RAIN! FLOOD!

Well! We have had Rain! And from last Thursday 'til Tuesday it really rained. Some reports show that more than nine inches of water fell during that time, enough to swell all the streams in the county to a new high flood mark. It reached a higher mark than did the flood of 1908, as that is the date remembered here as the flood year.

In many places in the county work was suspended on Tuesday because of flood conditions. Some of the county schools did not open because it was impossible for the children and teachers to get there. Roads were covered at places to the extent that detours were necessary in order that people might reach their destinations.

The most of us here in Alamance have only read about flooded areas, but now, even the youngsters will well remember that it is possible to see a great part of the low, or bottomlands, covered with water in this county, which is some 400 feet above the sea level, and hilly.

The damage to the farm crops and property could not be measured in dollars and cents. All low land crops were either ruined or washed away—That means their work was lost and their crops are gone.

The numerous mills on the streams in the county were damaged. Those that were operated by power had no power, so could not run.

But Alamance county is quite fortunate when compared with some of the Eastern counties in the state. The waters from Haw River, Alamance creek and the other streams in the county helped to swell the rivers, they help to form, as they head east for the ocean.

P. T. A. Holds First Meeting Of Year

Last Thursday evening the Parent-Teacher Association held its first meeting of the year in the school auditorium with the president, Morris Burke, presiding. Following a program of songs, Mr. Burke read a message from Mrs. E. N. Powell, president of the N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers, which stated that the theme for the year's work would be "Together We Build." Attendance banners went to Miss Lala Browning's first grade; Mrs. James Johnston's combined sixth and seventh grade; and to Miss Hanner's room in high school.

An informal social hour followed the meeting, with Mrs. Wm. deR. Scott, social chairman, in charge, assisted by Mrs. Walter E. Bason. Faculty members were presented by Mrs. Joe Okay. Punch and wafers were served by Mrs. Tom Zachary and Mrs. Ben Lee.
