

THOUGHTS ON MONEY

Money has few friends these days. The sticking kind, the sort of people who want to cling to it tenderly. Coin has become almost a synonym for confetti.

Americans are behaving as if they thought it a reflection on their character not to be spendthrifts. The old slogans have been revised thusly:

1. Take care of the daily-doubles and the pennies will have to take care of themselves.
2. A fool and his money make a perfect parlay.
3. If money burns a hole in your pocket, remember that it saves the moths a lot of work.
4. Waste not, have not!
5. A good race tip is rather to be had than great riches.

Frugality has become a word out of an old dictionary. The man who used to wince at the idea of paying over 75 cents for an ordinary lunch now pays $2.50 and brings his own butter and sugar. Give a waiter only 10 per cent today and you automatically become Scrooge II.

Pull that old one about saving something for a rainy day today and you get a snappy, "Phooey! If it rains I can get an umbrella from the government."

Thousands of people seem to believe that money not only grows on trees, but that the trees can be counted on to make deliveries.

If Ben Franklin were around today delivering epigrams on thrift he would be denounced as a reactionary, a Tory and an enemy of the people.

The questions of the hour are: Is cash a good thing to have around the house? Should a five-dollar bill be regarded as something for the long pull or a quick turnover? Can a man be thrifty and maintain the respect of the community?

Good News for Light Sleepers

We don't know what we would have done if we hadn't had a chat today with Albert H. Chandler. We hadn't been getting much sleep and it worried us. Counting sheep hadn't been of the least help. There had been times when we had been on an eight-hour sheep-counting night. A fellow couldn't go on like that.

Then it happened. We heard a commotion in the corridors and found office associates congratulating Chandler on his 91st birthday. Ninety-one and on the job every day as office receptionist! Sixty-seven years on the paper!

"Ah!" we thought, "Chandler must sleep well. In him there is the secret of repose after hitting the haypile. He can help us."

"Sleep!" exclaimed the hardy veteran. "There's nothing in it! It's the bunk!"

We assume the celebration had upset him somewhat.

"Forget that sheep stuff," he continued. "That's bad. I used to count 'em. Probably counted more sheep in my time than any living American. I even numbered 'em front and rear. Put plates on 'em. Things came to a head back in the '70s, in 1878. I think that was one of the biggest sheep years I ever had. There were so many to be counted that I never slept a wink. So I quit. Haven't tabulated a sheep since."

"But what do you do about 'em?" "Ignore 'em. All except one. That sheep's been with me over half a century. I call it Old Two Million Eight Thousand and Ninety-four. I had counted that high when I met it. This sheep and I get about the same amount of sleep. Why? Because we forgot the whole business years ago, and know there's nothing to it. All the other sheep keep on hopping back and forth all night waiting for me to start counting and they've gone nuts. They don't get any sleep at all!"

SUN GOD CLIPPED COUPONS

Hirohito, it develops, had a finger in all the financial pies of Japan and is a millionaire many times over. A descendant of a sun god on his banker's side. Under tradition, nobody in Japan could ever look down on the emperor. Well, if we had all his money, we would not have permitted anybody to look down on us, either. The emperor's horse, informed of Hirohito's wealth, exclaimed, "That ain't hay!"

- New automobiles have been freed of rationing. All you will need to get one now will be:
- 1—About $2,000.
  - 2—The name of a dealer who has a car.
  - 3—A letter from the President.
  - 4—Patience and fortitude.

Sonja Henie and Dan Topping have met in Chicago, the papers say, and decided to part after ten years of married life. Artificial ice is not what it's cracked up to be, we take it.

Feather-Trimmed Hats Bringing Drama to the Winter Style Picture

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FEATHER-TRIMMED hats are making one grand spurge in the fashion world this winter. And what a stir these feathered beauties are causing! They are so lovely and so colorful they top off the winter costume with a witchery all their own. The current collections include types suited to every occasion, from conservative turbans, toques, tiny sailors and chic berets to fabulous hats for gala events. Outstanding in the displays are gay little flatterers that look like a pouf or a pompon of ostrich fronds. These are worn tilted over the face. They are very lovely in pure white.

It's important news that quantities of wings are being used this year in white, also in lovely pastels and vivid colors. The tall wings, soaring high at the front of the modish hat shown above to the left are in soft rose pink. The high crown of smooth pink feathers is circled with black felt that parts at the center to reveal the handsome wings.

