GRAY frost-brown stubble — and the green of the pines—but even better looking the black and white or the brown and white of a pointer or setter freezing into action on the covey point — the only competitor who reaches top competitive form as immovable as marble. Quail hunting with a good dog may not be the king of sports, but a good many millions think so and their day isn't far ahead. And the dog is really the king of this autumn and winter thrill.

This occurred to us when we ran into Andy Sage, the Long Island sportsman, who owns and develops more champion field trial dogs than anyone we can recall off hand. His dogs have won the national championship six times, four of them in a row against the former record of two in a row.

They have also won the big futurity seven times in a row and they will be just as hard to beat in the coming tests on ahead.

"My best dog," Mr. Sage said, "is Ariel, winner of six championships. Ariel is now seven years old but can still range with the best. There are three fundamental qualities that make a great bird dog—speed and stamina. In field trial tests there is also the matter of ranging class or form to be considered. In my opinion it is harder to breed and develop a champion horse than it is a champion dog. There are many good bird dogs, of course, but few great ones that can win championships against the best. Ariel is my pick but Luminary isn't far behind."

Field Trial Thrills

Clyde Morton trains the Sage entries in a secluded hamlet known as Alberta, Ala., which isn't far away from Selma. These championship field trials range all the way from Saskatchewan and Duluth to East Tennessee and while there are no mutual windows, no football or baseball cheering, they have just as great a thrill for those who love the hunting dog and who travel far distances to see the best at work. The judges in these championship tests give their time, attention and devotion to their work without any pay and they contribute a big part to any field trial's success.

The thousands of ex-servicemen and millions of others now in the woods and fields enjoy a double thrill.

The first is the work of the dogs, without any question the most eager form of life in pursuit of the quarry.

The next thrill comes at the covey's rise when the tense silence is suddenly broken by the whirr of many wings—an easy looking target but an elusive one except for the experts. The first average tendency is to shoot too quickly and also to blaze away at the covey in place of selecting a single or double target.

One of your correspondent's greatest shocks is to fire and see no feathers fall where so many feathers seemed to be at a close and unmissable range.

When you take up the major thrills of sport, the football player can offer a long run through a broken field or a long completed pass. The golfer has his long iron dead to the pin. The baseball player can counter with the home run or the triple. The horse player will take his chance on hitting a 50 to 1 shot on the nose—or winning a husky daily double.

The Elusive Turkey

You can hear the clamor of the 10 million fishermen, moving from trout to bass to salmon to tarpon. But the nearest thrill to the dogs working and the covey rise is to see a wild turkey light in a tall pine close to your hide-out—and then try to spot him later only 20 yards away, as all 20 pounds of him suddenly vanish and yet you know he is there. Here is the greatest of all camouflage artists. The incomparable will o' the wisp.

Yes, even with a few occasional diamondbacks thrown in, I'll take turkey hunting and give you the memory of a 40-foot putt with the match all squared on the 18th green.

No wonder Andy Sage would rather have Ariel than another Man o' War. Or would he?

Field trials now cover a big part of the country. For example, Duluth has become a leading center in this respect where next spring Duluth sportsmen expect to hold one of the leading trials of the season. The East also has its trials and its share of good dogs.

For here is sport in the final meaning of the word.

Beau Jack Warms Up

On the way to another football gathering we got offside and bumped into Bowman Milligan and Chick Wergeles, who are handling the pugilistic destinies of the returning Beau Jack.

"We have sent Beau Jack back to Augusta to ready for his next fight," Chick Wergeles said. "He weighs 144 pounds now and will soon be down to 140. Beau Jack is to meet the winner of the Janiro-Greco fight late in December.

Doll House Having Toy Shelves Below

THE Christmas you made a doll house for little Susie or Betsy will always stand out in your memory. A pattern giving a list of materials, dimensions and printed windows, doors, fireplace and other details is a great help.

The house shown here has a number of special features that mothers as well as small girls will appreciate. It fits in a 20 1/2-inch space against the wall and has convenient shelves underneath for other toys and books; and for the doll family's clothes. When the front of the house is removed, there are two spacious bedrooms, a large living room and a dining room with realistic views into the kitchen and bath pasted on the back wall.

NOTE—This Doll House Pattern No. 273 is 15 cents postpaid. Send request direct to:

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

A new rubber compound called "Plastiflex" for binding metals, woods, plastics, has been developed by B. F. Goodrich.

Latex foam made of synthetic rubber can now be used in the manufacture of mattresses and other cushioning materials.

The goal of the rubber industry a few decades ago was a tire that would run 3,500 miles. Now it's not unusual for a passenger tire to run ten times that far.

Some of the first synthetic tires built in early war days lasted only fifty miles. Mileage of present synthetic tires compares favorably with natural rubber tires.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer needless back-ache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.
