores, on N. Main street, $2,000.

W. M. Lodge, on lot next to Mrs. A. Lacy Holt, residence, N. Melville street, $5,000.

There are still others for which permits have not been issued.

These constructions are for meeting demands and not speculation.

DEATHS

John Henry Morgan, near Saxapahaw, aged and esteemed citizen, died May 6th. Burial at Moore's Chapel.

An Exhibit of Miniature Locomotives--Works of Genius and Art.

Down on the Court House Square, yesterday, the maker, Ernest Warther of Dover, Ohio, had on exhibit sixteen miniature locomotive engines, fifteen running.

They are mounted on three step-shelves and arranged in the order in which they came into existence.

One was not running. It is a model made by Sir Isaac Newton and dates back to 1680. It was found among Newton's effects after his death. After he had discovered that steam would lift a kettle lid he began to try to make application of his discovery. He built an engine but it would not work, but he left the model.

Following this Mr. Warther has constructed models of the various types of engines as they appeared—the wood burners, coal burners and fuel oil burners.

It's an interesting exhibit whether one is mechanic minded or not. You see the miniatures running with the precision of the giants that pull the long passenger and freight trains.

They are not thrown together in a slipshod way, but are perfect units of intricate machinery, artfully and beautifully constructed and finished.

The material used, besides the castiron wheels, is of ebony, walnut, ivory and mother of pearl.

The latest model is a triple compound, after an engine built by the Baltimore Locomotive Works, only two of which were built, one for the Erie Railroad and one for the Virginian. These mammoth engines weighed 426½ tons and were 108 feet in length. It seems they were not a success—too big and cumbersome, and were finally scrapped.

Mr. Warther does not have a screwdriver, but says when he gets back home he's going to build one.

For 15 years, we understood, Mr. Warther has worked on these models when he had time from his regular work, and, by the way, about as much oil is consumed in lubrication as it takes for a watch that you carry in your pocket.

In all respects this exhibit equals any of Ripley's "Believe it or Not" collections in that they are genuine handiwork and not freaks of nature.

Annual Dinner by U. D. C. for Veterans.

On last Saturday, instead of the regular memorial day, May 10th, exercises, Graham Chapter U. D. C. held their exercises.

Many years ago, in the youthful days of the Graham Chapter, there were more than a hundred veterans, besides the widows and wives of veterans, at these annual gatherings, but Father Time has been busy the year round, leaving only three wearers of the grey in Alameda county, namely John H. Euliss, near Liberty, Joseph S. Gibson, near Mebane, and Alfred L. Newlin, near Swepsonville. The last named was not able to be present. There were only two widows present.

The exercises were held in the Brotherhood class room in the Presbyterian church and presided over by the president of the chapter, Mrs. C. C. Thompson. The program was under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Henderson. The regular address was made by Harper Barnes, local attorney. Rev. W. E. Harrop conducted the devotional. A class from the Children's Chapter sang and there was special music by Miss Virginia Caruthers, piano, and Rankin Caruthers, cello.

Of special interest was the account of the dedication of the room at Stratford Hall in which Robert E. Lee was born, given by Mrs. J. Dolph Long, who attended the ceremony on May 2nd.

Following the exercises a splendid dinner was served for the Veterans, the widows, chapter members, including the Children, and invited guests.

Centenarians.

At one time, quite many years ago, in the southwestern part of this county—to be more specific, in Patterson township, there were two citizens, a Mr. Foster and a Mr. Stout (we're not certain as to their first names) who celebrated their one hundredth birthdays. It was a joint celebration, though the anniversaries did not fall on the same dates. The occasion was made a community affair.

There is now living in that same section of the county, the same township, a gentleman who, perhaps, is the oldest resident of the county. His name is John H. Euliss, who lacks but two months of being 96 years of age. Mr. Euliss is a Confederate veteran. He was here Saturday at the dinner given by Graham Chapter of the Confederacy.

Mr. Euliss is remarkably well preserved, looks to be and says he is in good health, though he says he cannot hear as well as he used to. Mr. Euliss said he had never been sick enough to spend a day in bed in his life. That is a remarkable record. Talking with him, another aged gentleman from his township; namely, "Squire Sylvester Spoon, was mentioned, whom Mr. Euliss said was his first cousin. Mr. Spoon, well along in his 90's, died several years ago. When he was past 90 he cultivated a crop of cotton and other crops and raised ample for his needs.

That all these old people lived in Patterson township, marks that, it seems, as the healthiest section of Alameda county, or anywhere else for that matter. Would it not be a fine location for a sanatorium? The elevation is good, the soil a sandy loam, good water and good people.

Efforts are being made to organize a 4-H Service Club in Guilford county, the membership to be composed of farm boys and girls between the ages of 18 and 25.

What is the "Low-price Field"?

YOU hear a lot about "the low-price field" these days. A good many cars claim to be in it. So whenever the low-price field is mentioned, remember:

Until Ford came, no average American could own a car.

Today all Ford prices are still low — with the prices of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 $30 to $60 lower than those of any other car of comparable size.

But with Ford, "low price" doesn't merely mean low figures on the price tag. It means much more than that. It means low prices and low costs all the car's long life. Low prices for service — for parts — and, above all, for operation.

Both Ford V-8 engine sizes are economical to operate. The 85 horsepower gives greater gasoline mileage this year than ever, and the "60" delivers the highest mileage in Ford history.

Private owners, cab companies, fleet operators all report that the "60" averages from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Check and see how much Ford saves you.