Birds are in the news, too. That pretty chapeau pictured to the right above is done in turquoise velvet trimmed with a flock of wee birds in matching blue. The arrangement of the birds is unique. They look more like tiny wings until you discover the little heads nestled close to the hat. To be sure, they are simulated birds, but they come pretty close to nature's own.

The forward-tilted breton of gray felt below to the left shows a clever use of gray ostrich feathers. The high crown and soaring feathers accent the new taller silhouette. The toque below to the right gives

Dramatic New Breton

This stunning bowler breton is a black felt with velvet accent. As you see in the picture, its profile silhouette is most dramatic and very attractive. A velvet-topped crown nestles inside the huge bowl brim which is edged with a wide velvet band and a soft velvet bow that accents the upward movement.

Pastel Satin Hats Are Enchanting and Chic

Just about as gala looking and as prettily feminine as any hat could be are the enchanting little forward-tilted hats made of satin in lovely pastel shades. They are just what you will be wanting for cocktails, dinner and theater wear. Their simplicity is their charm, styled as they are with a big pouf of satin encircling a flat little crown. You can get them in such exciting shades as pistachio, dusty rose, ice blue, cerise and gleaming black.

emphasis to the "new look" being designed, so it would seem, for a sophisticated lady. It is elaborately draped in a high bulky contour. The velvet that makes it is in the very modish electric blue now featured in dresses and coats as well as in millinery. White feather wings and marabou make a striking contrast.

One of the highlights of this season is the colorfulness of hats designed for dinner wear and other dress-up affairs. For "above table" glamour milliners are creating bright little confections such as a peaked little strawberry pink felt with soft ostrich plumes in tearose shaded pink that curl around the crown. Very new is this trend of pastel felts trimmed with feather novelties.

The all-feather hat is as style-important as the feather-trimmed felts. There is wide versatility expressed in these feather charmers that look so enchanting with winter furs. There's flattery galore in the little calots covered with flat feathers with a sweep of brilliant tail feathers falling down over one side to the shoulder. The tail-feather trim that falls over the hair is most picturesque, and it is getting wide response. Those in vivid yellows and greens and scarlet compete with exquisite types formed of long sleek glycerined ostrich in white or in pastel colors. Other feather fashions include fetching little numbers such as the crimson feather-covered little sailor that has as its sole trimming a gorgeous huge rose made of feathers with stems and leaves done in green feathers.

High Necklines Call For Chic Necklaces

Lots of jewelry will be worn this winter. Not just helter-skelter pieces but selective items designed especially to complement and unify the costume. The new high-throated necklines are causing a rush to jewelry counters for smart chokers or necklaces, either pendant style or formed of multi strands, some of the more elaborate in deep bib-like effect. Tremendous interest is shown in earrings, and the newest stunt is to match them to something or other about your costume, maybe your necklace, your scarf, your jeweled belt or possibly the color in your hat. In order to match you'll be needing a collection of earrings to tune to occasion. Bracelets! Count 'em! It's the latest to wear several posed one above the other, almost to the elbow. If the bracelet be massive and wide, as many of the newest styles are, then just a single bracelet looks best.

Rich, Radiant Browns Are Gaining in Popularity

Even if you have never especially admired brown, you'll simply love it this year. Never have brown tones shown up more beautifully in the fashion color scheme than now. No wonder the rage for rich radiant browns is spreading throughout the fashion world today. It's the color ideal whether it be in the chocolate shade or in the reddish autumn-leaf tone or the coffee or toast shades to choose for your fall-winter costume. Highlight the suit or wool dress with a stunning mink hat and throw about your shoulders a voguish mink stole which is the scarf-wrap de luxe for this winter. If in doubt choose brown! It's the latest for your dress, suit, coat and accessories.

Skirt-Blouse Tunes To Evening Formality

White Bodice or Sweater Tops Black Satin or Crepe.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

With increasing emphasis fashion declares in favor of the skirt-and-blouse costume, not only for daytime but for formal evening wear. In either event, the fashion is to be commended, for with a skirt and many separate tops one can dress handsomely for any occasion.

Costumes that are taking the spotlight in the evening mode team dazzling white bodice or sweater tops with ultra formal black skirts made of rich fabric that stars handsome crepe, satin or super quality velvet. Great versatility is expressed in the light tops. The evening blouse that is making conversation this season is of heavy white crepe that has an exquisite all-over tracery done in sparkling crystal beads sometimes intermingled with white sequins. Available in either the brief waist-depth tuck-in type or the long-torso over-blouse, these glistening white tops are lending enchantment to the evening mode. Lovely worn with the white crepe skirt, too!

To vary your evening costume add to your wardrobe of blouses a stunning white sweater top that dazzles with sparkling crystal beadwork or exotic gold thread and gold spangle embroidery. An evening sweater is a necessary luxury this year.

Sumptuous is the jacket blouse fashioned of rich white satin brocade. One especially attractive type has wrist-length sleeves, a most becoming sweetheart neckline and is buttoned up the front with either tiny self-fabric buttons or gorgeous rhinestone buttons. Sometimes the sumptuous white brocade is highlighted with an interweaving of silver threadwork.

It is wise economy to include in your wardrobe a perfectly styled skirt in the shorter length as well as the formal floor type. You can shift your choicest blouses from one skirt to another and be dressed to a nicety for both day and evening festivities.

For above-table glamour a smart fashion is the blouse in pastel satin that is discreetly highlighted with a choice bit of glitter. Not all the glories go to the light evening blouse, however, for the black sweater top with short sleeves not only holds high fashion rank for day wear but in its evening moods takes on glitter and formality that bespeaks a new high in style importance. The smart new trend to keep in mind in black evening sweaters, is that gold embroidery is being lavished on them in a jewelry way.

Teen-Age Formal

Dance time, holiday festivities just one after another, will soon be here! So that's why Miss Teen-age is day-dreaming. It's pretty clothes that she is planning. So Maubert of California, inspired by youth's enthusiasm, designs this adorable teen-age evening dress. She'll love this long-skirted gown for it will flatter her, in that it gives just enough grown-up sophistication to make her feel important. The bodice of crushed black velvet is tightly fitted and it's shorter in the front than in the back. The gathered exceedingly full long skirt is of pink and black striped taffeta, which is also used effectively as a ruched edging for the top of the bodice.

Style Notes

Buy a sequin-splashed blouse for dress-up. Resorters are wearing suits of pastel gabardine. Matching glitter-embroidered hats and dickies are doing nice teamwork. There's wide call for beaver, nutria and gray fur coats. Chic felt hats take on single large rose trim. Bright color's important under your fur coat.

It Pays to Properly Candle and Pack Eggs

Protect Quality Eggs And Increase Profits

Farmers will profit at least three cents a dozen for candling eggs. The War Food administration set support prices of 27 cents for candled eggs and 24 cents for uncandled eggs. But properly candled eggs will result in even greater profits by developing a quality market and increasing consumer demand.

After the eggs have been properly candled, the final value depends upon how they are handled when sent to market. They are largely judged by the action of the yolk. If eggs are packed sharp end up, there is a tendency for the yolk to rise through the white, and to appear prominent, thus lowering the market value.

When eggs are packed with sharp end down they maintain their quality better.

When an egg is fresh and in good condition, it has a normally thick white and the yolk stays fairly well in the center when the egg is twirled in front of the candle.

A quality egg will show little, a poor egg will show a large air space, dark yolk and moving yellow.

Malaria-Like Disease Found in So. Illinois

The presence of anaplasmosis, a malaria-like disease of cattle, has been found in southern Illinois by veterinary specialists of the Illinois university. Fear that it may spread to other states seems to be well founded.

A serious disease of cattle and sheep, anaplasmosis, commonly observed in the South, has seldom been encountered in northern states. It is spread by biting or blood-sucking insects. Prominent symptoms include loss of appetite, weakness, rapid pulse and breathing and pale or yellowish skin and mucous membranes. Laboratory tests should be taken when the presence of anaplasmosis is believed to exist.

New in Machinery Dehydrator

During the winter months, when the home dehydrator is no longer required for fruits or vegetables, it may be used as a clothes drier, room heater or food warmer.

With some types of home dehydrators, the heating elements may be removed and used as room heaters and the cabinet utilized for storage

Butter Color Defects

Mottles result from uneven distribution of the salt and from insufficient working of farm butter. It is the most common color defect. This defect may be overcome by more complete working of the butter, by moistening the salt before adding it to the butter and then working the butter well, or by working the butter partially, allowing it to stand a few hours, and then completing the working process. A greasy condition will result from underworking.
